The University of North Carolina and Nike extended their agreement for eight more years beginning in July 2002. The agreement provides each varsity team with shoes, apparel, equipment bags and other products. It also provides $100,000 annually to the Chancellor's Academic Enhancement Fund for undergraduate teaching and $100,000 annually to the athletic department to reward Olympic sport programs and coaches for academic and athletic excellence.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA STATEMENT AGAINST GAMBLING

The mission of the Department of Athletics is to sponsor a broad-based athletic program that provides educational and athletic opportunities for young men and women to grow and develop. In keeping with the Department's mission and the University's commitment to educational interests, competitive athletic programs, and integrity in all areas, the Department of Athletics strongly condemns the influence of gambling on intercollegiate athletics.

Student gambling is a significant issue on college campuses. Student-athlete involvement in gambling has produced many tragic situations, both for student-athletes and the universities they represent. Student-athletes often compete in contests that generate interest from those involved in gambling and, possibly, organized crime. If given the opportunity, those interests will not hesitate to exploit the position student-athletes hold on college campuses. As such, the University of North Carolina is firmly opposed to all forms of gambling and bribery related to intercollegiate athletics.

To fulfill its educational obligation, the Athletic Department provides a gambling education program to all its student-athletes and departmental staff members. This statement and the educational program are reflections of the Department's commitment to keeping intercollegiate athletics free from the influences of gambling and its related activities.

The Athletic Department requires its staff members and student-athletes to adhere to NCAA, state and federal laws regarding gambling. In the interest of fair competition and the growth and development of student-athletes, the Department strongly urges its friends and supporters to refrain from gambling/betting on contests involving collegiate competition and to abide by state and federal laws.

IN MEMORY

Burgess McSwain, associate director of the academic support center at the University of North Carolina athletics department, died at the age of 60 on July 9, 2004. McSwain passed away as a result of complications from surgery. She had been battling cancer for several years.

McSwain, a native of Morganton, began academic counseling for student-athletes at Carolina in the early 1960s. For the past 20-plus years, she worked closely with the Tar Heel men's basketball program.

Her responsibilities included teaching, scheduling, registration, structured study halls, recruiting, tutorial services and monitoring progress toward degrees for the student-athletes in those programs.

She is survived by her father, Daniel Murphy, 87, of Chapel Hill.

The Burgess McSwain Fund has been established in her honor. Contributions may be made in care of the UNC Department of Geography, Saunders Hall, Campus Box 3220, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27599-3220.

Mary Burgess Murphy McSwain
1944-2004

"Burgess was a devoted teacher and good friend. She was the epitome of a teacher who was dedicated to her students. For more than 20 years she was always here to work with our players, and she worked with them day and night.

"There were many times we'd get back from a road trip at 1 a.m. and Burgess was there waiting for us because one or more of the players had a test in the morning and she wanted them to prepare more. No one associated with Carolina Basketball through the years was loved more than Burgess. We will all miss her very much."

• Former head coach Bill Guthridge

"We don't want to let our grades slip because we feel like we're hurting her," rising senior Melvin Scott said last year. "We're like her children. She's seen so many guys come through here. That's my mom away from home."

• Senior Melvin Scott

"Burgess was completely committed to making sure the players earned a good education. She always put our needs above her own and that's why she meant so much to us."

"Burgess was an integral part of the University and the Carolina Basketball Family. She was concerned about each and every student-athlete in the program. She didn't care about the number of points they scored. Instead, she cared about their lives off the court and, primarily, their academic endeavors. Burgess will truly be missed."

PREVIEWING THE 2004-05 TAR HEELS

The University of North Carolina returns five starters for the second consecutive year and looks to build on a 19-11 record and its first NCAA Tournament appearance in three seasons.

Roy Williams, the winningest active coach by percentage in the country, begins his 17th season as a head coach and second campaign in charge at his alma mater. Williams enters 2004-05 with a 437-112 record, a winning percentage of .796, fifth-highest in college basketball history.

The Tar Heels are led by a trio of seniors – guards Jackie Manuel and Melvin Scott and forward Jawad Williams. This should be the first time in three years that Carolina's starting lineup includes at least one senior on a regular basis.

Carolina also returns the Atlantic Coast Conference's leaders in scoring, rebounds and assists. Juniors Rashad McCants (20.0 points per game), Sean May (9.8 rebounds) and Raymond Felton (7.1 assists) led the ACC last year in those respective statistics. That marked the first time in ACC history a school had three different players lead the league in those categories in one season.

One of the biggest areas in which the Tar Heels must improve is on defense. Carolina's opponents shot 44.4 percent from the floor last year, the highest percentage allowed in Williams' 16 years as a head coach. Each of his last 10 teams at Kansas held their opponents to less than 41 percent from the floor. Carolina allowed teams to shoot 50 percent or better in five games and won only one of those games.

However, the team did show defensive improvement as the Tar Heels held their opponents to less than 50 percent in each of the final 12 games.

"We have to guard people better," says Williams. "Everybody has to work on guarding the basketball better. The kids want to guard, but it is hard work. It has to be a huge emphasis for them. They bought into it well at times last year, but we've got to find ways to do it better."

Williams believes the team must improve in more areas than just defense to match some preseason forecasts that have the Tar Heels battling for a Top-10 national ranking.

"Everybody's expectations are so much higher just because everybody's back," says Williams. "It doesn't do any good if everybody's back unless they have improved. Hopefully they've adopted more completely an attitude of team first, that the defensive side is the most important side, an attitude of more completely being concerned with the bottom line of the game result, not individual results. Our kids made strides last year, but the improvement has to continue. Not just individual abilities, but a gradual and genuine improvement of the team coming first.

"The name on the front of the jersey is more important than the name on the back. The lack of success for a few years here makes young players look for more individual goals and individual achievement. Our players looked too much for those individual results. We are going to continue to emphasize it every day. The success the Detroit Pistons had, even though it was at another level, where everybody bought into the team concept, will even help."

A TRIO OF SENIORS

Jawad Williams, Manuel and Scott have combined to play in 272 college games and score more than 2,400 career points. They have endured an 8-20 season as freshmen, an NIT appearance and coaching change as sophomores and a second round trip to the NCAA Tournament as juniors.

"I'm looking forward to this season and hoping for a storybook ending," says JAWAD WILLIAMS. "We've been through a lot over the last three years, including eight wins our first year and then a coaching change. If we were to make a run at the national championship, I think that would be one of the great stories at Carolina. But we've got to work hard with everybody playing their part and everybody being accountable for their actions if we want to reach that goal. It will have to be a full team effort."

Williams, a 6-9 forward from Cleveland, Ohio, has scored 1,143 career points. Last year he was off to a strong offensive start, averaging 19.0 points in the first seven games. That included three games in which he scored at least 21 points and he was shooting 56 percent from the floor. However, he suffered three injuries to his head, including a concussion and broken nose, in the next four games, and his offensive production faltered. He averaged 9.5 points in the next 13 games and shot just 41 percent from the floor over his last 22 contests.

Williams finished the season averaging 12.6 points and 5.4 rebounds per game and shot 45.8 percent from the floor. He shot 50 percent from inside the three-point arc (109 for 218), but only 30.5 percent from three-point range (18 for 59).

Williams has scored in double figures in 60 of his 91 games as a Tar Heel, including 10 games with at least 20 points. He also has grabbed 10 or more rebounds eight times in his career. Last year, he pulled down 12 rebounds in December games against Illinois and Wake Forest, but did not reach double figures after the seventh game of the season.

Williams had 18 points in beating Connecticut, 23 in a win over Maryland when he went 13 for 16 from the free throw line, and had a key three-pointer late in the win at NC State.

"We need to work to put Jawad in position to be more successful on offense," says Coach Williams. "He's not a true post-up player and last year his shot was not as successful as we would like, so we need to get him the ball in places where he can be more effective. Plus, he has to rebound the ball better for us to be a good team."

JACKIE MANUEL was one of the most improved players in the ACC, emerging as a fan favorite at the Smith Center because of the energy and effort he brought to the floor.

The 6-5 swing man from West Palm Beach, Fla., was named to the ACC's All-Defensive Team, Carolina's first honoree since Brendan Haywood in 2000-01. Manuel was UNC's defensive player of the game 16 times last year, including both games against Duke when he helped limit sharpshooter J.J. Redick to 6 of 21 from the floor and 3 of 13 from three-point range.

Manuel, improved on offense from his first two years, even though his scoring average actually went from 7.3 points as a sophomore to 6.5 points last season. He shot 55.9 percent from the floor, had 48 offensive rebounds and had 49 assists against just 25 turnovers.

Manuel cut down on his three-point attempts from 72 as a sophomore to 10 and was more inclined to score on slashing drives to the goal. He scored in double figures seven times with a season-high of 15 against Miami (Fla.). He sparked Carolina's win over Georgia Tech with 12 points in the first half and had a key steal and basket in the NCAA Tournament first round win over Air Force.

"Jackie has worked hard in the spring and summer to improve his shot," says Coach Williams. "We changed his shot some and he accepted those changes and has worked on it pretty doggone hard. He had some technique issues, but he also was not as confident in games. We charted over 3000 free throws in practice last year and he shot 78 percent, as opposed to 48 percent in games.

"Jackie's the best defender on our team. He has really good instincts and a toughness about him that allows him to guard people for a long time. His length helps him, also."

MELVIN SCOTT

Getty

MELVIN SCOTT, a 6-2 guard from Baltimore, Md., has played in 92 games, more than anyone on the roster. He averaged a career-high 9.9 points a game last year, an increase of 3.5 points a game from his first two seasons.

Scott has made 138 three-point baskets in his career, and 94 from inside the arc. He is tied for 10th place in school history in three-pointers made.

He has scored in double figures 29 times, 17 of which came in his junior season when he also had a high of 20 points in a 79-73 win at Wake Forest. Scott struggled somewhat in the final seven games, as he scored just 30 points and went 9 for 43 from the floor (7 for 31 from three-point range) in that span.

His ballhandling continues to improve as he finished the year with 80 assists and 60 turnovers. He had seven assists and just two miscues against UConn and had a 6:1 assist-error ratio in the NCAA Tournament second round versus Texas.

"Melvin shot well overall last year until the last 8-10 games," says Coach Williams. "We need him to shoot well all year. We also want him to continue to do a better job with the basketball, not turn it over and play better defense."

AN EXPERIENCED JUNIOR CLASS

Scott played much of last season as the two-guard alongside RAYMOND FELTON. The 6-1 junior from Latta, S.C., has an opportunity to become one of the top point guards in the country. Already, Felton is seventh in ACC history with 6.9 assists per game and ninth in Tar Heel history with 449 assists.

Felton set the single-game Carolina record last year with 18 in the win over George Mason. He went on to lead the ACC and was fifth nationally in assists with 7.1 per game. He was fourth on the team in scoring with 11.5 points per game, shot a team-leading 81.0 percent from the free throw line and played a team-high 34.6 minutes per game.

Felton scored in double figures 19 times with a high of 25 in the home win over Georgia Tech and had 10 or more assists four times. He had an assist-turnover ratio of 2.1 to 1 and had more assists than errors in 26 of the 30 games.

He played perhaps his finest all-around game of the year in the 103-88 win over the Yellow Jackets when he scored 25 points, had seven rebounds and nine assists and just two turnovers.

"Nobody puts as much pressure on himself to play well as Raymond Felton," says Coach Williams. "Raymond is working hard to develop a more consistent outside shot. That's one part of his game he wants to improve. I also think his decision-making with the ball will be much more positive for us after a year in our style of play."

Felton's assist-error ratio was fifth-best in the ACC and dropped from 2.44 in Carolina's 19 wins to 1.64 in the losses. He shot 31.2 percent from three-point range (14 of his last 31, .452), but hit clutch threes late in wins at Wake Forest and against Air Force.

Felton has 11 double-figure assist games in his career, fourth-most in Carolina history behind Ed Cota (32), Phil Ford (16) and Kenny Smith (13). This season he should become the fifth Tar Heel to register at least 1,000 points and 500 assists in his career along with Ford, Smith, Cota and Jeff Lebo.

SEAN MAY, a 6-9 power forward/center, led the ACC in offensive rebounds (3.45 per game), defensive rebounds (6.38) and total rebounds (9.8). The Bloomington, Ind., native also was sixth in the ACC in field goal percentage (.460), sixth in blocked shots (1.24) and seventh in scoring (15.2 ppg). He became the first sophomore to lead the ACC in rebounding since Wake Forest's Tim Duncan in 1995.

May played in 29 of Carolina's 30 games, after missing all but 10 games as a freshman with a foot injury. He was second on the team in scoring, reached double figures in scoring 24 times and had an ACC-best 12 double-doubles in points and rebounds.

The second-team All-ACC and second-team ESPN.com All-America selection had 13 or more rebounds six times, including 21 against both Akron and Duke.

May scored 20 or more points six times last year with highs of 28 and 27 in a pair of games against Georgia Tech. He added eight rebounds, four assists, no turnovers, a block and two steals in the win over the Jackets.

His play was another indicator in Carolina's overall success last year – he shot 49.8 percent from the floor in wins and 41.0 percent in the 11 defeats.

"Sean can do some really nice things around the basket," says Coach Williams. "Conditioning is the biggest thing he needs to work on for this coming season. We don't want him to lose weight, just shift it around. Hopefully he will gain more strength and have better stamina. That will help him finish better inside. It's hard to find anyone with better hands. His footwork will improve as we work on his balance."

RASHAD McCANTS, a 6-4 scoring threat from anywhere on the floor, received more votes last year than any other player for the All-ACC Team, earned second- and third-team All-America accolades and was third in the balloting for ACC Player of the Year behind NC State's Julius Hodge and Duke's Chris Duhon.

The Asheville, N.C., native averaged 20.0 points and scored more field goals (216) than any other player in the ACC. He was third in the ACC in field goal percentage (.479), second in three-point accuracy (.408), fourth in three-pointers made per game (2.6) and seventh in steals (1.77 per game).

His scoring (21.6 ppg), field goal percentage (.496), three-point baskets made (3.25) and three-point percentage (.464) all improved in ACC games. He led the league in three-pointers made and three-point accuracy in the 16 ACC regular-season games.

McCants scored in double figures in all but three games and had 17 20-point games (29 for his career). He reached 30 points twice (career-high 31 at Georgia Tech and 30 at home against Clemson, when he tied the UNC record with eight three-pointers).

In one 10-game stretch from January 17 to February 21, he averaged 23.6 points and shot 55.3 percent from the floor and 45 percent from three-point range.

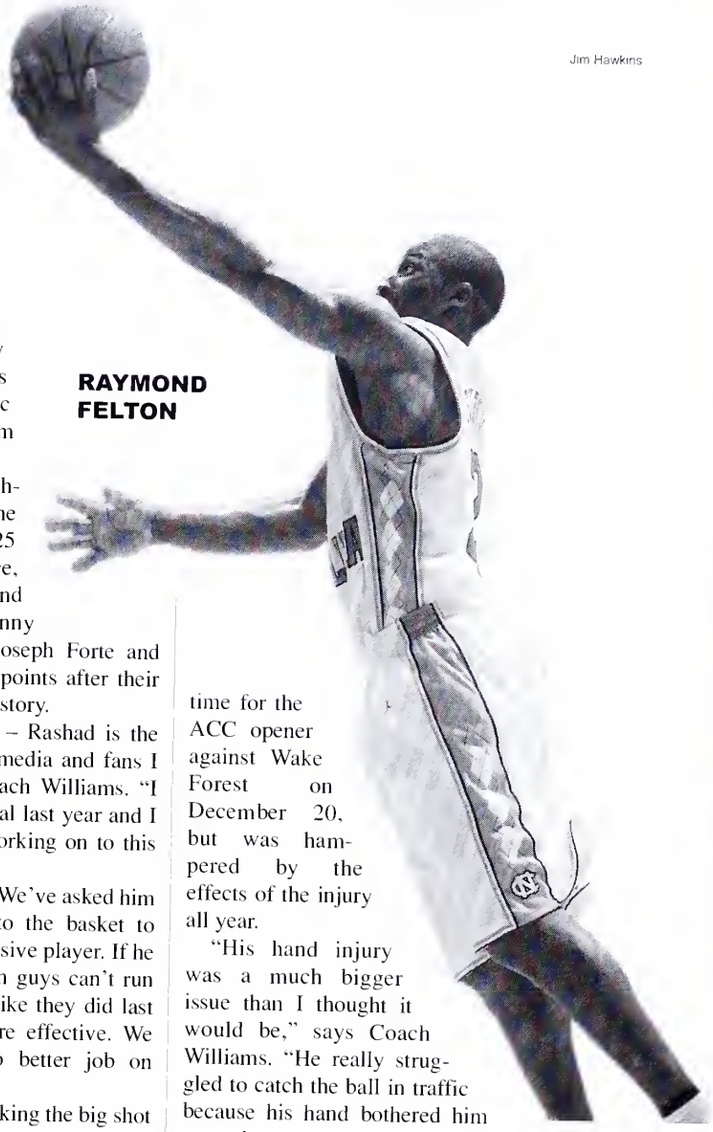
He became the fifth freshman or sophomore to lead the ACC in scoring in the last 25 years (along with Mark Price, Joe Smith, Will Solomon and Jason Williams). Only Kenny Anderson, Jason Williams, Joseph Forte and Joe Smith have scored more points after their sophomore seasons in ACC history.

"I've said it several times – Rashad is the most analyzed player by the media and fans I have ever coached," says Coach Williams. "I thought he matured a great deal last year and I know it is something he is working on to this day.

"He shoots the ball so well. We've asked him to work on taking the ball to the basket to become a more complete offensive player. If he puts the ball on the floor, then guys can't run out on him on his jump shot like they did last year and he can be even more effective. We want him to continue to do better job on defense, as well."

McCants had a knack for making the big shot late in games last year. For example, he had 27 points for the second year in a row against No. 1 ranked Connecticut, including the Tar Heels' final 10 points. His three-pointer with 6.2 seconds to play gave Carolina an 86-83 win. He iced the January 28 win over NC State with a driving basket with 33.5 seconds to play; he hit a three-pointer which tied the February 5 game against Duke with six seconds left in overtime; he hit a pair of three-pointers in the final 5:00 of the win over Maryland; he hit a three-pointer with UNC leading by a point with 3:32 to play in the win over Florida State; and he hit two three-pointers, including one from just in front of the Tar Heel bench, in the last 4:00 in the win at NC State.

Junior forward DAVID NOEL overcame a preseason injury last year to be among the seven-man rotation and should once again stand to see playing time at a number of positions. The 6-6 Durham, N.C., native tore a ligament in his right thumb in a practice collision in October, had corrective surgery and missed the first six games of the season. He returned in time for the ACC opener against Wake Forest on December 20, but was hampered by the effects of the injury all year.



Jim Hawkins

RAYMOND FELTON

"His hand injury was a much bigger issue than I thought it would be," says Coach Williams. "He really struggled to catch the ball in traffic because his hand bothered him more than people knew."

Noel averaged 5.4 points and 4.9 rebounds in a little more than 21 minutes per contest. He led the team in field goal percentage for the second year in a row at .562, hitting at least 50 percent of the field in 17 of the 24 games in which he played.

As a freshman, Noel averaged 9.3 points and 5.5 rebounds over his last 16 games as he saw significant playing time with May being out of the lineup. Last year, Noel scored in double figures three times. He had eight or more rebounds seven times with a high of 10 in College Park.

"David will once again be asked to guard bigger players," says Coach Williams. "However, I think this year he better understands how to use his speed and quickness that will win out over his lack of size. We need him to bring toughness to our defense and rebounding."

IMPROVED DEPTH

Five other players return and three newcomers join the roster. The Tar Heels return all but 36 of the 2,464 points they scored a year ago. However, more than 91 percent of the scoring came from six players, thus improved bench productivity and depth is one of the keys to this season.

"It's hard right now to tell about our depth because you never know how young players will adjust to ACC basketball," says Coach Williams. "However, on paper, it looks better having newcomers like MARVIN WILLIAMS, QUENTIN THOMAS and WES MILLER, provided everyone else can stay healthy."

Williams is a 6-9 forward from Bremerton, Wash., Thomas is a 6-3 point guard from Oakland, Calif., and Miller is a 5-11 point guard from Charlotte, N.C., who transferred to Carolina after a year at James Madison. He averaged 4.1 points per game for the Dukes in 2002-03 and sat out last year as a redshirt.

"Quentin and Wes grew up playing the point guard position and that should help us," says Coach Williams. "It allows Raymond to play a few minutes less, but play more effectively."

Other players in the mix up front are 6-9 junior center BYRON SANDERS, 6-11 junior center DAMION GRANT and 6-8 sophomore forward REYSHAWN TERRY.

Sanders has played in 63 career games and made 12 starts, all of which came two years ago when May was injured. He had a season-high seven rebounds last year against Coastal Carolina.

"Byron can help us right now defensively and I think he'll better understand how he can help us on both ends of the court this year," says Coach Williams. "He needs to screen, box out and defend and let his offense take care of itself."

Terry scored 40 points and had 21 rebounds in 25 games as a freshman. He scored 14 against Coastal Carolina and 10 against George Mason in December action. However, his assist-error ratio (4 assists, 16 turnovers) led to limited duty once ACC play began.

"I am hoping Reyshawn will be much more confident after a year of ACC basketball," says Coach Williams. "He has nice tools, but he needs to relax. When he got into games, he often would commit a quick foul or turn the ball over. A lot of that is a result of not being confident."

Grant struggled with tendonitis in his knees and saw action in just three games.

"I am still concerned about our inside scoring," says Coach Williams. "We need an inside threat to establish a proper mix from the outside. We need more of a low post presence. Somebody needs to help us score inside."

Guard JESSE HOLLEY and forward C.J. HOOKER round out the roster. Holley is a 6-3 sophomore from Roselle, N.J., who is on a football grant-in-aid at Carolina. He played in 15 basketball games and had 11 points, three assists and nine rebounds. He saw action as a defensive sparkplug in the ACC Tournament game against Georgia Tech and both NCAA Tournament games.

Hooker, a 6-2 senior from Palmer, Alaska, played two years on the junior varsity before earning a spot on the varsity roster last year. He played in nine games and had four points, six rebounds and three assists.

CHALLENGING SCHEDULE

Carolina once again plays a challenging schedule, including a November appearance in the EA Sports Maui Classic that features Carolina, BYU, Iowa, Louisville, Stanford, Tennessee, Texas and host Chaminade. Games against defending national champion Connecticut, Kentucky and Indiana highlight the rest of the non-conference slate.

One thing is certain – Coach Williams wants to continue to play an up-tempo style.

"We've got to run more consistently for the whole game," says Williams. "We ran in spurts last year – I want us to run consistently from the first moment of the game to the end. It adds so much value if you do because a couple of spurts can make a big difference in the outcome of the game.

"Last year, we didn't stop people enough to get the break going, we were not quick enough with the outlet pass and we did not have enough people getting downcourt. We have to get five guys running to be as effective as we like."

IN HIS OWN WORDS ...

Jackie Manuel on playing defense

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

by Jackie Manuel

Before I got to Carolina, no one talked very much about my defense. In high school, it just wasn't emphasized. But I realized something when I was in high school: the easiest way to guard somebody is to make sure they don't get the ball. At this level of basketball, your teammate will look at you for maybe one or two seconds, and if you're not open, he's going somewhere else with the ball. So if I can deny my man for those one or two seconds, I've done my job. he's not getting the ball, and it's easier to play defense against him. If he does get the ball, my long arms and quickness are helpful. I'm able to stay in front of him, play the drive, but still contest a shot. That's when you have to know where your teammates are, because if you've got them help side, you've always got someone to back you up.

The hardest player to guard is someone who knows the game. He makes it tough if he's active and constantly moving or coming off screens. By now, though, I've been around long enough that I've seen most of the guys I'll guard play before. I know their strengths and weaknesses. Within our defensive principles, I want to make my man do the things he's not comfortable doing. I watch tape, and I watch my man on both ends.

The first couple of shots he takes are very important. That's what determines whether he has a good night or a bad night. If you try to ease into the game defensively, you're going to have a long night. If he hits those first couple shots, he's going to start feeling it. So you have to make it as tough as possible right from the start. What I want to see are those signs of frustration that let you know you're getting to him a little bit. When he misses a shot, you want to see him drop his head or clap his hands in frustration. That's when I know I'm in his head. That makes me play even harder. It helps our team if my man can't score, and I feel good that I'm able to stop one of their best players.

I know a lot of people who aren't players or coaches don't pay much attention to defense. Or maybe they pay attention, but it's a lot harder to tell a good defensive player because there's no stat you can look at. To find out who is a good scorer, you just look at points per game. You can't do the same thing for defense. But the game is changing on every level. It used to be that teams just thought it would be nice to have a top defensive player. Now everyone has to have one. You need that player who can stop the other team's top guy. That's what I like to do.

IN HIS OWN WORDS ...

Melvin Scott on Growing up in Baltimore

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

by Melvin Scott

At the time, the neighborhood where I grew up in Baltimore was one of the worst in the city. We moved there when I was two years old, and there was a lot of negative stuff around. I could look across on the corner and see people dealing drugs. All my peers were running the streets, and that's all we knew.

My mother was very important in raising me. My dad and I didn't have a very close relationship, and he died when I was 10. That meant my mom had to be a single parent to three boys and three girls. She used to be a drug addict, but to raise her kids she gave up her habit and cleaned her life up. I give her all the credit in the world. She never neglected us for drugs.

When I was in sixth grade, I'd been kicked out of three elementary schools and two middle schools. I kept getting expelled and my mom got fed up with it. She told me that if I didn't straighten up, she was going to give me up to a foster home. When you hear someone you love saying that to you, you get pretty scared.

I had started playing basketball when I was about 10 years old, but I didn't really take it seriously until middle school. I was too busy getting into trouble. But I looked at my mom and the way she had turned her life around and I thought, 'If she can change, I can change.' When I picked up basketball and found out that there were some people outside of my family who cared about me, I began to see that it might be a way to do something for my family. The game gave me an excuse to escape my friends but still hang out with them. When you're from the city, the last thing you want to do is have your friends think you're changing on them. But they understood when I would say, 'I can't hang out late tonight, I've got a game tomorrow.' They were cool about it, and a lot of times they'd come to my games. I started going to church more regularly at that same time, and church and basketball were outlets for me.

When I got to Chapel Hill, though, it was way different than what I was used to. People didn't understand me and I didn't understand people. Everyone was so nice. Where I come from, if someone nods their head and says, 'What's up?' you think they're trying to start something. It took me that entire summer session when I first got here to get comfortable. Chapel Hill and Baltimore are like night and day.

IN HIS OWN WORDS ...

Jawad Williams on entering his senior season

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

by Jawad Williams

We're lucky, because every offseason lots of former Carolina players come back to Chapel Hill. They'll play pickup with us, and we hang out with them, and it's great to get that experience.

On one hand, it shows you what a business the NBA can be. Antawn Jamison was here this summer, and he went out to eat with some of the guys and found out while he was at dinner that he'd been traded. His team didn't call him, he just saw it on TV.

But what I really like about being around the former players is the chance to sit around and listen to them talk. They probably don't even realize I'm doing it, but I soak up everything they say, and then I go back and talk about it with my teammates.

I'm a senior, this is my last time around. All I care about now is winning. And I look at some of those past teams, like the 1998 team that had Antawn Jamison, Shammond Williams, Vince Carter, Brendan Haywood, Ed Cota, and Makhtar Ndiaye, and I don't think any of those guys averaged 30 points a game that year. They were all around 15 or 20. But the big thing, and the reason people around here still remember that team, is because they went to the Final Four. That's what our team has to realize. You don't have to put up big numbers. If you average four points per game and win a national championship, people are going to know who you are.

That's why I worked out more than I ever have before to get ready for this year. I was on a regular schedule: get up, eat breakfast, go to the weight room to meet my trainer and work out for an hour and a half. Then I'd come over to the Smith Center and do some running and shooting and agility drills. In the afternoon, I'd hit the swimming pool. I was never too big on getting in the pool before, but it's really helped because I don't have to put much stress on my lower back and my knees.

You'll see the results of those workouts on the court this year. I think I'll shoot better. We did a lot of work on shooting when I was tired. My trainer would try to take my legs away from me and I'd still have to make shots. That's something I didn't do last year. Once I got hurt, my shooting slipped.

The only good thing about getting hurt was that it slowed me down. I was putting too much stress on myself. That really gave me time to think, and what I realized was that if we win, we all look good, no matter who is taking the shots. That's how we're going to play this year, and that's why Jackie [Manuel], Melvin [Scott], and I are going out with a bang.

IN HIS OWN WORDS ...

Raymond Felton on UNC's point guard legacy

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

by Raymond Felton

I've followed Carolina point guards ever since I can remember. My dad always told me about Phil Ford, Jimmy Black, and Kenny Smith, and I can remember watching King Rice, Derrick Phelps, Jeff McInnis and Ed Cota. I've always followed Carolina, and I've always played point guard, so it was just natural that I'd pay attention to the people playing that position. I've played against a lot of them in the summer and it's been great getting to know the guys personally that you watched as a kid. It's an honor to come up behind those guys. I know I have a lot to live up to.

I especially remember watching Ed and that 1998 team. They were so much fun to watch. Ed would just come down and throw the ball up, and Vince Carter would go get it. He could jump out of the gym. And if they didn't do that, Ed would just throw the ball down inside to Antawn Jamison and let him go to work. He had guys around him who were great players, and I think we have that on this year's team, too. I'm looking forward to seeing David Noel, Jawad Williams, and Rashad McCants jump like Vince used to. I'll just throw it up and they will go get it.

Phil Ford obviously played before I was alive, but I've seen some clips of him. He was the real deal. It's not hype about how good he was. He did all the things he was supposed to do, and he knew when he should take the opportunity to score. It was great getting to know him over the past couple of years. He was my mentor. I could talk to him about the game of basketball and the system, and he knew exactly what I was talking about because he'd been through the same things.

He was National Player of the Year. If that type of stuff happened for me, it would be great, but what I'm really interested in this year is winning. That's what those other guys are known for. Jimmy Black won a national championship, Derrick Phelps won a national championship. Ed Cota went to three Final Fours. That's what it is all about. We made it to the NCAA Tournament last year, so that's one small goal that I've accomplished. But I want a Final Four appearance and a national championship. That's how Carolina fans remember their point guards, by what they won. And I want to be remembered with the very best.

IN HIS OWN WORDS ...

Sean May on the U.S. Junior National Team

by Sean May

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

On the way to tryouts for the Junior National team, I sat next to Bracey Wright on the plane. The whole way, all we could talk about was the chance that we might get cut. It was to the point that we were saying we should just stay home to avoid getting cut. I've been blessed to not have to worry much about things like getting cut from my high school team, but I knew with the competition that would be at these tryouts, it was a real possibility. That was a little scary.

But once practice started, I just played my game. I had been at Nike Camp the week before, and that helped me as far as being in playing shape as soon as the tryouts started. I think the coaches saw me as a positive because I tried to be a good teammate—when I made a mistake, I owned up to it, and I tried to help other people through their mistakes. Training camp was pretty intense. Sometimes we went twice a day, two hours each practice. We only got one day off, and we went to a Yankees game that day. We played Team Canada on the way up to Halifax, and then we played three games in Halifax.

Nick Pearce/USA Basketball

There were a lot of guys on our team I'd played against before: Charlie Villanueva, Chris Paul, Justin Gray, P.J. Tucker. Right around the time of tryouts, ESPN came out with some rankings on the internet that listed Wake Forest as their preseason number-one team. I told Justin and Chris that was crazy, that we should be number-one. We argued back and forth about it, but it was all fun. When you develop those good relationships like that, it helps so much when you're playing against them later during the real season. If we go to Wake Forest and beat them, I know Justin and Chris won't talk to me for a couple months, whereas now we talk pretty much every week.

I know the competition wasn't the same as Coach Williams saw at the Olympics, but we did play against some of the same players. Puerto Rico had a 7-foot-3 guy who was on their Olympic team, and Brazil had a 6-foot-11 16-year-old. We were told that Argentina had three or four players on their team who will be first round NBA draft picks. International play is totally different from American ball. I was just happy to be on the team. I'd go out of the game and sit on the bench and be amazed at watching some of those guys—both on our team and the other team—play.

IN HIS OWN WORDS ...

Rashad McCants on hitting big shots

by Rashad McCants

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

The first time I ever made a game-winning shot was my junior year of high school at New Hampton. We were playing Winchendon Academy when they had a couple of guys who were top five players in the country, including (6-foot-10) Sani Ibrahim. This was when Wes Miller was also on our team. We were down one point with six seconds to play, and Wes got me the ball on the baseline. I drove and Sani came over to block the shot. I went up like I was going to dunk but then just floated it up with one second left. It went in, and we won the game.

I want to take those kinds of shots. I practice them every day. That's something I have always done. Before a game or when I'm shooting around before practice, I'll roll the ball out and act like it's a game-winning shot situation. I shoot them from inside, outside, from deep, from everywhere. I'll take shots from places people don't usually think about shooting, because I want to be comfortable everywhere on the court. I want to feel, no matter where we're playing, like it's my court. I want to be familiar with every spot on it.

Last year I got several chances to take the big shot. The one people always talk about is Connecticut. In the timeout before that shot, I was just waiting for Coach Williams to say my name. I wanted him to have faith that I was going to make it. I wanted the play to come to me.

The play we used was a last-second situational play that we had practiced a lot. Melvin (Scott) was the decoy and Sean (May) was the screener. Everything was set up perfectly, the cuts were perfect, and I had a clean look. I knew if I could get it off it was going in. You have to be sly in that situation, because you don't want anybody to know you're looking at the clock. When I came off the screen and caught the ball, I looked at the clock as soon as I caught it to make sure I had enough time. I didn't hear the crowd at all until I made it.

To make those types of shots, you have to be willing to miss them. I missed one at Florida State last year, and I missed one against Texas in the NCAA Tournament. If I'd made that shot, we'd probably still be playing. You have to be able to fail in order to succeed. Confidence is so important. If you have that confidence, you can miss two in a row and then make your next five. It's all about knowing that when you catch the ball, you're going to score or do something to help your team score.

IN HIS OWN WORDS ...

David Noel on proving himself after his injury

by David Noel

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Before practice started last year, things were going so well for me. I was on scholarship for the first time, which meant there was so much stuff I didn't have to worry about. As a freshman I had to fill out all kinds of forms, but that burden is lifted off you when you're on scholarship.

And on the basketball court, I felt like I was really playing well. I was up there on the level with everyone else. I didn't think anything could stop me from being able to help the team. But when I got hurt, it took me out of my groove. That was my first time in any of my sports that I had ever really been hurt. I had to spend all those weeks sitting out and then try to come back and fit in right away. I could feel myself falling behind every day. I prayed about it every day. Even by the end of the season, I still didn't feel like I was back where I needed to be.

The whole year, I just didn't feel like I was me. I was kind of timid with my thumb when I first came back, and then when I took the brace off I couldn't grab the ball like I wanted to. I mean, I'm a wide receiver and all of a sudden I can't catch the ball? That doesn't make sense, and that's not me. By the end of the year, I was so frustrated with the whole situation, and I let it get to me a little bit.

Once the season was over, I took some time to myself. I went home and spent some time with my mom. Just being at home made everything feel so much better. I decided that once I started working out, I wasn't going to stop. After the season I talked to the coaches and made a list of the things they wanted me to work on and pasted that list on my wall. That way, every day when I walked out of the room I could see the things I needed to work on and check it off when I felt like I was improving in a certain area.

I still feel like I have to prove myself to Coach Williams. I don't think he has seen the real David Noel yet. He might have watched some tape of my freshman year, but he hasn't seen it first-hand. Even in those early practices before I got hurt last year, that's different from playing in a game. I want to show him the things I can do when I'm playing with confidence, because when that happens I feel like no one can stop me on either end of the floor.

IN HIS OWN WORDS ...

Byron Sanders on computers and academics

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

by Byron Sanders

I've always liked exploring new things and finding out about new things. When I was growing up, my dad taught me a lot about cars, and I've got an old car at home that I have spent a lot of time on.

In a way, that's kind of similar to my major, Information Science. It appeals to me because I like to figure out how things work. It's funny, because before I came to Carolina I never had much of an interest in computers. But here, everybody has a computer and you're on them all the time. That's the way the future is going. My older sister is a computer engineer, so it was natural that I'd follow her lead.

Even though I hadn't had much experience with them, I think I had a knack for computers right away. In high school, I was always better at math and science than I was at English, so it fit right in with that pattern. My roommate, Sean May, says that when it comes to computer stuff, he's a nerd, and I think that's probably right.

This semester, I'm taking INLS 50 (Tools for Information Literacy), so I'm learning how to make a website and things like that. It's already taught me a lot of stuff I didn't know. This summer, I had an internship at Wachovia. One of my big projects was working on a database that incorporates information about the clients.

There are a lot of people who deserve credit for helping me make Academic All-ACC this past year. When I found out I'd made it, the first person I called was my sister. All of my family has always been so supportive with my classes, even when I was in high school.

At Carolina, there have been a lot of study halls and a lot of studying on the plane home from road games. I wish Miss Burgess could have been here to see it. She would have really been happy. Wayne Walden is also a big help to us, and Miss Janice (Huffstetler) and Miss Cat (Catherine Frank). Miss Cat helps me a lot with my writing. They're not really in the spotlight, but we know how much they help us.

NCAA-Record 15 Final Fours
Basketball Staff

Less than 24 hours after a closely contested loss at Kentucky, the Carolina basketball team was back on the court at the Smith Center. Watching tape of the previous day's game and a spirited practice session would eventually follow, but the first order of business that Sunday last January was a skills clinic, performed by the Tar Heel players and coaches for more than 100 Special Olympians from across the state.

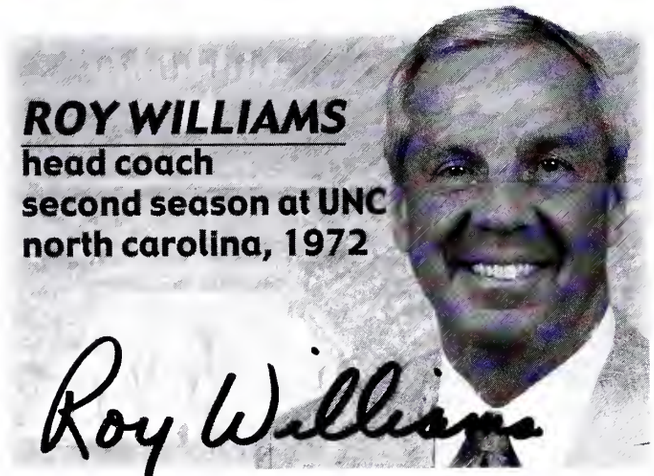
Carolina head coach Roy Williams watched as his team laughed with and mentored young men and women who looked up to the collegians with whom they now shared the hardwood floor. For Williams, it was a teaching moment for his young squad, an essential act of giving back to the community and demonstrated the way he leads a program, all of which Williams does as well as any coach in the country.

It only helps that the 54-year-old Asheville native is also the winningest active coach in all of college basketball.

"I think he's a great guy, a great coach," says UNC senior guard Jackie Manuel, who earned All-ACC defensive honors under Williams' tutelage. "When he says 'OK, I want you to do this,' you're going to do it. He's been there, done that. He's proven himself. He knows what is best for you. He's got your best interests at heart. You'd do anything for him."

Williams is in his second year as head coach at his alma mater. He became the UNC coach on April 14, 2003, just one week after leading the Kansas Jayhawks to the NCAA championship game. Last year, he led the Tar Heels to a 19-11 record, a win over No. 1-ranked and eventual national champion Connecticut and a return to the NCAA Tournament. Carolina averaged 80.2 points per game, an increase of 10.0 points from the previous year and UNC's highest scoring average since 1994-95. It was the 14th time in 16 seasons as a head coach that his teams topped 80.0 points a game.

The Tar Heels held opponents to 44.4 percent shooting from the floor – the 16th straight year Williams' teams limited the opponents to less than 45 percent. In 14 of those 16 seasons, the opponents have been held to under 40 percent.



The 1972 Carolina graduate is one of the most respected coaches in the game, in addition to being one of its most successful. He was an assistant coach for Team USA at the 2004 Olympics. Williams has coached teams that have won nearly 80 percent of their games, his players have been exemplary student-athletes and his programs have been first-class in all aspects.

"He's really a bright man," says Dean Smith. "He has the whole package of what you want as a college head coach. You want somebody who knows basketball, can judge talent, is a competent leader and can teach it in practice, makes good decisions in the game, is highly organized, and also is honest in recruiting.

"He's like Tiger Woods in golf – they have the whole package," Smith adds. "I don't know anyone else who does. I certainly consider him to be the best college coach in the country."

Williams joined the Tar Heels after leading Kansas to back-to-back appearances in the Final Four. He has led Kansas and Carolina to 15 consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, the second-longest active streak in the country and the third-longest in NCAA Tournament history. Only Smith (23 years in a row) and Lute Olson (20) have put together longer NCAA Tournament streaks.

Williams is the only coach in the nation to win at least one NCAA Tournament game in each of the last 15 seasons.

He has compiled a 437-112 record — a winning percentage of .796. His win percentage is No.1 among active coaches with 10 or more years and is fifth-best in history behind only Clair Bee (.826), Adolph Rupp (.822), John Wooden (.805) and John Kresse (.797).

"Roy is as good as it gets in a person," says legendary NBA executive and Hall of Fame Lakers guard Jerry West. "There's nothing deceptive about him. He is what he is – a wonderful person and a great coach. If you watch his teams, you know they've been coached. If you go to his practices, you know why his teams are successful. His players play the right way. They're team-oriented. They play a fun way offensively. They're aggressive. He changes defenses. He does it all. He's just a wonderful coach."

"What separates the good coaches from the great coaches is consistency," says Carolina's all-time leading scorer Phil Ford, now an assistant coach with the Detroit Pistons. "If you are consistently going deep in the NCAA Tournament and having successful seasons year after year with different talent and abilities, that's what separates the good from the great. His track record is being consistently good for a long time."

Williams secured his 400th win on Jan. 15, 2003, when Kansas defeated Wyoming, 98-70. He was the third-fastest coach in history to reach 300 wins and sped to 400 faster than all but three coaches in history (Rupp, Bee and Jerry Tarkanian). In fact, he has won more games than any coach after eight, nine, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16 seasons as a head coach. He is the second-winningest Jayhawk coach in history behind only Smith's college coach, Phog Allen.

Williams won 20 or more games in each of his last 14 years at Kansas, a streak that equals the third-longest in NCAA history behind only Smith (27) and Olson (17).

"We used to have Dean Smith, who was the best coach in the country," says former Tar Heel head coach Bill Guthridge, who was an assistant at UNC with Williams. "Now we have Roy Williams, who I think is the best coach in the country. He's people-oriented. When he was an assistant here, I know the players really respected and liked him. That was obviously the case at Kansas as well. Those guys played their hearts out for him."

Williams spent 10 seasons as an assistant coach under Smith at Carolina. From 1978-88, he helped coach such Tar Heel standouts as Mike O'Koren, Al Wood, James Worthy, Sam Perkins, Matt Doherty, Michael Jordan, Brad Daugherty, Kenny Smith, Joe Wolf, Steve Hale, Jeff Lebo, J.R. Reid and Scott Williams.

"I truly learned a lot from Coach Williams when I was at North Carolina," says Michael Jordan. "I consider Roy not only to be a great coach, but a good friend. I know that the Tar Heels are in good hands with Coach Williams."

The Tar Heels played in the NCAA Tournament in each of Williams' 10 seasons. Carolina won the NCAA title in 1982, finished second in 1981 and won or shared six Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season titles and three ACC Tournament championships (1979, 1981, 1982).

"Coach Williams will demand respect and earn it immediately," says Daugherty, a five-time NBA All-Star with the Cleveland Cavaliers. "When I think of him, I think of his honesty, integrity and tremendous work ethic. He is a classy, classy individual. But he is also one of the toughest people I have ever met in my life. No one is tougher than Roy Williams, but he is fair. That's why the kids love him so much. When you have played four years for him he will be a friend for life and you will be a better man, and appreciate every ounce of the experience when you are gone.

"If I had to go to war, I'd grab him for my foxhole without question."

Combining his 10 seasons as an assistant at Carolina and 16 years as head coach, Williams has been part of 712 wins and just 173 defeats.

Williams was named head coach at Kansas on July 8, 1988, replacing another former Tar Heel, Larry Brown.

"He's as good a coach as our sport has," says Brown, who won an NCAA title in 1988 and an NBA championship in 2004. "He did it for 15 years at Kansas, and I think if you ask people around the country, they'll say there's no better college coach than Roy Williams. North Carolina is a great school. It has unbelievable tradition. If you have a great coach, there is no doubt that with all those things in place, North Carolina is going to continue to be the great university and basketball program it's always been."

At Kansas, Williams earned National Coach of the Year honors in 1990, 1991, 1992 and 1997 and was Big Eight/Big 12 Coach of the Year seven times (1990, 1992, 1995, 1996, 1997, 2002 and 2003). In 2003 he received the John R. Wooden Legends of Coaching Award by the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Other recipients of the Wooden Coaching Award include Smith, Mike Krzyzewski, Olson, Denny Crum and Mike Montgomery.

Williams coached a number of the finest Kansas players in history, including Mark Randall, Adonis Jordan, Rex Walters, Greg Ostertag, Scot Pollard, Jacque Vaughn, Raef LaFrentz, Paul Pierce, Drew Gooden, Nick Collison and Kirk Hinrich.

The Jayhawks went 94-18 in conference play over his last seven years and averaged 27.9 wins per season with a high of 35 in 1997-98. That was one of five 30-win seasons for Williams, the second-most among active coaches. He also won 30 in 1989-90, 34 in 1996-97, 33 in 2001-02 and 30 in 2002-03.

He led Kansas to the Final Four in 1991, 1993, 2002 and 2003. Including last year's second round appearance, Williams has a 35-15 record in the NCAA Tournament, a winning percentage of .700 that is the seventh-best active mark in the country. The Jayhawks reached the Sweet 16 nine times and the Final Eight on five occasions.

"He's the best coach in college basketball," says 1998 National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison. "He reminds me a lot of Coach Smith. Not just in terms of basketball, but as far as knowing the importance of having good people, caring about making sure they are successful after basketball. He'll have a big influence over every player that comes through the program, preparing them for life. That's what it's all about. It's not just about being a coach, but being like a father figure."

Kansas went 30-8 in 2002-03, his final year in Lawrence. That included a 14-2 record in the Big 12 that produced Williams' ninth regular-season conference title. Led by Collison, the NABC National Player of the Year, and Hinrich, another All-America, the Jayhawks beat Duke, Arizona and Marquette en route to the national championship game. It was KU's first back-to-back appearance in the Final Four since 1952-53.

"Roy is as good as there is," says Connecticut head coach Jim Calhoun. "He's a terrific coach and a terrific person. He has taken Dean's system, which was the best, and incorporated it into his own...He gets a lot from his kids. Roy is a first ballot, Hall of Fame coach, and a first-ballot nice guy. He'll do marvelous things at Carolina."

Kansas won nine regular-season conference championships over his last 13 years. In seven years of Big 12 Conference play, his teams went 94-18, capturing the regular-season title in 1997, 1998, 2002 and 2003 and the post-season tournament crown in 1997, 1998 and 1999. In 2001-02, KU became the first Big 12 team to go 16-0 in league play. From 1995-98, Kansas was a combined 123-17 - an average of 30.8 wins per season.

He was hired just months after the Danny Manning-led Jayhawks won the 1988 NCAA championship. Weeks after taking the position, KU was placed on probation for violations that took place prior to his arrival.

Williams' teams went 201-17 (.922) in Allen Fieldhouse winning 62 consecutive home games from February 1994 to December 1998.

Kansas was a regular in the Associated Press Top 25 from 1991 to 1999, placing in the AP poll for 145 consecutive weeks. Williams' teams were ranked in the Top 10 in 194 AP polls since 1990.

Williams had Kansas in the AP Top 25 in 242 of 268 weekly polls. Kansas reached the No. 1 ranking in the country in six different seasons and was ranked at least No. 2 in the nation in 11 of the 15 seasons.

Carolina forward Rashad McCants earned first-team All-ACC honors in 2003-04, making him the 18th player coached by Williams to earn first-team all-conference honors. He also has coached seven first-team All-Americas and had five conference players of the year. Two players – Gooden and Collison – were voted the best player in the country by the NABC. He coached four KU players to consensus first-team All-America honors – LaFrentz in 1997 and 1998, Pierce in 1998, Gooden in 2002 and Collison in 2003.

"I was just coming (to Kansas) to play basketball for a man I knew I could trust and a man I hoped would make my dreams a reality," said LaFrentz, a two-time Big 12 Player of the Year. "Thanks to Coach Williams for doing that. Thanks to him for always being there, for always being an example for every player who has come into his program and, most importantly, thanks for being a friend."

Ten (10) of his players have been selected in the first round of the NBA Draft: Randall (1991), Walters (1993), Ostertag (1995), Pollard (1997), Vaughn (1997), LaFrentz (1998), Pierce (1998), Gooden (2002), Hinrich (2003) and Collison (2003).

Kansas won three Preseason NITs, posting a 14-2 record in that event.

Williams' teams display many of the characteristics of Smith's Carolina teams — they fast break to create easy baskets, play unselfishly and take good shots, play a tenacious man-to-man defense, and academic success is a priority.

Those characteristics are evident when you look at some of KU's statistics in the Williams era:

• Led the nation in field goal percentage and scoring in 2002 and in scoring margin in 2003

• Held opponents to the lowest field goal percentage in the country in 2001 (37.8 percent)

• Led the nation in winning percentage in 1997 and 2002

• Shot better than 50 percent from the floor seven times and led the country in field goal percentage in 1990 at 53.3 percent and in 2002 at 50.6 percent

• Shot a combined 49.4 percent from the floor in 15 seasons

• Led the nation in assists in 2001 and 2002 and was seventh in the nation in 2003

• Scored 100 or more points 71 times (once every 13 games)

• Averaged 82.7

points per game in 15 years

• Averaged 90 or more points in two seasons (92.1 in 1990 and 90.9 in 2002).

• Over his last eight seasons, three Kansas players earned first-team Academic All-America honors — Ryan Robertson in 1999, Jacque Vaughn and Jerod Haase in 1997 and Vaughn in 1996.

• Kansas players earned 31 first-team academic all-conference honors.

"He will win at North Carolina," says Joe Posnanski, who covered the Jayhawks for the Kansas City Star. "He will win with class and dignity because that's what the man is about. He will have the Tar Heels running fast and scoring in bunches, and he will build on the legacy of the man he admires most. It's a dream job. And it will be a good life."

Williams grew up outside of Asheville, N.C., in the small community of Biltmore. He attended T. C. Roberson High School, where he earned letters in basketball and baseball for four seasons. In basketball, he was named all-county and all-conference for two years (1967 and 1968), all-western North Carolina in 1968 and served as captain in the North Carolina Blue-White All-Star Game.

Much of Williams' coaching style comes from spending so many years observing and then coaching with Smith. Williams played on Carolina's freshman team in 1968-69 under Guthridge.

Williams often sat in on Smith's varsity practice sessions taking notes and furthering his knowledge of the game, notes Williams maintains even today. Williams' practices are intense, instructive and precise.

"Practices are very intense, you get a lot done in a small amount of time," says Tar Heel senior Jawad Williams. "When you put fun and hard work together, that's very nice. We get a lot more accomplished."

He earned two degrees from Carolina — a bachelor's degree in education in 1972 and an M.A.T. in 1973.

In 1973, Williams began his coaching career at Charles D. Owen Swannanoa (N.C.) High School. He coached basketball and boys' golf for five years, ninth-grade football for four years and served as athletics director for two years.

He joined Smith's staff as in 1978, adding to his income by traveling all over the state selling basketball team calendars and delivering Smith's weekly TV show to affiliates. While a member of Smith's staff, the Tar Heels went 275-61.

"If I close my eyes I think it is Coach Smith," says Kenny Smith, former Tar Heel All-America and now an NBA analyst for Turner Sports. "I used to turn the sound on my TV down and run to the screen and think Coach Smith was coaching Kansas. The former players are excited. It should be a lot of fun around here. Going to Kansas and reaching the same level of basketball, not in wins and losses, but family atmosphere is impressive."

Williams has been active in international circles, as well. The 2004 U.S. Olympic Team assignment was his fourth with USA Basketball. In 1991, Williams worked under P.J. Carlesimo at the World University Games in Sheffield, England, where the USA won the gold medal. In 1992, he helped coach the United States Olympic Development Team, a squad of eight college all-stars who scrimmaged the first U.S. Olympic Dream Team. In 1993, Williams served as head coach of the USA Under-22 Team in a qualifying tournament in Argentina.

He has served as a lecturer and camp director for the West German National Junior Team.

He served on the board of directors of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, and was president in 2001-02. In addition, Williams served on the NCAA basketball rules committee for six years, chairing the committee in 2000-01.

Several of Williams' former staff members have gone on to head coaching positions, including Neil Dougherty (in his third year at TCU), Kevin Stallings (in his sixth season at Vanderbilt), Mark Turgeon (in his fifth year at Wichita State), Matt Doherty (formerly at Notre Dame and Carolina), Steve Robinson (formerly at Tulsa and Florida State) and Jerry Green (formerly at Oregon and Tennessee). Jay Price, a manager at KU under Williams, is in his 12th year as an assistant at Purdue.

Williams, 54 (born August 1, 1950), and wife, Wanda, have a son, Scott, and a daughter, Kimberly. Scott was a guard on the UNC basketball team in 1997-98 and 1998-99. Kimberly is a 2002 Carolina graduate. Both reside in Charlotte.

Also, the Williams family pledged $100,000 last year to the Carolina Covenant, a new initiative at UNC that allows low-income students to attend the University debt free.

Year-by-Year as Head Coach:

• 1988-89: Williams turned down several head coaching opportunities while at UNC until the Kansas job opened up in 1988. His first Kansas team was inexperienced and ineligible for postseason play. But the Jayhawks won 13 of their first 14 games, including 11 straight, and finished with a 19-12 record.

• 1989-90: Kansas won its first 19 games, including all four in the Preseason NIT. The Jayhawks went from being unranked in the preseason poll to No. 1 or No. 2 for 13 consecutive weeks. A 30-5 season and an NCAA Tournament appearance helped earn Williams Big Eight and National Coach of the Year honors.

1990-91: Kansas went 10-4 in conference play and earned a share of the Big Eight title. In the NCAA Tournament, Kansas posted victories over New Orleans, Pittsburgh, Indiana and Arkansas to capture the NCAA Southeast Regional and earned a Final Four berth. Playing in front of 47,100 fans at the Indianapolis Hoosier Dome, Williams guided KU to a 79-73 victory over Smith and North Carolina, putting the Jayhawks in the NCAA title game against Duke.

1991-92: Kansas went 27-5 and was ranked as high as No. 2 in the national polls. The Jayhawks won the conference by three full games and beat Oklahoma State in the Big Eight Tournament title game.

1992-93: Kansas won its third straight Big Eight crown – again by three full games – was ranked No. 1 for two weeks and posted a 29-7 record. In the NCAA Tournament, KU defeated Ball State, Brigham Young, California and No. 1-ranked Indiana to win the Midwest Regional en route to the Final Four for the second time in three years. There, the Jayhawks were ousted by eventual champion North Carolina. It was the second and final time Williams' and Smith's teams faced each other.

1993-94: Kansas won the Preseason NIT for the second time and advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16.

1994-95: Kansas finished 11-3 in the Big Eight to win its fourth league title in five seasons. Impressive non-league wins over No. 1 Massachusetts, No. 2 Connecticut and No. 6 Florida followed to help Kansas earn a No. 1 seed in the Midwest Regional, where it advanced to the Sweet 16.

1995-96: The Jayhawks closed out the Big Eight by winning their fifth title in six years. Kansas, which also had non-league wins over UCLA, Utah and Indiana, earned a No. 2 seed in the NCAA West Regional, where it advanced to the Elite Eight before losing to Syracuse.

1996-97: Despite injuries to senior starters Jacque Vaughn, Scot Pollard and Jerod Haase, the Jayhawks established KU records with a 22-0 start and 29 regular-season victories. Kansas won the league by four games with a 15-1 record, then won the first Big 12 postseason tournament title. Kansas concluded the season at 34-2 after losing to eventual NCAA champion Arizona in the Sweet 16.

1997-98: First-team All-Americas Raef LaFrentz and Paul Pierce led Kansas to a school record-tying 35 wins, its second-straight Big 12 crown and Big 12 Tournament title. The Jayhawks, who won the Preseason NIT in November, went 35-4 overall and 15-1 in the Big 12.

1998-99: Led by seniors Ryan Robertson and T.J. Pugh, KU went 23-10 and won its third-straight Big 12 Tournament title. The Jayhawks lost a hard-fought overtime game to Kentucky in the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

1999-00: One of the youngest teams in KU history fought through numerous injuries to compile a 24-10 record. When Nick Collison, Drew Gooden and Kirk Hinrich all appeared in the starting lineup, it marked the first time since the 1982-83 campaign that three freshmen started a game.

2000-01: KU led the nation in field goal percentage defense and went 26-7, finished second in the Big 12 regular-season race and advanced to the Sweet 16 for the first time since 1997 before bowing to No. 1 seed Illinois.

2001-02: The Jayhawks went 33-4, won the Big 12 with an unprecedented 16-0 record and advanced to the Final Four for the first time since 1993. KU tied a school record by beating nine ranked opponents and set a school record by scoring 100 or more points 12 times. Williams was named Big 12 Coach of the Year and Gooden was named Big 12 Player of the Year and first-team All-America.

2002-03: Kansas went 30-8, including a 14-2 record in the Big 12 that produced Williams' ninth regular-season conference title. Led by Collison, the NABC National Player of the Year, and Hinrich, another All-America, the Jayhawks beat Duke, Arizona and Marquette en route to the national championship game. It was KU's first back-to-back appearance in the Final Four since 1952-53.

2003-04: Carolina went 19-11 and earned a spot in the NCAA Tournament for the first time in three years. The Tar Heels beat No.-1 ranked Connecticut as well as NCAA finalist Georgia Tech and ACC Tournament champion Maryland. Carolina beat Air Force in Denver in the NCAA first round, the 15th straight year Williams has won at least one game in the NCAA postseason.

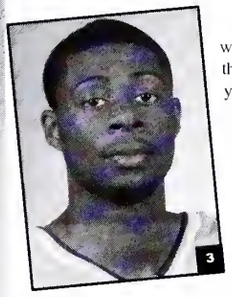
WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT ROY WILLIAMS ...

Michael Jordan, UNC 1981-84

"I truly learned a lot from Coach Williams when I was at North Carolina. I consider Roy not only to be a great coach, but a good friend. I have nothing but high hopes for the Tar Heels this season, and I know that they are in good hands with Coach Williams."

Mitch Kupchak
Los Angeles Lakers general manager

"Roy Williams has proven himself to be one of the finest basketball coaches in the world, as well as a great leader in developing the character of young men. Additionally, from a professional perspective, his players are always prepared to play at the next level. Having him join the basketball program at the University of North Carolina will further the excellence of both the school and Coach Williams' career. I can't begin to tell you how happy I am to have him back in the Tar Heel state."



Jackie Manuel, UNC senior

"I think he's a great guy, a great coach. When he says 'OK, I want you to do this,' you're going to do it. He's been there, done that. He's proven himself. He knows what is best for you. He's got your best interests at heart. You'd do anything for him."

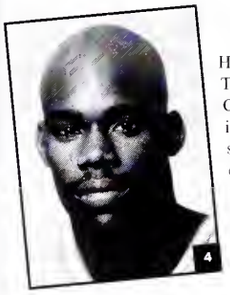
Joe Wolf, UNC 1983-87

"Coach Williams was one of my mentors. Every day he worked with the big guys. He was in charge of making sure we had good jump hooks and had the proper post moves. I developed a relationship early with Coach Williams. I worked his camps at Kansas when I was in the NBA. He's nothing but a solid individual. I have a lot of good memories with Coach Williams and hopefully there will be a lot more to come."

Sam Perkins, UNC 1980-84

"Everybody is pleased with the decision. Coach Williams is coming back to his roots. It's where he started as a part-time assistant. That's quite an accomplishment – it's a dream come true. I know he's real excited about coaching at Carolina. He has the tenure, the temperament and the experience to change the challenges of recent years.

"He wants the players to do well, to feel for him. He will acclimate himself to the program like Coach Smith did."



Antawn Jamison, UNC 1995-98

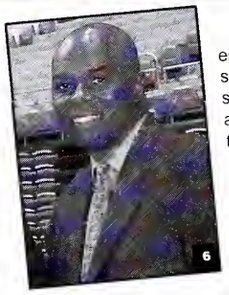
"Most importantly, he's the best coach in college basketball. He's been through Carolina and learned a lot from Coach Smith. They have the same kind of philosophy. He reminds me a lot of Coach Smith. Not just in terms of basketball, but as far as knowing the importance of having good people, caring about making sure they are successful after basketball. He'll have a big influence over every player that comes through the program preparing them for life. That's what it's all about. It's not just about being a coach, but being like a father figure. He'll bring in good people. I'm very happy for Coach Williams. He's going to turn things around and get things rolling again."

Walter Davis, UNC 1973-77

"It's going to be great. He's a great coach and a great person. He relates to players really well. He'll get good feedback from the players. And he'll get 100 percent effort from the players because he'll have a good relationship with them."

Kenny Smith, UNC 1983-87

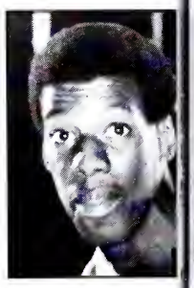
"If I close my eyes I think it is Coach Smith. I used to turn the sound on my TV down and run to the screen and think Coach Smith was coaching Kansas. The former players are excited. It should be a lot of fun around here. No one is bigger than Carolina basketball, but Coach Williams understands the direction Coach Smith had the program in and that's tough to do. Going to Kansas and reaching the same level of basketball, not in wins and losses, but family atmosphere is impressive."



Phil Ford, UNC 1974-78

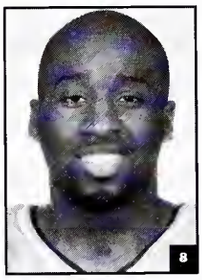
"He's a proven coach. What separates the good coaches from the great coaches is consistency. If you are consistently going deep in the NCAA Tournament and having successful seasons year after year with different talent and abilities, that's what separates the good from the great. His track record is being consistently good for a long time.

"Coach Williams basically has the same philosophies as Coach Smith, although Coach Williams has some of his own wrinkles. They have the same philosophy of playing the game – get good shots, pushing the ball up the floor, wanting to run, defensive togetherness, team defense, team offense, offensive rebounding, taking care of the ball, how the game should be played – Coach Smith and Coach Williams are exactly the same."



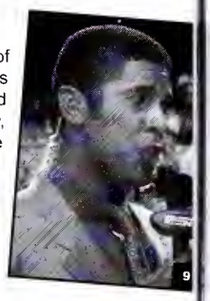
Charles Scott, UNC 1967-70

"From a former player's perspective it means a lot to have Coach Williams as head coach because he is so similar to Coach Smith. He's been successful at Kansas, he's a great person, and he knows what it means to be a Tar Heel. When you watched his teams at Kansas it was like you were watching Coach Smith again. He has so much integrity and cares for his players. I think he's really going to develop something special here at Carolina."



Raymond Felton, UNC junior

"If you listen to him you are going to accomplish some great things because he's accomplished some great things. Whatever he's doing, it's got to be right."

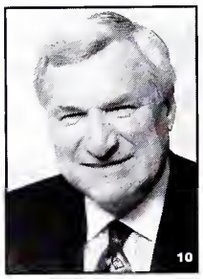


Brad Daugherty, UNC 1982-86

"Coach Williams brings a lot of credibility to the program with his accomplishments at Kansas. He did an incredible job there. Obviously, while he was at North Carolina, he learned a lot from Coach Smith. But credibility is what I think of. I am very excited he's back as a Tar Heel.

"He will demand respect and earn it immediately. When I think of him, (I've known him since he coached me in youth league ball), I think of his honesty, integrity and tremendous work ethic. He is a classy, classy individual. But he is also one of the toughest people I have ever met in my life. No one is tougher than Roy Williams, but he is fair. That's why the kids love him so much. When you have played four years for him he will be a friend for life and you will be a better man, and appreciate every ounce of the experience when you are gone.

If I had to go to war, I'd grab him for my foxhole without question."



Dean Smith, former UNC head coach

"He's really a bright man. He has the whole package of what you want as a college head coach. You want somebody who knows basketball, can judge talent, is a competent leader and can teach it in practice, makes good decisions in the game, is highly organized, and also is honest in recruiting and encouraging them to come to the University of North Carolina.

"He's like Tiger Woods in golf – they have the whole package. I don't know anyone else who does. I certainly consider him to be the best college coach in the country.

"It's remarkable to see what he did in 15 years at Kansas, with his teams having the best winning percentage in the country of any active coach.

"When I was finally able to move to a four-man staff, he was certainly the one I wanted to hire. I knew him because of his tremendous work in our summer camp. He ran his own gym, knew everyone's names in less than two days. I never used to go by his gym and check on it because I knew everything was all right.

"There was no doubt in my mind he was ready to be a head coach. It was a tremendous help that Eddie Fogler had gone to Wichita State and did such a great job.

"I loved watching his Kansas teams play. They were unselfish, pushed it into the secondary break, got after people in the man to man, they used the same terminology as we did here. I like that he doesn't worry about the score, he coaches each possession no matter the score."

Bill Guthridge, former UNC head coach

"We used to have Dean Smith, who was the best coach in the country. Now we have Roy Williams, who I think is the best coach in the country."

Jeff Lebo, UNC 1985-89

"When you think of North Carolina Basketball, you think about the words class, integrity and stability. Those same words can be used to describe the character of Roy Williams. As a former player, I can think of no one better to continue the great North Carolina Basketball tradition."

Kirk Hinrich, Kansas 1999-2003

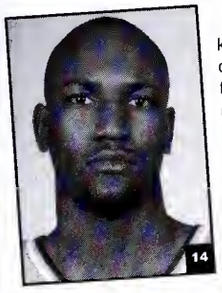
"Coach Williams, thank you. I don't think there's too many that believed in me like you did. Gave a skinny guy like myself a chance. I respect you so much. When I was coming out of high school, there were other schools that were guaranteeing me spots, but Coach Williams was first class. It's amazing what you've done for me. I can't even express it into words. Thank you, Coach.

"When you're being recruited, a lot of coaches promise you a lot of things. Coach Williams only promises to give you a chance. He'll give you all he's got and he expects the same from you. If I had a son, I'd tell him to go play for Coach because of that trust and honesty."

Nick Collison, Kansas 1999-2003 (after 2003 NCAA title game)

"Even for a million dollars, I wouldn't want to be in Syracuse's locker room right now. They won a ring, but I wouldn't trade places with them. I played for the best man in college basketball.

"Coach Williams is so good at working with post players. He's one of the few coaches left who wants his teams to try and throw it inside on every trip. He's a great coach for big guys."



Raef LaFrentz, Kansas 1994-98

"I was just coming here to play basketball for a man I knew I could trust and a man I hoped would make my dreams a reality. Thanks to Coach Williams for doing that. Thanks to him for always being there, for always being an example for every player who has come into his program and, most importantly, thanks for being a friend."

Jawad Williams, UNC senior

"Practices are very intense, you get a lot done in a small amount of time. When you put fun and hard work together, that's very nice. We get a lot more accomplished."

Milt Newton, Kansas 1986-89

"The thing that I remember the most about Coach Williams is that as much as he is a great coach, he also genuinely cares about his players and their well-being. When I have a son and he's ready for college, I would want him to experience playing for Coach Williams because he's a great teacher, a great coach and a great person."

Jacque Vaughn, Kansas 1993-97

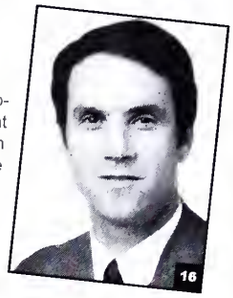
"He's a remarkable person, someone who I look up to. He's more than a friend, more than a coach. I'm not ashamed to say I love the man."

Larry Brown, Detroit Pistons head coach

"He's as good a coach as our sport has. He did it for 15 years at Kansas, and I think if you ask people around the country, they'll say there's no better college coach than Roy Williams. North Carolina is a great school. It has unbelievable tradition. If you have a great coach, there is no doubt that with all those things in place, North Carolina is going to continue to be the great university and basketball program it's always been."

Jerry West, Memphis Grizzlies general manager

"This is as good as it gets in a person. There's nothing deceptive about him. He is what he is – a wonderful person and a great coach. If you watch his teams, you know they have been coached. If you go to his practices, you know why his teams are successful. His players play the right way. They're team-oriented. They play a fun way offensively. They're aggressive. He changes defenses. He does it all. He's just a wonderful coach."

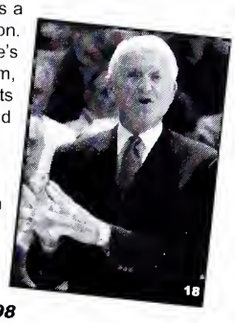


Eddie Fogler, former UNC assistant coach

"Roy's accomplishments at Kansas are well documented and withstood the test of time. He not only won big, but ran a first class program in every aspect. Nothing has changed now that he is back in Chapel Hill. He learned from the best in Coach Smith and Coach Guthridge. North Carolina basketball will be consistently outstanding under his leadership in every possible way."

Jim Calhoun, Connecticut head coach

"Roy is as good as there is. He's a terrific coach and a terrific person. He's a coach's coach because he's always trying to help the game. He has taken Dean's system, which was the best, and incorporated it into his own … He gets a lot from his kids. Roy is a first-ballot, Hall-of-Fame coach, and a first-ballot, nice guy."



Lute Olson, Arizona head coach

"Roy is an outstanding recruiter, an outstanding teacher, an outstanding coach, and most importantly, an outstanding person. There is no doubt in my mind that he will do great things at the University of North Carolina."

Vince Carter, UNC 1995-98

"Coach Williams is a great coach who is the man for the job at Carolina. He loves the school and the basketball program. I am confident he will bring the Tar Heels back to our winning ways."

Joe Posnanski, Kansas City Star

"He will win at North Carolina. He will win with class and dignity because that's what the man is about. He will have the Tar Heels running fast and scoring in bunches, and he will build on the legacy of the man he admires most. It's a dream job. And it will be a good life."

Kelvin Sampson, Oklahoma head coach

"Too many times in coaching we use words like 'great' or 'special.' But Roy Williams embodies those words and he also embodies NCAA basketball. Roy is the ultimate program builder and he's always going to have good teams. But, more importantly, he's always going to have a great program because he and his staff do things the right way on and off the court. North Carolina is one of the premier programs in the country and it has one of the premier coaches in the country."

Billy Cunningham, UNC 1963-65

"Roy Williams, even if he hadn't come back to Carolina, which I loved seeing, is one of the great coaches today in basketball. Him coming back where he is so comfortable and happy, all it can be is great for the program at Carolina. Roy is going to take it to a level that most people are used to seeing Carolina basketball at.

"The reunion last year was something truly special. Meeting guys that played in 1936 was special. It's something I'll never forget. Maybe some had drifted a little from Carolina basketball but that brought everything back."

JOE HOLLADAY

Joe Holladay is in his second year as an assistant coach with the Tar Heels and his 12th as a member of Roy Williams' coaching staff.

Holladay joined Williams at the University of Kansas prior to the 1993-94 season after 23 highly successful years as a high school coach, teacher and administrator. The Jayhawks posted a cumulative record of 312-71 (.815), won six conference regular-season championships and three Big 12 Tournament titles during his tenure. KU played in the 2002 and 2003 NCAA Final Fours, including the 2003 national championship game against Syracuse.

Last year, Holladay helped Carolina earn a return to the NCAA Tournament and a 19-11 overall record. The Tar Heels averaged 10 points more per game than in the previous season and knocked off No. 1 ranked Connecticut.

Holladay's responsibilities include recruiting, scouting and day-to-day basketball operations. He oversees the academic progress of the student-athletes.

At Kansas, Holladay coached National Players of the Year Drew Gooden and Nick Collison, and first-team All-Americas Jacque Vaughn, Raef LaFrentz, Paul Pierce and Kirk Hinrich.

Kansas finished the year ranked in the Top 10 in the Associated Press poll six times, including No. 1 in 1997 and No. 2 in 1998 and 2002.

Eight players were selected in the first round of the NBA Draft. Kansas student-athletes earned first-team academic All-America honors four times and first-team academic all-conference honors 23 times in the last eight years.

A 1969 University of Oklahoma graduate with a degree in history, Holladay was a standout guard for the Sooners from 1967-69. As a senior, he served as team captain.

Holladay earned a master's degree in counseling in 1975 from East Central State University in Oklahoma.

He went to Kansas after working 13 years as head coach and eight years as athletics director at Jenks (Okla.) High School. Holladay previously served as a prep coach in the Oklahoma towns of Norman, Bartlesville, Tulsa, and Lindsay. Retired UNC wrestling coach Bill Lam coached with Holladay at Norman High School.

In 1998, Holladay was inducted into the Oklahoma High School Coaches Association Hall of Fame, and in 2002, he was inducted into the inaugural 20-member group of the Oklahoma Basketball Coaches Association Hall of Fame.

One of his top players at Jenks High School, Steve Hale, played at North Carolina from 1982-86 under then-assistant coach Roy Williams.

Holladay was an outstanding prep baseball player. He was selected by the Chicago White Sox in the Major League Baseball Draft.

Holladay and his wife, Roi, a former schoolteacher, have a daughter, Heather, who is in television commercial production, and a son, Captain Mathew Holladay, a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, who served in Iraq.

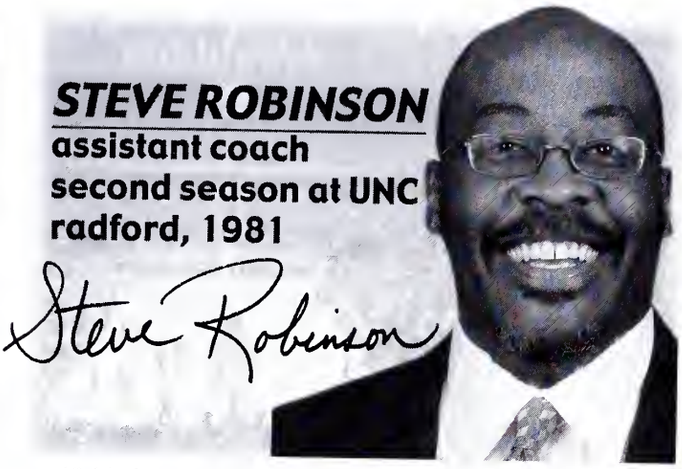
Steve Robinson is in his second year as an assistant coach at the University of North Carolina and his 10th as a member of Roy Williams' coaching staff.

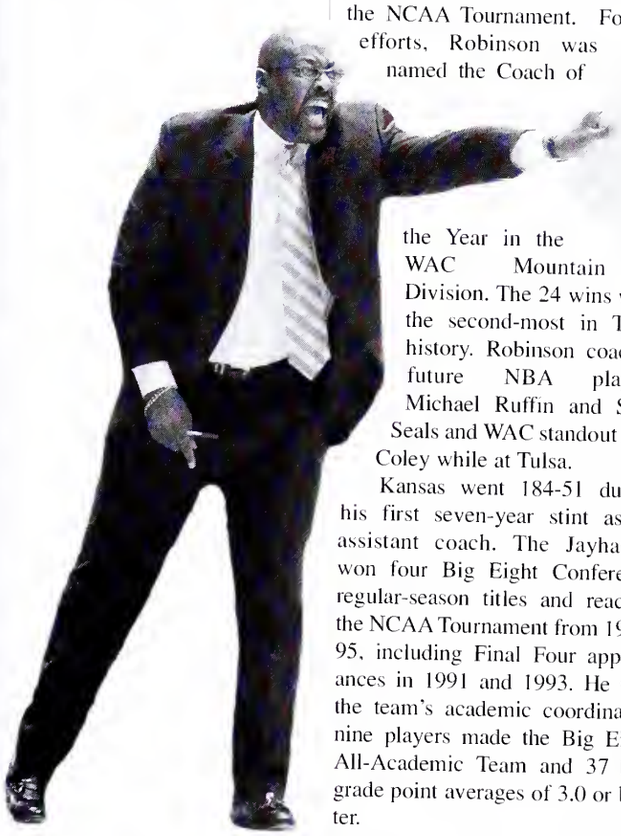
Robinson helped Carolina to a 19-11 record last year and a second round appearance in the NCAA Tournament. He coached three different Tar Heels who led the ACC in scoring, rebounding and assists. His primary responsibilities include scouting, recruiting and bench coaching. He was recently named one of the top 25 recruiters in college basketball.

Robinson was head coach at the University of Tulsa for two years (1995-97) and at Florida State University for five years (1997-2002) before returning to Kansas for one year prior to coming to Chapel Hill. Robinson also was on staff with Williams in Lawrence from 1988-95.

As head coach at Florida State, he led the Seminoles to the second round of the 1998 NCAA Tournament, becoming the first coach in school history to take a team to the NCAA Tournament in his first season. The Seminoles went 18-14, beat No. 5 ranked Arizona, the defending champions, and upset fifth-seed TCU in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.



Robinson was head coach at Tulsa in 1995-96 and 1996-97. He led the Golden Hurricane to a 46-18 record and back-to-back appearances in the NCAA Tournament. In his first year, Tulsa won 22 games and won the Missouri Valley Tournament for the first time in 10 years. In 1996-97, Tulsa went 24-10 and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament. For his efforts, Robinson was named the Coach of the Year in the WAC Mountain Division. The 24 wins were the second-most in Tulsa history. Robinson coached future NBA players Michael Ruffin and Shea Seals and WAC standout Eric Coley while at Tulsa.



Kansas went 184-51 during his first seven-year stint as an assistant coach. The Jayhawks won four Big Eight Conference regular-season titles and reached the NCAA Tournament from 1989-95, including Final Four appearances in 1991 and 1993. He was the team's academic coordinator; nine players made the Big Eight All-Academic Team and 37 had grade point averages of 3.0 or better.

In 2002-03, the Jayhawks went 30-8, won the Big 12 regular-season title and advanced to the NCAA championship game.

EXCELLENCE IN ACADEMICS

• "You do the best you can to get them to realize they will not be playing basketball their whole life," says UNC academic advisor Wayne Walden. "At some point that degree can be very necessary and beneficial ... I tell them, 'Even though you may have a long NBA career, you'll have 20-25 years where you do not want to just sit around.' We've been fortunate that Coach Williams recruited awfully good kids who were motivated to do the job in the classroom."

• Men's basketball players receive unparalleled individual instruction from counselors and tutors. UNC is unique in that every tutor who works with the team is a professional educator - no undergraduate tutors - and each works with a specific academic program.

• Carolina graduated 75 percent of its men's basketball players from 1983-95, according to a recent NCAA study. The national average was 42 percent.

• Current NBA standouts Vince Carter, Antawn Jamison and Jerry Stackhouse all left school early for professional stardom but returned to earn their degrees.

THIS IS CAROLINA

• Carolina ranks as the fifth-best public university in U.S. News & World Report's annual "Best Colleges" guidebook. Affirmation as a national leader in student accessibility; Second among public campuses and 19th overall in "Great Schools, Great Prices," based on academic quality, net cost of attendance and average student debt.

• UNC is rated 15th – the highest ranking for any major public research university – in the 2003 "Black Enterprise-DayStar Top 50 Colleges and Universities for African Americans" list.

• Carolina ranks first among the 100 best public colleges combining great academics and affordable tuitions as ranked by Kiplinger's Personal Finance. Carolina has been first four consecutive times. UNC is also rated as the "best value" among 77 schools chosen by The Princeton Review.

• Collegia, a Massachusetts-based consulting company, rates Raleigh-Durham-Chapel Hill as the nation's "most student-friendly metropolitan area" with a population between 1 and 2.6 million. The Triangle ranked ahead of cities like Austin, Seattle, New Orleans and Denver.

• On a list released in 1999, the American Society of Landscape Architects selected the Carolina campus as one of the most beautifully landscaped spots in the country.

9. (75) Virginia 7,298

(national ranking in parentheses)

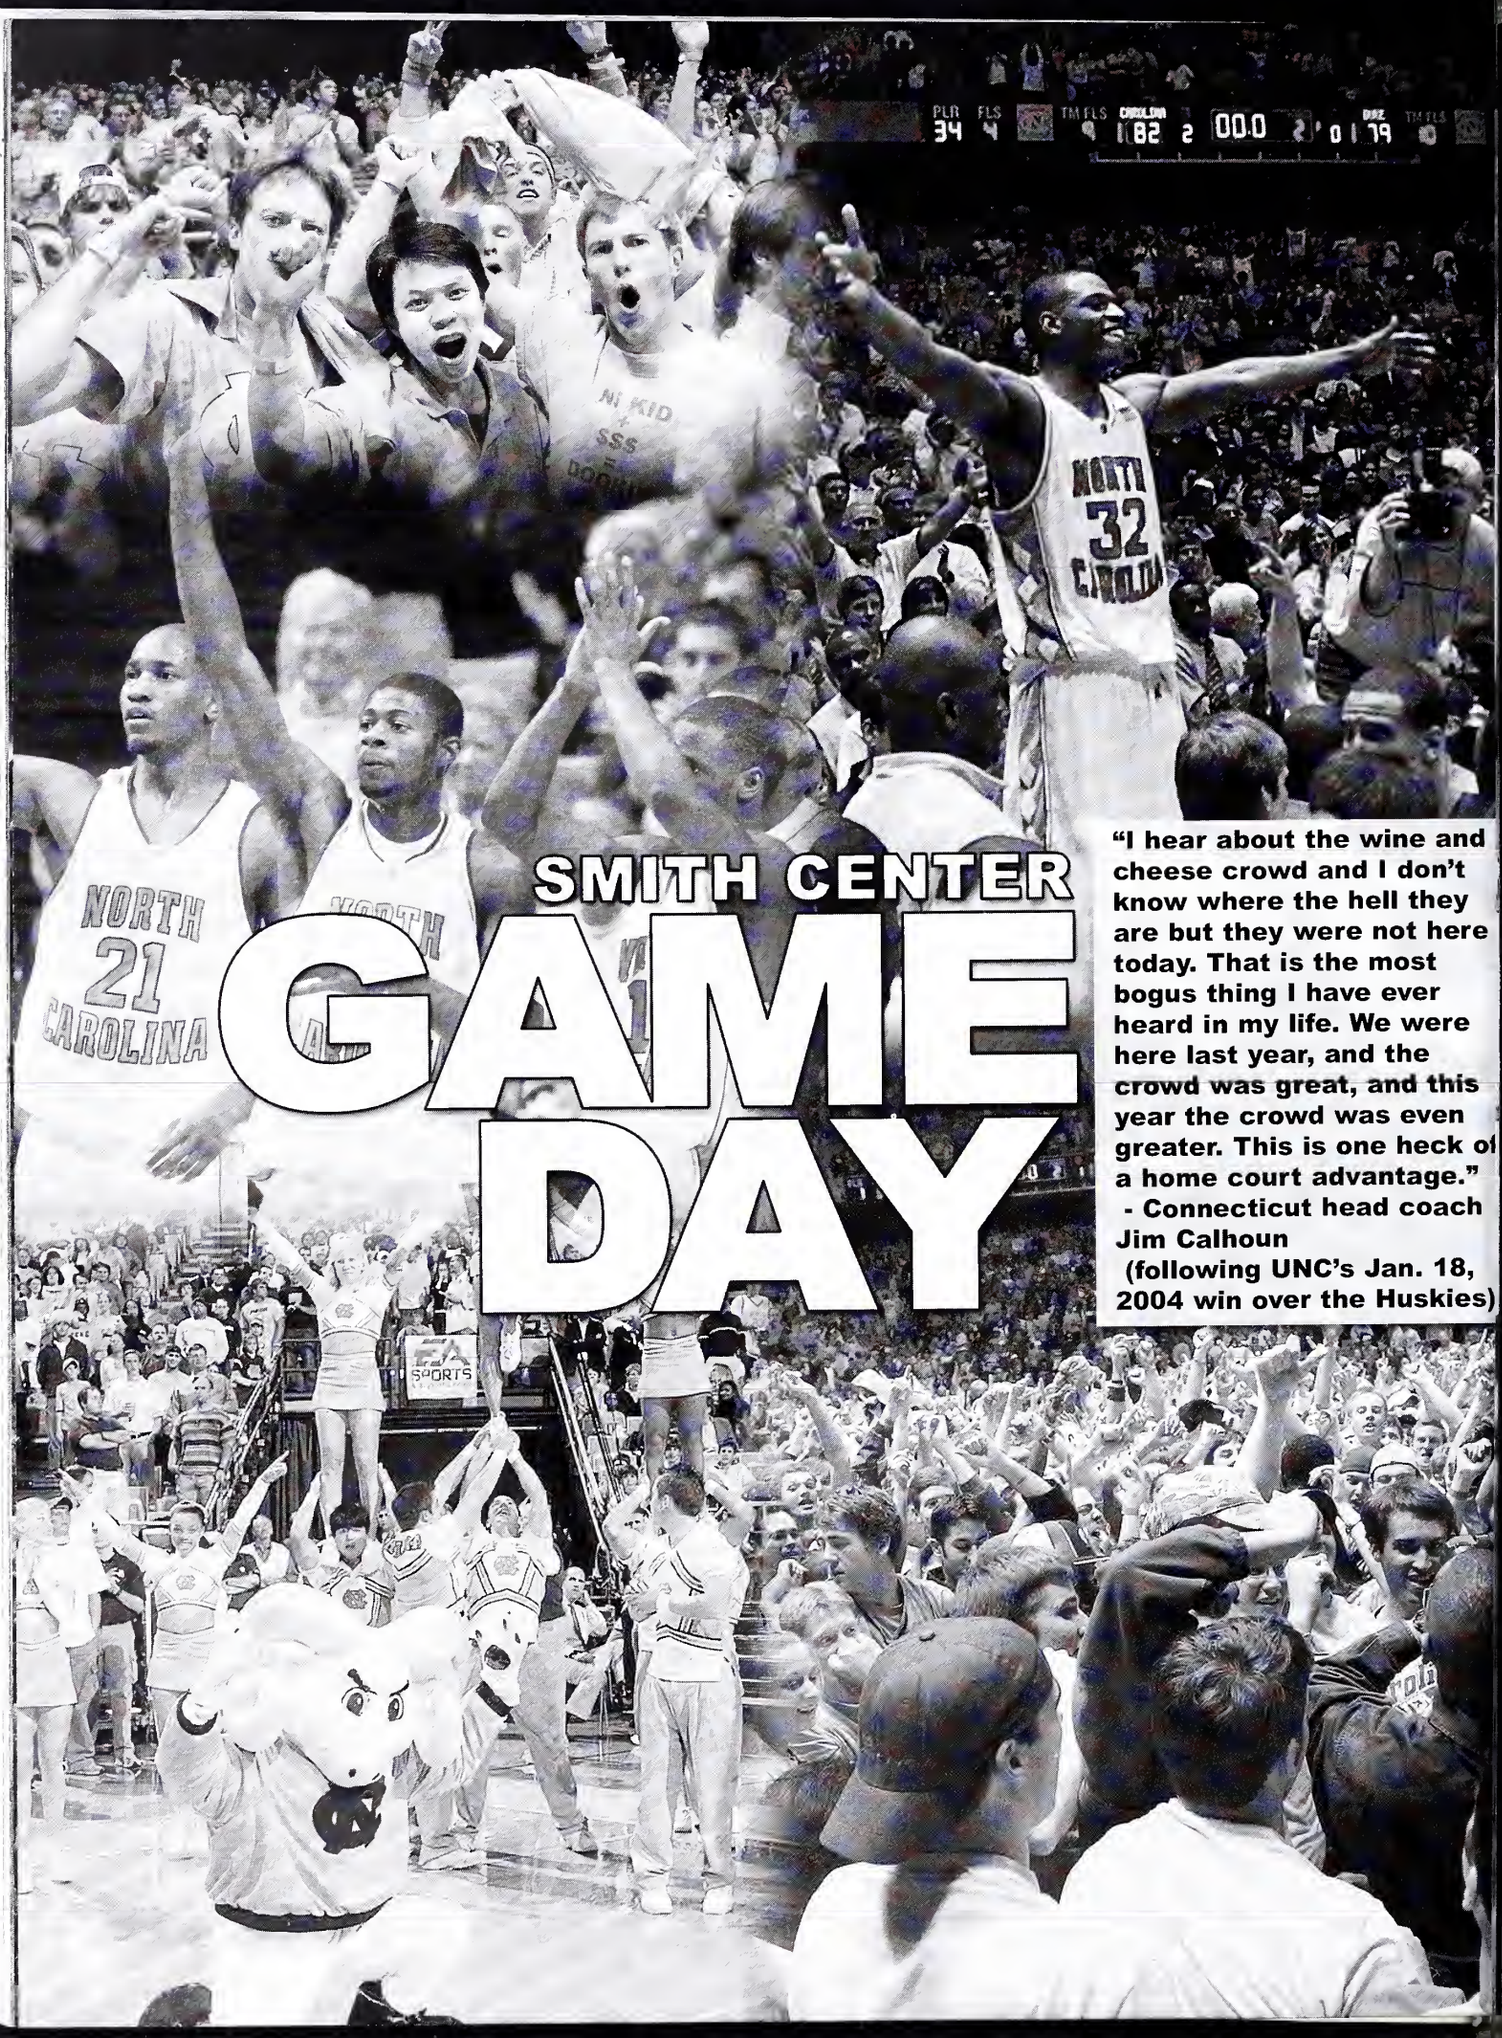
- As a whole, the ACC averaged a league-record 11,990 fans per game in 2003-04.

- Carolina's average attendance of 20,802 was third-best in the national attendance rankings.

UNMATCHED FACILITIES

"Carolina provides us players with everything we need to reach our potential. The weight room, training facility, practice gym and locker room are as good as any college in the country. In fact, I've been to four or five NBA arenas that don't have as good a setup as we have in the Smith Center."

- UNC junior Sean May



SMITH CENTER GAME DAY

"I hear about the wine and cheese crowd and I don't know where the hell they are but they were not here today. That is the most bogus thing I have ever heard in my life. We were here last year, and the crowd was great, and this year the crowd was even greater. This is one heck of a home court advantage."

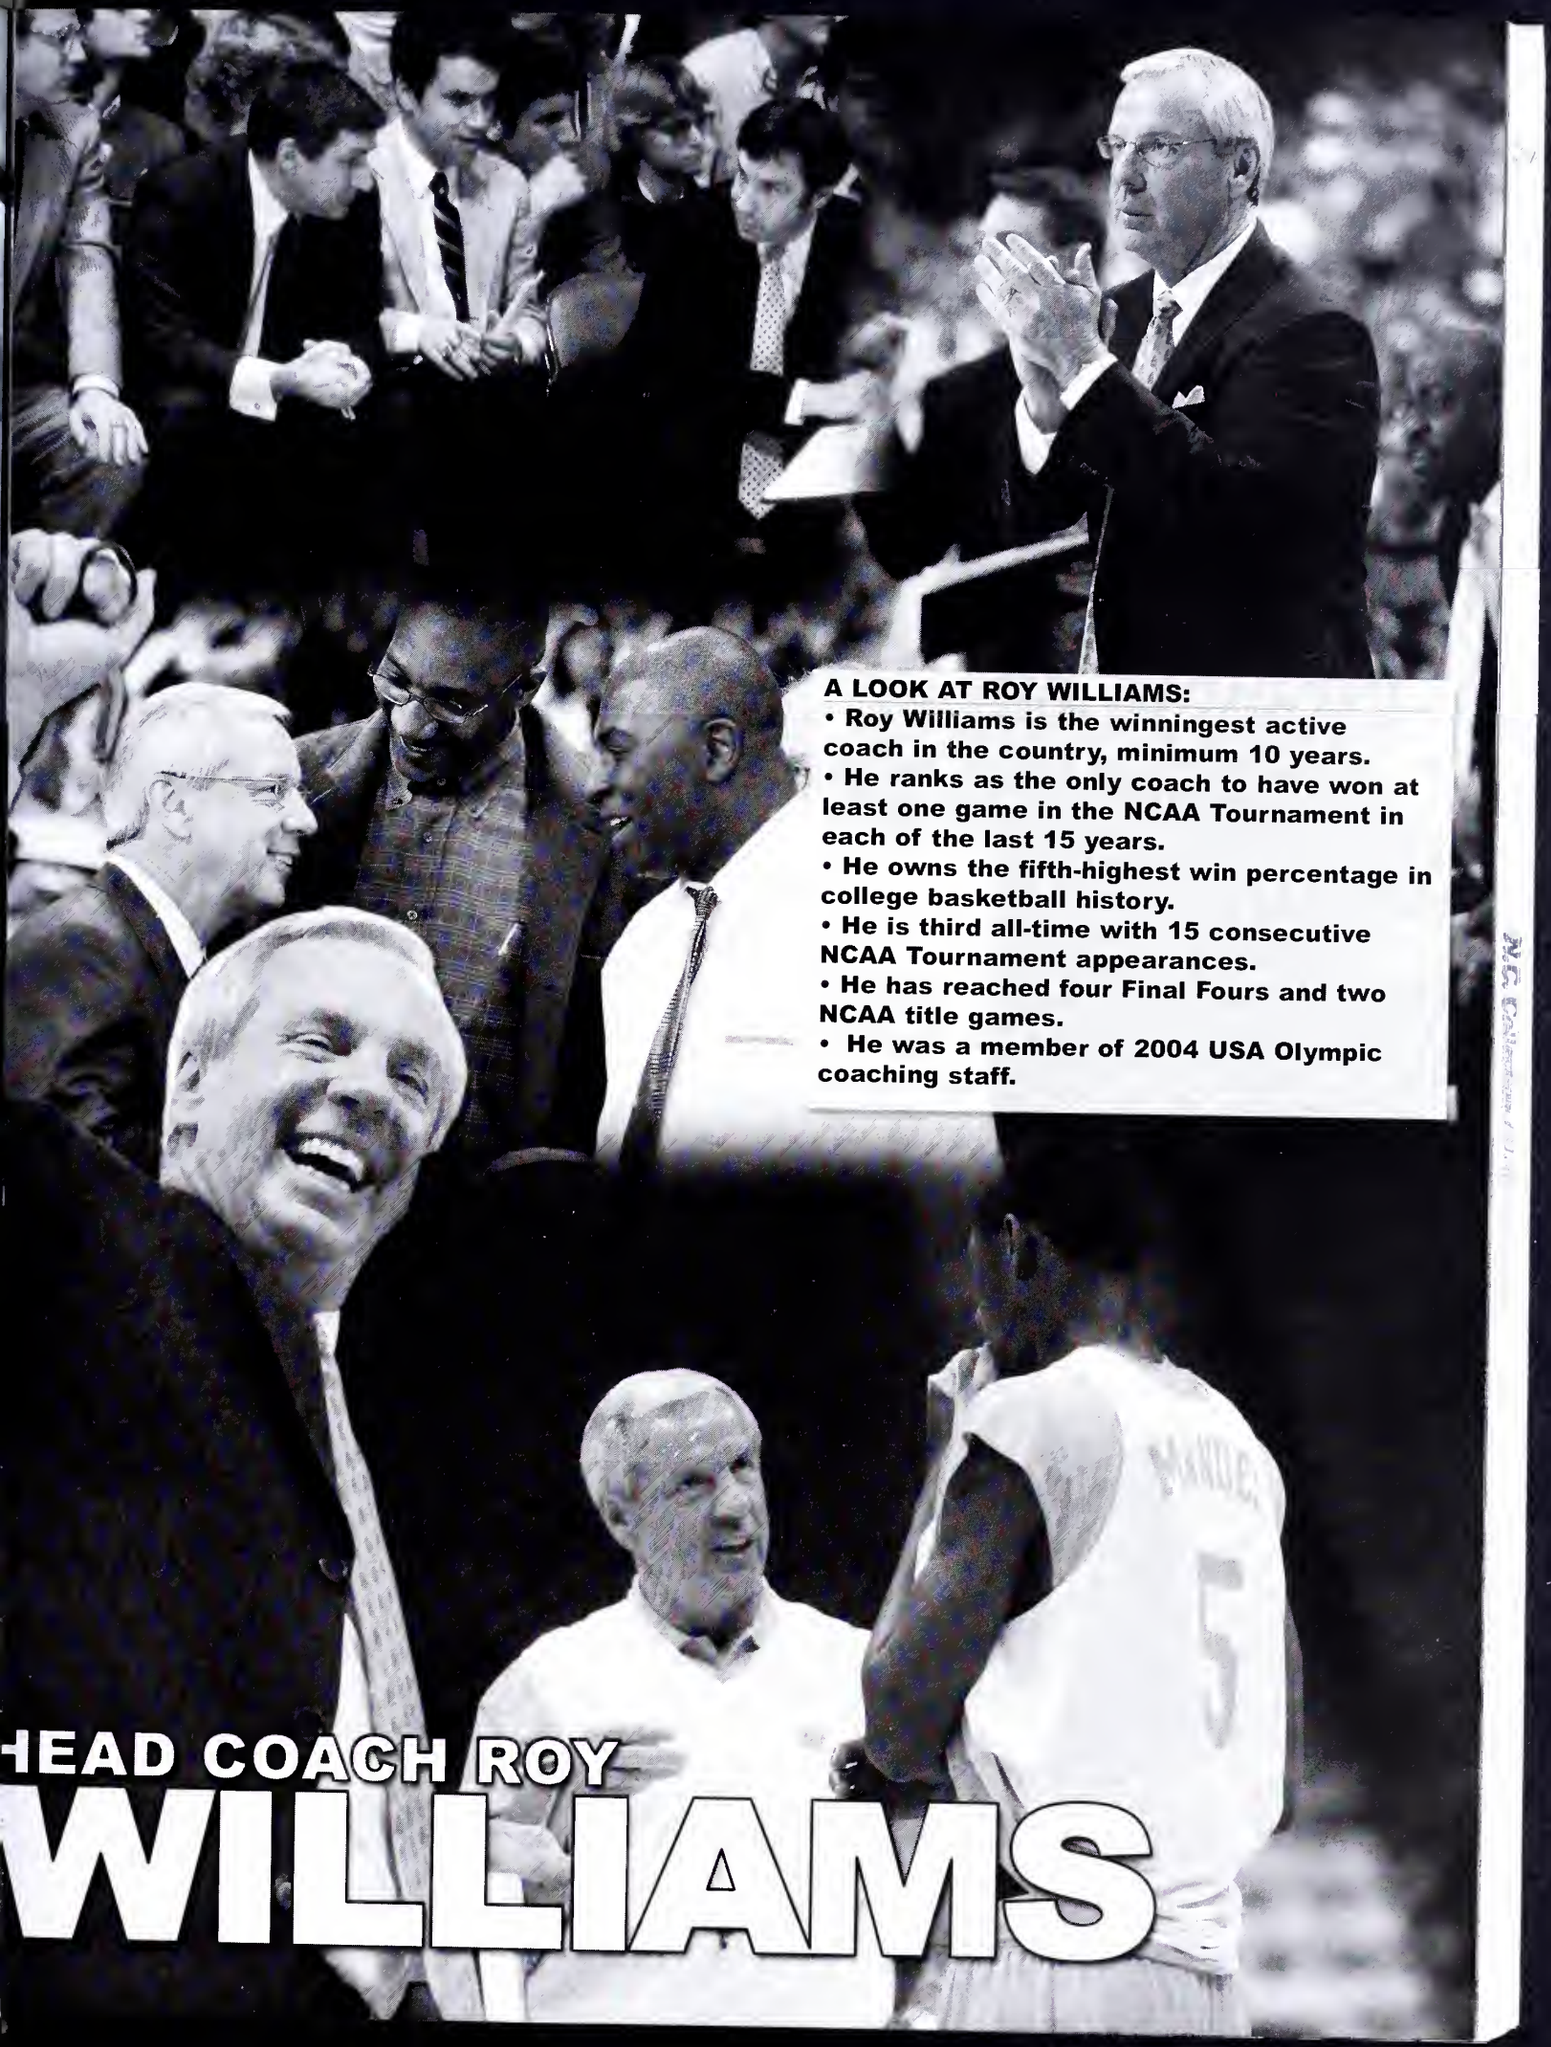
CAROLINA COACHING EXCELLENCE

Throughout the history of Carolina basketball, the program has been blessed with some of the game's greatest coaches and has helped to produce some of finest minds in all of basketball. Dean Smith, who retired with an NCAA Division I record 877 career wins, was recently named the top coach of the last 25 years by the ESPN25 Expert Panel as a part of the network's 25th annivesary. Carolina alum and former assistant coach Larry Brown was ranked No. 22 on the list. He guided the Detroit Pistons to the 2004 NBA title and coached the U.S. men's national team at the Athens Olympics.



A LOOK AT ROY WILLIAMS:

- Roy Williams is the winningest active coach in the country, minimum 10 years.

TAR HEELS IN THE NBA

• Last season, former Tar Heel Vince Carter led all NBA players in votes for the All-Star Game for the fourth time. Carter was named on 2,127,183 fan ballots.

• Carolina basketball is the only program in any sport to have two of the top 40 players in Sports Illustrated's "Fortunate 50," which represents the 50 highest paid professional athletes America. Vince Carter was No. 11 and Rasheed Wallace was 25th on the list

TIES TO THE TITLE

"Detroit reminded me of a college team. And not just any college team, either. The Pistons did exactly what the maestro on the sidelines wanted, reflecting the personality of a guy who is a purist as a coach. It is not a coincidence that Larry Brown learned many of his basketball fundamentals from his college coach ... Dean Smith.

The love and respect Larry has for the man he still refers to as "Coach" is obvious. In the moments after the Pistons had clinched the title ... Larry spoke fondly of his 99-year old mother and Dean Smith. You have to believe that Dean Smith was very proud as he watched that scene unfold and that pride was not just limited to Brown. There were other Carolina connections in Detroit too, with former Tar Heel Rasheed Wallace on the floor and John Kuester, Dave Hanners and Pat Sullivan working along side Brown on the coaching staff.

Carolina Blue made its presence felt."

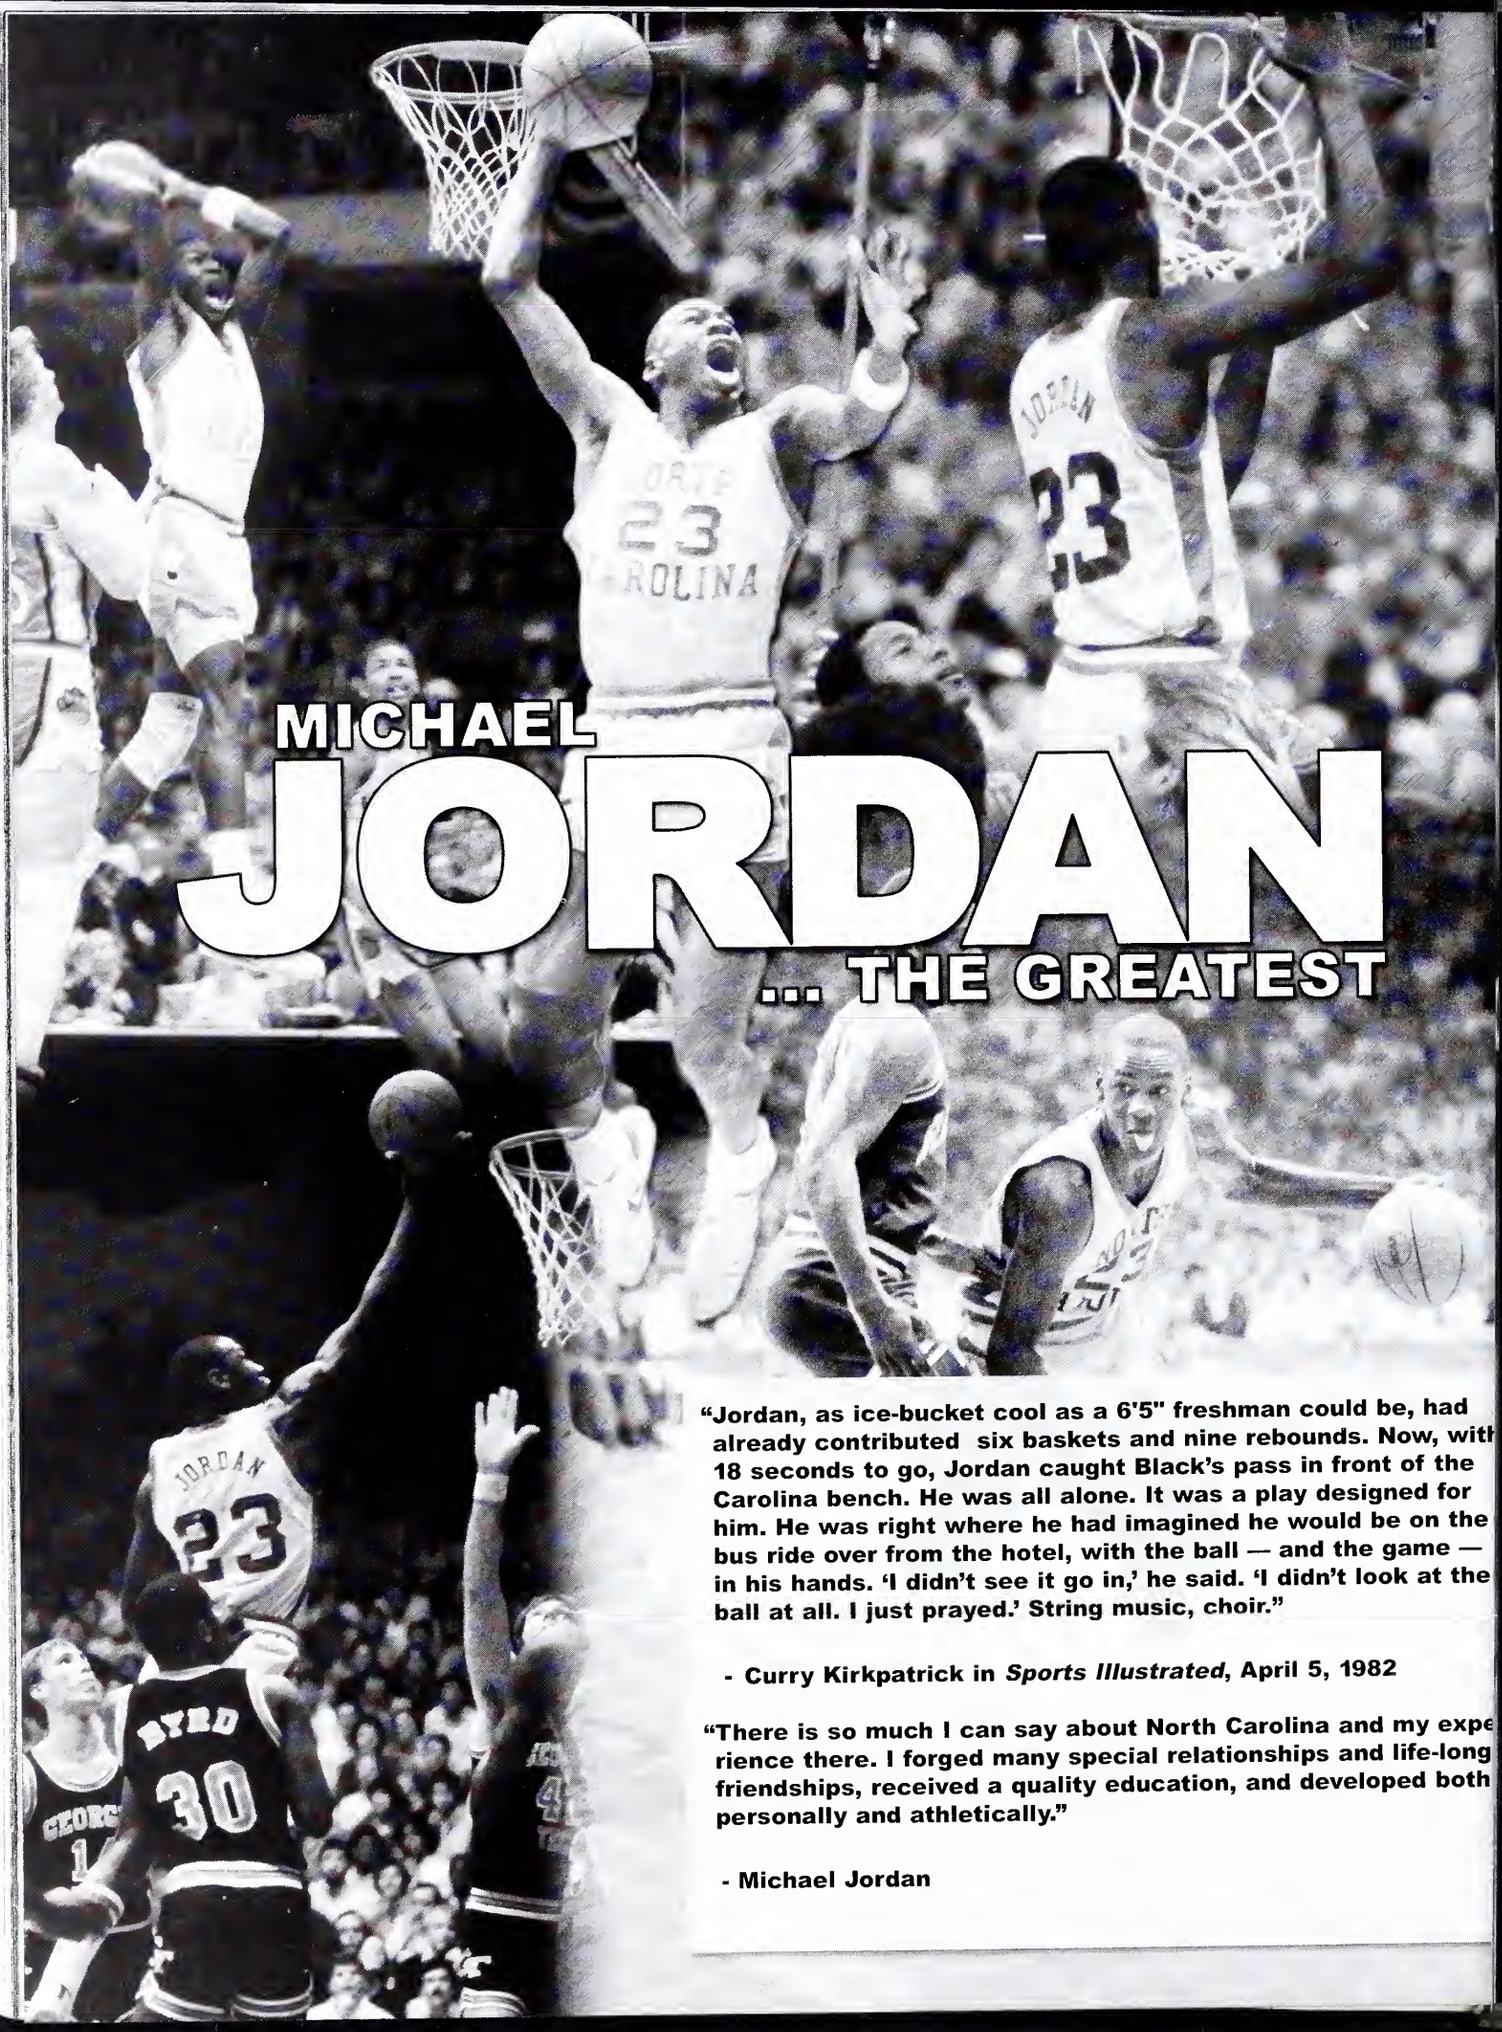
MICHAEL JORDAN ... THE GREATEST



"Jordan, as ice-bucket cool as a 6'5" freshman could be, had already contributed six baskets and nine rebounds. Now, with 18 seconds to go, Jordan caught Black's pass in front of the Carolina bench. He was all alone. It was a play designed for him. He was right where he had imagined he would be on the bus ride over from the hotel, with the ball — and the game — in his hands. 'I didn't see it go in,' he said. 'I didn't look at the ball at all. I just prayed.' String music, choir."

- Curry Kirkpatrick in Sports Illustrated, April 5, 1982

- At least 26 regular-season games and all ACC and NCAA Tournament games will be televised in 2004-05.

- Six local television stations, five radio stations and more than 20 newspapers in the state of North Carolina cover the Tar Heels on a regular basis.

- Carolina games are scheduled to appear on ABC, CBS, ESPN, Fox and Rayom-Jefferson Pilot networks this season.

- For the fourth year in a row, more officially-licensed Carolina apparel was sold at sporting goods stores in the U.S. than any other school in America. UNC's licensing royalties were $3.7 million in 2003-04.

• Former Tar Heel Brad Daugherty (left) and an ESPN College Gamenight crew broadcasted live from one of last year's Carolina-Duke games. Daugherty and Kenny Smith are just two of a number of former Tar Heels that have gone on to careers in the media.

• Sports Illustrated on Campus rated Carolina-Duke as the No. 1 rivalry in men's college basketball and the No. 2 overall rivalry.

• Carolina's uniforms were voted the best in the nation by ESPN.com's Page 2. The Tar Heels outdistanced Duke, 68.2 percent to 31.7 percent. There were 114,621 votes cast.

• Carolina was a part of four of the Top 25 Moments in ESPN College Basketball History, as announced in March 2004. The Tar Heels' 102-100, double-overtime win over Duke on Feb. 2, 1995 was named the top moment by a panel of ESPN college basketball staff. UNC's Michael Jordan-led win over Ralph Sampson and Virginia on Feb. 10, 1983 was ranked No. 8 on the list.

THE CAROLINA FAMILY

You won't find the most exclusive fraternity in Chapel Hill on Frat Row. It doesn't have a frat house—unless you count the Smith Center—or a secret password.

It does have a secret handshake, a ritual originated by longtime Dean Smith assistant and former head coach Bill Guthridge. Although there is no hazing, it does have certain initiation rites, such as the timeless tradition of freshmen being required to track down all loose balls.

It's the Carolina basketball fraternity, and it's one of the most exclusive groups in all of sports. Outsiders usually don't understand it, and with good reason. It's fully understandable only by those who have experienced it.

The Carolina hoops family manifests itself in different ways. It can take place off the court when a head coach stays by the bedside of a player undergoing surgery. It can take place in the locker room when a group of lettermen returned to Chapel Hill during the 2001-02 season to give a pregame pep talk on the meaning of Carolina basketball to the current Tar Heels. It can even be seen on the basketball court in the way that Tar Heel players rush to pick up a fallen teammate who has just drawn a charge or huddle at the foul line, an innovation now widely used that was created by Dean Smith.

Most importantly, however, the Carolina fraternity is symbolized by the coaches and lettermen who built it over the past 93 seasons of basketball. They didn't just play a game. They built a family.

WHY TAR HEELS?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the War Between the States. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff's bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'ns heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

A letter found in 1991 by State Archivist David Olson lends credence to another more direct theory. A letter from Maj. Joseph Engelhard describes a fight involving men from North Carolina in which Lee was heard to have said, "There they stand as if they have tar on their heels."

The letter, dated August 24, 1864, told the tale of a battle on the outskirts of Petersburg, Va. Engelhard was elected secretary of state for North Carolina in 1876.

DR. JAMES MOESER
- Chancellor
- 5th Year at UNC

Under the leadership of Dr. James Moeser, its ninth chancellor, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill's vision for the future is ambitious — to be America's leading public university.

"We want Carolina to be the best that it can be, to lead among America's best public universities," Moeser says. "In setting our sights that high, we are drawing from our heritage as the nation's first public university and our strong commitment to helping make North Carolina as successful as possible in the future."

Moeser's bold leadership has put the University in the national spotlight on key issues including student accessibility and binding early decision admissions. Most recently, the chancellor launched the Carolina Covenant, a groundbreaking initiative to make a Chapel Hill education possible debt-free for low-income students, beginning this fall. The Carolina Covenant was a first for a major U.S. public university when it was announced last October. Several major campuses, including Harvard, Virginia and Maryland, later created similar programs.

The University's ties to North Carolina are so important that Moeser recently launched a new effort to strengthen the connections between Carolina and the lives of state citizens and their communities. Through his "Carolina Connects" initiative, Moeser is traveling the state to highlight the many ways in which the University serves the communities and people of North Carolina. He also is seeking out opportunities to learn about other ways Carolina can connect with the state and its issues.

"Our message is that the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill serves North Carolina every day in meaningful, relevant ways," Moeser says. "In short, 'Carolina Connects.' The University has always played a significant leadership role in the life of North Carolina. I firmly believe that this University has the power to make a difference."

When Moeser began as chancellor in August 2000, his first challenge was to help secure support for the $3.1 billion bond referendum for higher education. The referendum, overwhelmingly approved by voters three months later, was the nation's largest higher education bond package. Moeser pledged to North Carolinians that if they passed the bond referendum, Carolina would triple their investment through private fund-raising efforts.

Carolina has made good on Moeser's pledge. The bonds alone mean $510 million worth of renovations, repairs and new buildings on the Chapel Hill campus so 21st Century students can learn in a 21st Century environment. Guided by a visionary master plan for growth now rapidly coming to life, the University is investing another $600 million from non-state sources including private gifts for other buildings essential to excellence. The resulting capital construction program is believed to be among the largest at any major American university.

Moeser announced the University's $1.8 billion goal for the Carolina First Campaign in October 2002. The multi-year private fund-raising effort is helping position Carolina as the nation's leading public university. By mid-2004, the campaign had surpassed the $1.25 billion mark in gifts and pledges from alumni and friends. Carolina First has created 120 new endowed professorships — half the total goal of 200 — and 430 new scholarships and fellowships for students toward a target of 1,000. Faculty support and the quality of students and facilities are among key campaign priorities.

Under Moeser's leadership, the University last year completed an academic plan to guide future decisions and investments in academic priorities. Early in his tenure, Moeser acted decisively to launch a campuswide initiative committing at least $245 million over the next decade to genome sciences. The public-private partnership received an anonymous $25 million gift for a proteomics research center. Evidence of success includes the School of Public Health's selection by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to house one of the nation's three centers of excellence for genomics and public health.

Attracting research funds is among the contributions the University makes to the North Carolina economy, and Carolina has steadily improved during the Moeser era. Overall, the Carolina faculty set another University record last fiscal year for sponsored research funding, attracting more than $537 million. The University consistently ranks among the top public and private universities receiving funding from the National Institutes of Health and the National Science Foundation.

Such success in the sciences is balanced by an equal commitment to the arts and humanities — which will benefit from planned facility improvements — as well as to the University Library, perennially ranked among the best research libraries in North America, and to key resources such as the Center for the Study of the American South. "We are committed to providing our students and citizens with the finest in the arts and to preserving the magnificent architectural archive of the historic campus," Moeser says. "We express and teach our values by what we build."

The chancellor has strongly supported efforts to enhance undergraduate education and improve the student judiciary and Honor Court systems. Moeser has championed the University's longtime commitment to diversity and an open intellectual community. Last year he co-chaired a Chancellor's Task Force for a Better Workplace that produced recommendations that are improving working conditions for employees.

Moeser was unanimously elected chancellor in April 2000 by the UNC Board of Governors and arrived after four years as chancellor of the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, where he was credited with strengthening academics and fund raising.

Chancellor James Moeser

A concert organist, Moeser began his career in 1966 at the University of Kansas as assistant professor and chairman of the organ department. He became dean of the School of Fine Arts in 1975 and later was named Althaus Distinguished Professor of Organ. In 1986 he joined Pennsylvania State University as dean of the College of Arts and Architecture and executive director of University Arts Services. Six years later Moeser became vice president for academic affairs and provost of the University of South Carolina, a post he held until becoming Nebraska's chancellor in 1996.

The chancellor recently was elected to the Board of Directors of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. He serves on two Association of American University committees examining the cost of research and internationalization. He is a past member of the Board of Directors of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges and chaired its technology-transfer commission. He also served on the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Universities.

Moeser often is invited to speak at major national education meetings about topics including academic freedom. He is on the CEO Group of Six, a group of university presidents and chancellors from each of the nation's major athletic conferences that has tackled issues including academic reform. Recently approved NCAA changes mirrored proposals the CEO Gxroup had discussed for some time.

Moeser is a member of the North Carolina Board of Science and Technology, a trustee of the North Carolina Symphony Society Inc. and a member of the Greater Triangle Regional Council

A native of Colorado City, Texas, Moeser grew up in Lubbock and graduated from the University of Texas at Austin with a bachelor of music degree with honors in 1961 and a master of music in musicology in 1964. The Graduate School at Texas honored him with its 2001 Outstanding Alumnus Award. He studied in Berlin and Paris on a Fulbright Scholarship and earned a doctorate from the University of Michigan in 1967. A past president of the American Guild of Organists, Moeser performed widely as a concert organist.

Moeser is married to Dr. Susan Dickerson Moeser, a fellow concert organist and music lecturer and University organist at Carolina. His children are a son, Chris, an attorney in Phoenix, Ariz., and a daughter, Carter, a physical therapist in Tacoma, Wash.

DICK BADDOUR

DICK BADDOUR
- Athletic Director
- 38th Year at UNC, 8th as A.D.

A Goldsboro native and Carolina graduate, Dick Baddour is in his eighth year as Director of Athletics. Baddour oversees a 28-sport organization that is nationally known for its competitive success, integrity, focus on academics and fervent fan following.

The University of North Carolina continues to be the pace-setter in the Atlantic Coast Conference and among the elite all-around programs in the nation. That is evident when you look at the numbers – over the last seven years the Tar Heels have won 40 ACC team championships (nine more than any other school and 23 more than the average of the other eight schools).

Carolina also has been the highest finishing ACC school in the Directors Cup in six of the last seven years. The Directors Cup measures NCAA postseason success.

More important than competitive success, the Tar Heels have been free of major NCAA sanctions, posted exemplary graduation rates and balanced the budget despite restrictive fiscal challenges.

"Not only are we blessed with student-athletes who are talented and committed to academic and athletic success, I believe we also have the finest coaching and administrative support staff in America," says Baddour. "Our coaches recruit student-athletes who have a passion to excel. Fortunately, our coaches love this great University and are dedicated to building outstanding programs in all aspects."

Over the last year, Baddour and his staff created the Carolina Leadership Academy, a formal training program for Carolina's student-athletes, coaches and administrators. The program has received funding of nearly $100,000 per year for at least five years. The Leadership Academy will provide comprehensive and cutting edge leadership development programming through interactive workshops, 360-degree feedback, one-on-one coaching, peer mentoring and educational resources.

Baddour chaired the Task Force on Signage in Athletic Venues, a group of nearly 20 University leaders charged by the Board of Trustees to examine the idea of including corporate signage in the Smith Center and Kenan Stadium.

Last year, the Tar Heels finished seventh nationally in the Directors Cup (11 spots ahead of the next ACC school), won four ACC championships, qualified for NCAA postseason play in 23 of 28 sports (up three from a year ago) and graduated roughly 70 percent of the student-athletes. This was the third consecutive year in which at least 20 Carolina sports qualified for NCAA play.

During his tenure, the Tar Heels have won NCAA championships in men's and women's soccer and field hockey, played in the men's basketball Final Four on two occasions, won two football bowl games and had numerous Top 10 national finishes in Olympic Sports. UNC has had 14 individual national champions in just the last three seasons. In 2003-04, Tar Heels claimed top honors in gymnastics, cross country and track and field.

Baddour has served as athletic director in one of the most dynamic periods in the University's history. Within months after taking the position, Baddour needed to replace Dean Smith, the winningest coach in NCAA basketball history and Mack Brown, the second-winningest football coach in school history. Smith resigned after 36 years as head coach, but continues to serve on Baddour's staff as consultant. Brown moved on to the University of Texas.

Baddour has hired head coaches in seven sports, including former UNC assistant Roy Williams to coach the basketball team. Williams had spent 15 successful years at Kansas where he became the winningest active coach in America. John Bunting, who won the Peach Bowl in his first year as head coach, Mike Fox (baseball), John Inman (men's golf), Brian Kalbas (women's tennis), John Haus (men's lacrosse) and Sarah Haney (rowing) are among Baddour's other coaching hires on the current staff.

Baddour dramatically altered the makeup of the academic support and student-development program. He hired an associate athletic director for student-athlete services, director of the academic support program, director of student-athlete support for football, director for student-athlete services focusing on life skills and director of NCAA certification. Carolina has had the second-highest number of student-athletes make the ACC Academic Honor Roll and averaged 135 student-athletes on the Dean's List each semester. In 2002-2003, 257 student-athletes made the ACC Honor Roll, second-most in school history.

Over the last seven years the Tar Heels have won 40 ACC championships (nine more than any other school and 23 more than the average of the other eight schools)

Fiscal responsibility has been a key directive of the last seven years. Baddour instituted a number of measures designed to keep UNC among the nation's most competitive athletic programs, while at the same time ensuring a sound financial future. He negotiated and signed contracts with Nike to outfit the entire athletic program and with Learfield Communications, UNC's multi-media rightsholder. The Nike deal was widely praised as one of the most socially conscious contracts of its kind with respect to global labor issues.

Baddour studied and then reorganized the marketing, communications, compliance, Educational Foundation, strength and conditioning and ticket operations.

He's overseen the development of UNC Finley Golf Course, the Eddie Smith Indoor Center and the softball complex. The McCaskill Soccer Center and the Francis E. Henry Stadium were dedicated in 1998. Baddour is currently looking at plans to renovate Boshamer Stadium, Kenan Stadium, the Smith Center and Carmichael Auditorium.

Baddour is past chair of the ACC Athletic Directors and ACC Tennis Committees and currently serves as a member of ACC Committees on Football, Basketball and Television, Constitution Bylaws, Sportsmanship and Recruiting. He is a past member of the NCAA Championship Cabinet, Postseason Bowl Certification Committee and NCAA Football Issues Committee.

Baddour became the Director of Athletics on June 25, 1997. In 2001, he received a Distinguished Service Medal from the UNC General Alumni Association. He is in his 38th year of continuous service to the University. Prior to his current position, he spent 11 years (1986-97) as the executive associate director of athletics.

Dick and Lynda Baddour

Baddour began his UNC career in 1967 as assistant dean of men. In 1971 he became assistant dean of undergraduate admissions. In 1975, he was awarded a Master of Arts degree in education with a major in student personnel administration and a minor in business administration.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

Through its teaching, research and public service, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an educational and economic beacon for the people of North Carolina and beyond.

HISTORY

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was the nation's first state university to open its doors and the only public university to award degrees in the 18th century.

Authorized by the N.C. Constitution in 1776, the university was chartered by the N.C. General Assembly Dec. 11, 1789, the same year George Washington first was inaugurated as president.

The cornerstone was laid for Old East, the nation's first state university building, Oct. 12, 1793. Hinton James, the first student, arrived from Wilmington, N.C., Feb. 12, 1795.

LOCATION

The 729-acre central campus includes the two oldest state university buildings, Old East and Person Hall. Old East and Playmakers Theatre, an 1852 Greek-revival building are National Historic Landmarks.

The American Society of Landscape Architects selected the Carolina campus as one of the most beautifully landscaped spots in the country. That list, released in 1999 timed to the society's centennial, is among the most recent praise affirming the charm of mighty oaks, majestic quadrangles, brick sidewalks and other landscaping synonymous with UNC.

Today, the campus is undergoing an unprecedented physical transformation made possible in part by North Carolinians' overwhelming approval of the $3.1 billion bond referendum for higher education. The referendum, approved in November 2000, was the nation's largest higher education bond package.

The bonds are bringing Carolina $510 million for renovations, repairs and new buildings so 21st century students can learn in a 21st century environment. Also guided by a visionary master plan for growth now coming to life, the university is investing another $600-plus million from non-state sources, including private gifts and overhead receipts from faculty research grants, for other buildings essential to excellence. The resulting capital construction program is believed to be among the largest underway at any major American university.

UNC anchors one corner of the famed Research Triangle Park, which has played a vital role in nurturing the economic development of North Carolina.

RECENT RANKINGS

Several national publications published rankings in 2003-2004 that listed Carolina prominently in categories ranging from academic quality to affordability to diversity to public service to international presence. Highlights included:

THE CAROLINA COVENANT

Starting in fall 2004, the Carolina Covenant will enable low-income students to graduate debt-free by working in a federal work-study job instead of borrowing. Carolina will meet the rest of students' needs through a combination of public and private grants and scholarships.

This is the first program of its kind at a U.S. public university; several major public and private campuses – including Harvard and the universities of Virginia and Maryland — have since followed Carolina's lead to offer their own programs. The covenant underscores UNC's traditional commitment to access and excellence.

The initiative also has attracted generous private support from Tar Heel Basketball Coach Roy Williams and his family (wife Wanda and their children, Scott and Kimberly) and the Central Carolina Bank Foundation. Their generous gifts to the Carolina First campaign will help support future deserving students.

PRIVATE SUPPORT

The Carolina First Campaign, which supports the university's goal of becoming the nation's leading public university, has reached the $1.25 billion mark in gifts and pledges toward the total goal of $1.8 billion by 2007.

Reaching that goal is critical for the university to compete nationally for top faculty and students, invest in departments and programs and build and renovate facilities needed to educate 21st century students. The campaign focuses on five key areas: attracting and retaining the best faculty; educating students — tomorrow's leaders; enriching the UNC experience through strategic initiatives; improving the public's health and quality of life through research; and the campus and its master plan for the future. The eight-year campaign began July 1, 1999.

The impact of gifts already has been substantial: Carolina First already has created 120 new endowed professorships – more than half the total goal of 200 - and 430 new undergraduate scholarships and graduate fellowships toward a target of 1,000.

In fall 2000, Chancellor James Moeser pledged to the people of North Carolina that if they passed the higher education bond referendum the university would triple their investment with private funds. The people responded overwhelmingly, and successful completion of the Carolina First campaign will fulfill that pledge. The ultimate beneficiaries will be the people of North Carolina.

STUDENTS

Recent freshman classes at Carolina have set new standards of excellence as measured by the rigorous coursework students have taken in high school, as well as their grades and SAT scores. In 2003, the university's incoming freshmen continued that trend.

• In 2003-2004, six UNC students won distinguished national and international scholarships, making it one of the university's most successful years in recognition for outstanding undergraduates.

• Carolina joined Harvard and Stanford as the only schools with Rhodes, Luce, Truman and Goldwater winners. Having more than one Mellon winner at a campus is not unusual, but typically occurs just in the Ivy League. Overall, the university remained second only to Harvard in its number of Luce Scholars and second among public universities for Rhodes winners. UNC has had 14 Rhodes Scholars since 1980 and 37 since the program began in 1902.

• Carolina's incoming freshman class in 2004 will include 40 new Morehead Scholars: 20 of North Carolina's most dynamic young leaders, 19 from 17 states across the U.S. and one from Scotland. Among the largest and most competitive scholarships at U.S. colleges and universities, the Morehead Awards cover all expenses for four years of undergraduate study, including summer enrichment experiences. The program, now more than a half-century old, is modeled after the Rhodes Scholarships to Oxford University in England.

FACULTY

• UNC students learn from a 3,000-member faculty. Many of those faculty members hold or have held major posts in virtually every national scholarly or professional organization and have earned election to the most prestigious academic groups.

• Professor Oliver Smithies was a recipient of the 2001 Albert Lasker Award for Basic Medical Research, the nation's most distinguished honor for outstanding contributions to basic medical research.

• Dr. Aziz Sancar, Sarah Graham Kenan Professor of Biochemistry and Biophysics in the School of Medicine, recently was elected a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences in recognition of major contributions to his field.

• Carolina's most recent member of the prestigious National Academy of Science is Dr. Richard V. Wolfenden, Alumni Distinguished Professor of chemistry, biochemistry and physics. He studies enzyme mechanisms and water affinities of biological compounds. His work helped lead to the development of a category of drugs known as ACE inhibitors, used to treat hypertension.

• Associate Professor Deb Aikat from the School of Journalism and Mass Communication was named the Scripps Howard Foundation's National Journalism Awards "Journalism Teacher of the Year."

RESEARCH

Research funding has risen steadily at Carolina for more than two decades, making Chapel Hill one of the top U.S. public universities in research support. Faculty secured $537 million in research funds in 2003, ranking among the leaders in grants from the National Institutes of Health and the National Science Foundation.

Faculty discoveries have created 25 spin-off companies that are attracting new investments and creating jobs for North Carolinians. Examples of commercialization include therapeutic agents for Parkinson's Disease, technologies for drug delivery to treat cancer and respiratory diseases including cystic fibrosis, industrial applications for carbon nanotubes and gene therapy treatment for diseases like muscular dystrophy.

Carolina has committed at least $245 million over the next decade to the emerging field of genome sciences. The campuswide initiative, which represents public and private investments, will allow Carolina to be a driving force in determining how the genomics revolution will change the way we treat human diseases, design drugs and grow crops.

EDUCATIONAL AND CULTURAL RESOURCES

• From the Ackland Art Museum to the Morehead Planetarium and Science Center to the North Carolina Botanical Garden, Carolina offers a vast array of educational and cultural opportunities.

• Construction is nearing completion to house the Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History. Funded by private donations, the Stone Center will contain classrooms, seminar rooms, a gallery, dance studio and spaces for performances, lectures, meetings and offices. The center is among the nation's leading centers for research, teaching, learning and public service related to black history and culture. The new building is scheduled to be occupied in August 2004.

PUBLIC SERVICE

UNC's public service programs reach every region of North Carolina, helping communities protect public health, improve schools and medical services, stimulate business, plan for growth, understand cultural heritage, and enrich the quality of people's daily lives. Launched in 1999, the Carolina Center for Public Service coordinates and catalyzes campus outreach activities around the state.

THE RAMS CLUB

A COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE

At Carolina, there is a Commitment to being the best. Carolina is dedicated to doing things with integrity, with class and with a high level of success—the Carolina Way.

With sponsoring a broad-based program as one of its core values, Carolina Athletics carries its Commitment to excellence to many fields and courts. UNC has enjoyed enormous success in each of its 28 varsity sports, including 32 team national championships in 6 sports and 49 individual national championships in 9 sports. Carolina takes great pride in the achievements of its student athletes in all of its programs.

A COMMITMENT TO MEET THE CHALLENGE

The greatest challenge facing Carolina Athletics is to sustain the heart of the program—sponsoring a program that offers many deserving young men and women the opportunity to experience what it means to be a Tar Heel.

UNC currently funds the education of over 450 student athletes with some form of financial aid—funded exclusively through the Rams Club. The cost of doing so has risen dramatically in recent years. Your support is as vital as ever if Carolina hopes to continue to educate these outstanding student athletes.

A COMMITMENT TO CAROLINA

The members of the Rams Club have met such challenges before. Please show your support by making your own Commitment to Carolina.

The Rams Club manages one of the nation's first and largest endowment trusts in support of athletic scholarships. This scholarship endowment trust has provided a substantial foundation for funding scholarships, but in the face of climbing costs, the endowment cannot keep pace. The need for additional funding through the annual fund and additional scholarship endowments is critical to fill the "gap" between what the endowment yields and the actual costs of operating a 28-sport program.

If available

Members of the Rams Club make possible the incredible level of excellence enjoyed by Carolina Athletics. Through their gifts, Rams Club members provide the scholarship support for UNC's student athletes as well as funding for many other special projects and initiatives.

Carolina's broad-based athletics program — and the scholarship support for more than 450 student athletes in 28 varsity sports at a cost of $8 million in 2003–2004 — exists largely due to the generosity of Rams Club members. Since 1938, more than 7,000 student athletes have received assistance from the Rams Club.

Rams Club members continue to demonstrate their Commitment. Be a part of the Commitment to Carolina by supporting the Rams Club.

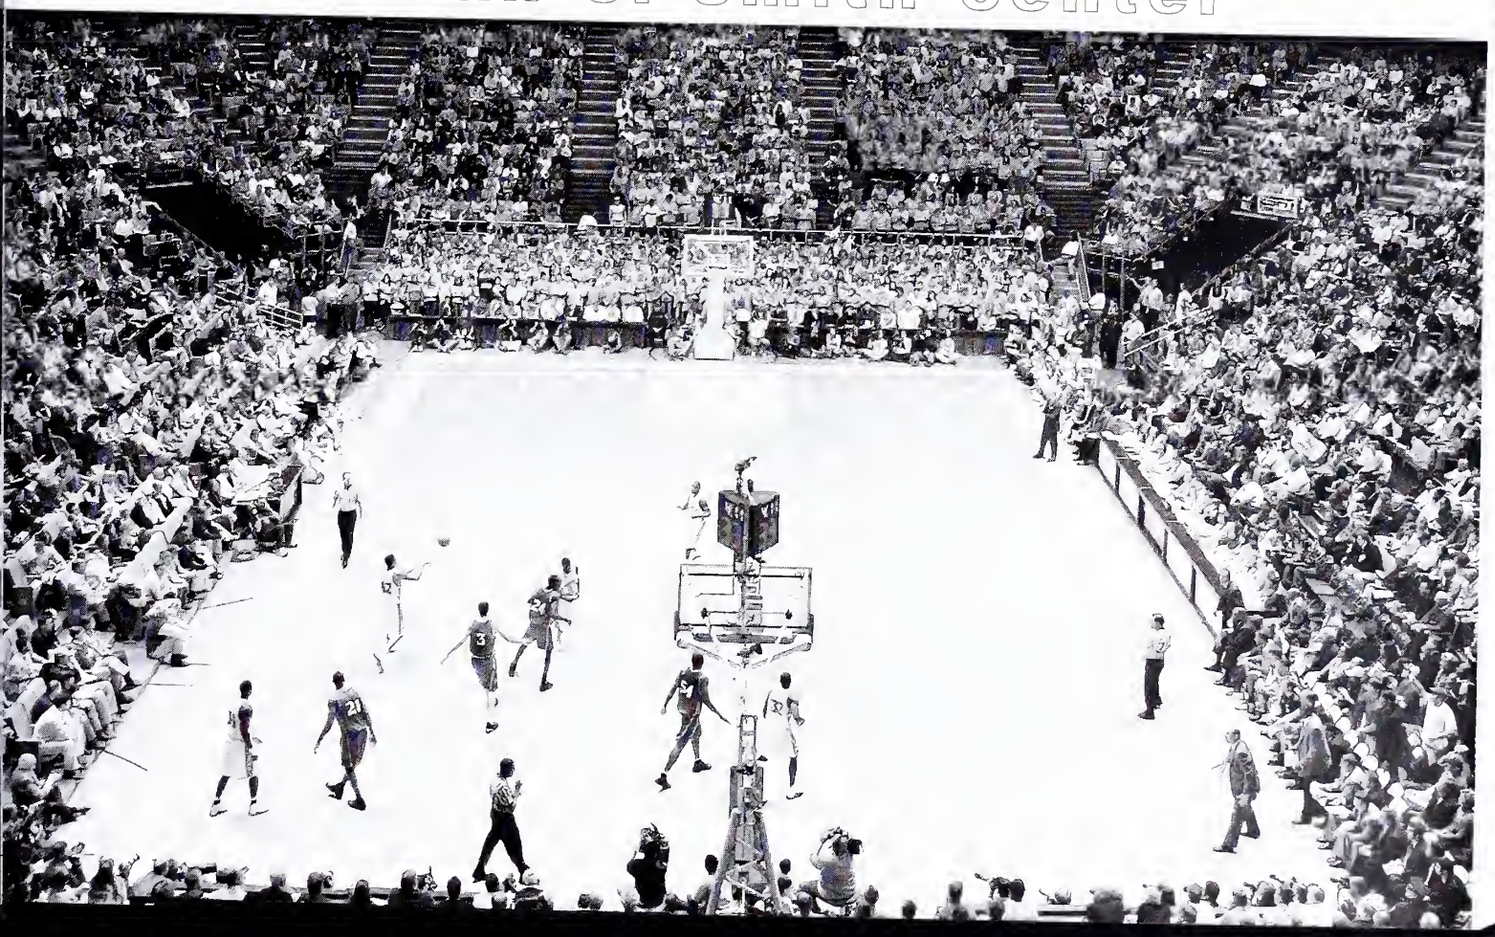
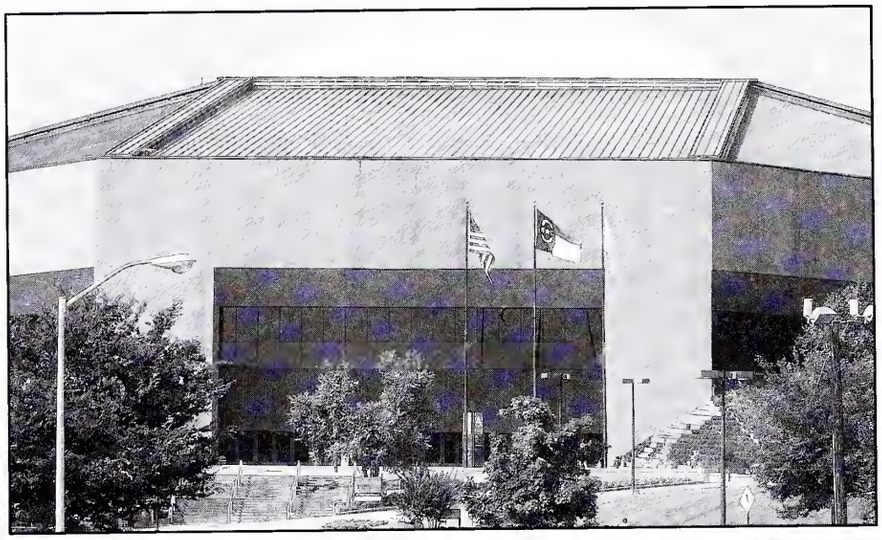
CAROLINA BASKETBALL 2004-05

the dean e. smith center





Carolina basketball is competing in the Dean E. Smith Center for the 20th season. The Tar Heels have played 250 games in the Smith Center in front of a combined audience of more than 5.0 million fans. Carolina has a 207-43 record in the Smith Center, a dominant winning percentage of .828.

Last year, Carolina's average attendance was the third-best in the nation. The Tar Heels have been in the top five in national attendance in 17 of the last 18 seasons.

The Smith Center recently underwent an extensive facelift that improved the behind-the-scenes training areas. The UNC locker room and weight room were completely renovated. A new media center was built and the Bowles Room and Educational Foundation offices were retrofitted to include a practice gym.

Prior to moving into the Smith Center, Carolina played its home games at Carmichael Auditorium. The Tar Heels were 169-20 at Carmichael. UNC debuted there on Dec. 4, 1965, against William and Mary, and finished play on Jan. 4, 1986, in a win over NC State.

In May 1980, the Department of Athletics, in conjunction with the Educational Foundation, embarked on a mission to raise millions of dollars from private donations to construct an arena. The real inspiration for the fund-raising effort came from the campaign chairman, the late Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles.

Six years, 2,362 donors and over $34 million later, the premiere basketball arena in America became a reality. Dedicated in September 1986 as the Dean Edwards Smith Center, the 300,000-square-foot structure stands on seven and one-half acres on the University's south campus. Over 20,000 cubic yards of rock were removed to make room for the 340-foot-wide, 380-foot-long and 140-foot-high building.

The first game featured No. 1 Carolina defeating No. 3 Duke, 95-92, in a battle of unbeatens on Jan. 18, 1986. The first Tar Heel basket was scored by Carolina center Warren Martin off a pass from Kenny Smith. Since that first game, the Smith Center has been the site of many memorable moments in Tar Heel history.

• On Jan. 27, 1993, UNC trailed Florida State by 21 points with 11:48 to play in the game, but rallied for an 82-77 win. George Lynch's steal and dunk gave Carolina the lead.

• On Feb. 3, 1994, No. 2 Carolina beat No. 1 Duke, 89-78, in the first-ever matchup between the great rivals in which the teams held the top two spots in the Associated Press poll.

• UNC and Duke repeated their No. 1 vs. No. 2 battle on Feb. 5, 1998, as the second-ranked Tar Heels routed the top-rated Blue Devils, 97-73. Antawn Jamison scored 35 points that evening, one of three occasions he netted at least 35 points in the Smith Center.

• On Feb. 8, 1992, UNC rallied from 22 points down to beat Wake Forest, the largest comeback in school history.

• On Jan. 31, 1996, the Tar Heels trailed Duke by 17 points in the first half, but won, 73-72, on a last-second tip-in by Dante Calabria.

• On Jan. 17, 2004, Rashad McCants' three-pointer with 6.2 seconds remaining gave Carolina an 86-83 win over No. 1-ranked Connecticut. McCants scored UNC's last 10 points of the game.

THE SMITH CENTER JERSEYS

One of the most prominent features in the Smith Center is the series of banners rewarding the accomplishments of Carolina players and teams, including NCAA championship banners for 1956-57, 1981-82 and 1992-93, respectively. Also hanging high above the playing floor are 40 replica jerseys honoring Carolina's greatest individual standouts. Seven of the jerseys are retired, including Jack Cobb, #10 Lennie Rosenbluth, #12 Phil Ford, #20 George Glamack, #23 Michael Jordan, #33 Antawn Jamison and #52 James Worthy.

The Smith Center's four video screens provide replays, stats and information, previews of upcoming games and highlights of past games.

In 2000-01, a special standing-room-only section reserved for students opened on the baseline closest to the Carolina bench. The Educational Foundation funded a $150,000 renovation that allowed approximately 400 students to move courtside.

As a multi-purpose facility, the Smith Center has played host to a wide range of athletic events and concerts. In 1987, U.S. Olympic Festival basketball attracted a Smith Center record crowd of 23,713 for the gold medal game. In 1988, the venue served as the site of the first and second rounds of the NCAA East Regional. In 1994, the Smith Center hosted the NCAA Division I Wrestling Championships, attracting a three-day total of over 60,000 fans.

In 1999, the Smith Center and Koury Natatorium served as the basketball and aquatic venues for the 1999 Special Olympics World Summer Games.

Kenny Rogers staged the first concert in the arena on April 12, 1986. Other entertainers to perform here include the Grateful Dead, Garth Brooks and James Taylor.

Adjacent to the Smith Center is the Maurice J. Koury Natatorium. The natatorium features an eight-lane, 50-meter pool.

The Smith Center and Koury Natatorium also host such community activities as the Chapel Hill High School Commencement, American Cancer Society Swim-for-Life, the Kenan-Flagler Business School Dedication, University Blood Drive, University Career Fairs and December and May Commencement Exercises. Thousands of school children visit the Smith Center annually.

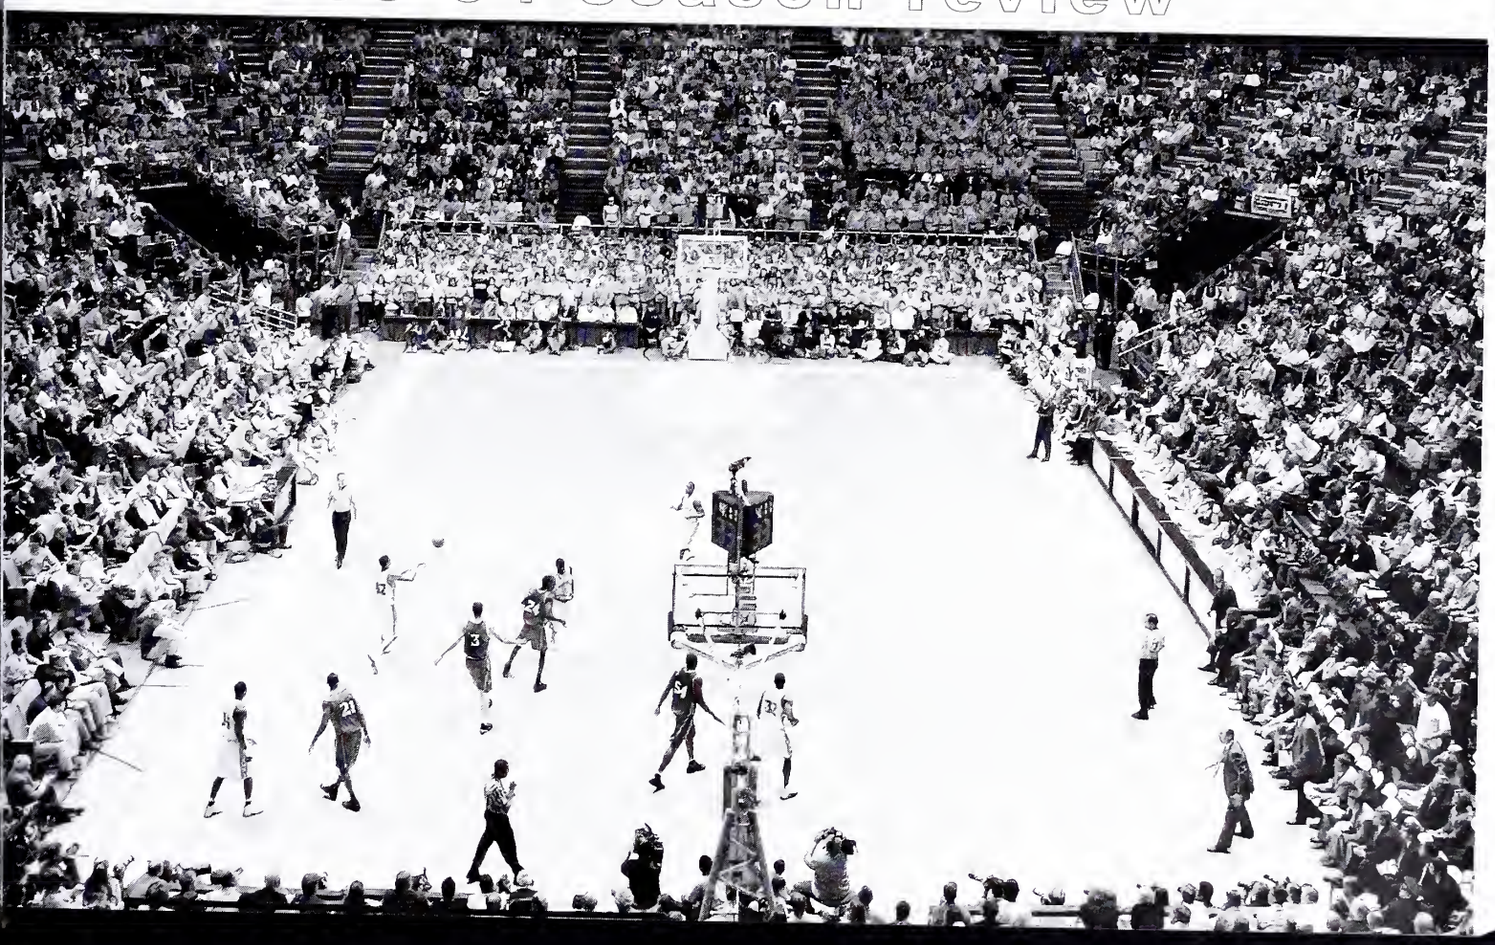
2003-04 season review



In 2003-04, North Carolina (19-11, 8-8 ACC) welcomed home Roy Williams as its head coach and returned to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in three seasons. The No. 6 seed Tar Heels reached the second round of the NCAA Tournament Atlanta Regional, beating Air Force before losing to No. 3 seed Texas at the Pepsi Center in Denver, Colo.

Carolina finished the season ranked No. 18 in the final Associated Press poll and No. 22 in the final ESPN/USA Today coaches poll. UNC had not finished in the final version of either poll since the 2000-01 season.

Carolina Earns 36th NCAA Tournament Bid

In 2003-04 Carolina played in the NCAA Tournament for the 36th time, tying for second in NCAA history for most appearances by a school. Kentucky's 45 appearances are the most, followed by Carolina and UCLA's 36.

Carolina is 82-36 all-time in the NCAA Tournament and has advanced to the Final Four an NCAA-record 15 times.

Williams Makes 15th Straight NCAA Tournament Appearance

Tar Heel head coach Roy Williams took his 15th consecutive team to the NCAA Tournament in 2003-04. The first 14 of those squads were at Kansas.

Williams' 15 straight NCAA appearances are the second-longest active streak in the nation, trailing only the 20 appearances in a row by Arizona's Lute Olson.

Williams has 35 all-time NCAA Tournament wins, ranking fifth among all active coaches for NCAA Tournament victories. His Tournament winning percentage of .700 ranks eighth among active coaches. Williams' NCAA Tournament record is 35-15.

He is 15-0 in NCAA first-round games and 9-6 in second-round games. Williams' 15 straight years with at least one NCAA Tournament win is the longest active streak by a coach in the nation.

McCants Named All-America by the Associated Press; May Honorable Mention

Sophomore guard Rashad McCants was named to the Associated Press All-America third team. Fellow Tar Heel sophomore Sean May garnered honorable mention All-America honors.

McCants, the leading vote-getter for the 2003-04 All-ACC team, is Carolina's first All-America since Joseph Forte was a consensus first-team honoree in 2000-01.

The AP first team included unanimous choices Jameer Nelson (Saint Joseph's) and Emeka Okafor (Connecticut), as well as Lawrence Roberts (Mississippi State), Josh Childress (Stanford) and Ryan Gomes (Providence).

McCants was one of three ACC players on the first three teams. NC State's Julius Hodge, the 2003-04 ACC Player of the Year, was named to the second team. Duke's Chris Duhon joined McCants on the third team.

McCants, May and Felton Named All-ACC

Sophomore Rashad McCants was the leading vote-getter for the 2003-04 All-ACC team, becoming the 15th Tar Heel to be named first-team All-ACC as a sophomore. McCants garnered more votes and more total points than any other conference player in the voting. Carolina players have been the leading vote-getter for All-ACC honors 21 times.

McCants finished third in the voting for ACC Player of the Year, awarded on March 17 to NC State's Julius Hodge.

McCants is the 62nd first-team selection for Carolina, most in ACC history. Duke is second with 52. McCants is Carolina's first first-team All-ACC player since Joseph Forte in 2000-01.

Joining McCants on the first team were: Julius Hodge (NC State), Tim Pickett (Florida State), Chris Duhon (Duke) and Justin Gray (Wake Forest).

Marketing Survey Finds Carolina Near the Top of Fan Favorites

A comprehensive study conducted by the Leisure Intelligence Group (LIG) and designed to profile the NCAA basketball landscape following the conference realignments of 2003 rates North Carolina among the top five basketball programs in America.

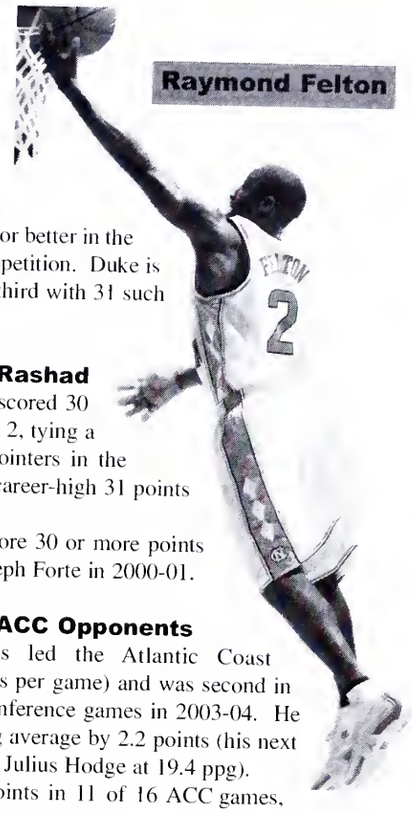
The study found that officially-licensed merchandise featuring Carolina is the best-selling school in the nation. LIG found that 8.0 percent of Americans who own college licensed products own UNC gear. Ohio State (6.9 percent), Notre Dame (6.8), Michigan (6.7) and Penn State (6.1) rounded out the top five.

Duke and Carolina were ranked the two most popular college basketball programs in the country.

Defensive Improvement for Tar Heels

After allowing its opponents to shoot 50 percent or better in 10 of 13 halves from Jan. 14-Feb. 5, Carolina held its foes to under 50 percent in 18 of the last 23 halves of the season. In 12 of those 18 halves, Tar Heel opponents shot under 45 percent.

Sean May



Raymond Felton

Another .500-or-Better ACC Season for Tar Heels

Carolina went 8-8 in the Atlantic Coast Conference in 2003-04. UNC has finished .500 or better in the ACC 47 times in 51 years of competition. Duke is second with 42 and Maryland is third with 31 such seasons.

Two 30-Point Games for Rashad

Sophomore Rashad McCants scored 30 points against Clemson on March 2, tying a school record with eight three-pointers in the process. McCants also scored a career-high 31 points at Georgia Tech on Feb. 10.

The last Tar Heel player to score 30 or more points twice in the same season was Joseph Forte in 2000-01.

McCants at His Best vs. ACC Opponents

Sophomore Rashad McCants led the Atlantic Coast Conference in scoring (21.6 points per game) and was second in field goal percentage (49.6) in conference games in 2003-04. He led the ACC in conference scoring average by 2.2 points (his next closest competitor was NC State's Julius Hodge at 19.4 ppg).

McCants scored 20 or more points in 11 of 16 ACC games, scoring 25 or more in eight of those contests.

Win Over NC State Extends Tar Heel Sweep Streak

With their win over NC State on Feb. 29, the Tar Heels completed a sweep of the season series with the Wolfpack. Carolina has now swept at least one series from a conference foe in all 51 years of Atlantic Coast Conference play.

McCants Scoring at a Torrid Pace

Rashad McCants has scored 1,193 career points through his first two seasons, placing him fifth in ACC history in scoring through sophomore seasons. Among Carolina players, only Joseph Forte (1,290 points) scored more points as a sophomore.

Close Games

Carolina was 19-11 this season and lost eight games by six points or less. UNC lost one game by double figures this season (an 88-77 loss at Georgia Tech on Feb. 10). In 2002-03, the Tar Heels lost 16 games, including seven by 10 or more points.

ACC Leaders

Rashad McCants, Sean May and Raymond Felton led the ACC in scoring, rebounding and assists, respectively. No team has ever had three different players lead the ACC in scoring, rebounds and assists.

The only time since 1973 (when assists became an official statistic) that a team had players lead in all three categories was 1997-98 (UNC — Antawn Jamison in scoring and rebounding and Ed Cota in assists).

Carolina Basketball Reunion

Carolina held a reunion for all lettermen on Feb. 21, 2004. The Tar Heels played host to Florida State in an ACC game that day. The players were honored at the game and attended a banquet that evening.

Over 220 former Tar Heel lettermen (approximately 160 players and 60 managers) attended the reunion.

McCants Ties Forte as Fastest to 1,000 Since Charles Scott

Rashad McCants scored a career-high 31 points at Georgia Tech on Feb. 10 to pass the 1,000-point plateau in his 56th career game.

McCants tied Joseph Forte as the fastest Tar Heel to reach 1,000 points since freshmen became eligible in 1972-73. The last UNC player to reach the 1,000-point club faster was Charles Scott (52 games) in 1968-69.

Carolina-Duke Named Nation's Top College Basketball Rivalry

Sports Illustrated on Campus named the Carolina-Duke rivalry the No. 1 "Hottest Rivalry" in college basketball and the No. 2 rivalry in all sports in its Nov. 18, 2003 issue.

Over 200 Smith Center Wins

The Tar Heels' 89-64 win over Miami on Jan. 7 was the program's 200th victory in the Dean Smith Center. Carolina has a 207-43 record in the Smith Center since the building opened in January 1986.

Felton Sets UNC Single-Game Assist Record

Raymond Felton set a UNC record with 18 assists vs. George Mason on Dec. 7. The old UNC record of 17 assists in a game was held by Jeff Lebo and Ed Cota.

Game 3

No. 9/10 North Carolina 82
Cleveland State 76

Nov. 29, 2003 • Cleveland, Ohio

In Jawad Williams' homecoming game before over 50 family and friends in Cleveland, Ohio, the Tar Heels played with poise down the stretch and overcame a poor shooting day on the way to an 82-76 win at Cleveland State.

Carolina shot just 41.9 percent from the floor and 18.2 percent from behind the three-point arc while missing 10 of 28 free throw attempts in the game.

Williams (24 points/11 rebounds), Sean May (19 points/13 rebounds) and Rashad McCants (18 points/13 rebounds) gave the Tar Heels three double-doubles in the same game for the first time in four seasons (since Feb. 12, 2000). May and McCants set career highs with their rebounding outputs. It was also just the second time since March 11, 2001, that three Tar Heels had double-digit rebounding games in the same contest.

McCants' nine offensive rebounds were the most by a Tar Heel since Brendan Haywood had nine against Missouri in the first round of teh 2000 NCAA Tournament.

Jackie Manuel suffered a sprained left knee after playing just seven first-half minutes and did not return.

No. 11/11 Illinois 81
No. 10/10 North Carolina 88

Dec. 2, 2003 • Greensboro, N.C.
ACC/Big Ten Challenge

Carolina got its first-ever win in the ACC/Big Ten Challenge on Dec. 2 in Greensboro when it defeated No. 11 Illinois, 88-81.

Sean May set career highs with 23 points and 14 rebounds and blocked an Illinois shot with about 90 seconds remaining to protect an 81-78 UNC lead.

Jawad Williams also had a double-double for UNC, finishing with 18 points and a career-high 12 rebounds. For the second straight game, Williams' biggest play may have been a tip out on a missed UNC free throw. Williams tipped a missed Rashad McCants free throw back to McCants to preserve possession with 46 seconds left and Carolina holding an 82-78 advantage.

McCants hit three three-pointers and finished with 20 points in the game.

Carolina guards Raymond Felton, Melvin Scott and Jackie Manuel held Illinois star Dee Brown to just 3 of 17 shooting (including 2 of 10 three-pointers) and eight points.

The Tar Heels made 22 of 28 free throws as a team while the Illini hit just 7 of 18 from the charity stripe.

Game 5

George Mason 81
No. 10/10 North Carolina 115

Dec. 7, 2003 • Chapel Hill

Carolina got a career-high 26 points from Sean May and 21 points apiece from Jawad Williams and Rashad McCants in a 115-81 win over George Mason in the Smith Center on Dec. 7. Raymond Felton set a UNC record with 18 assists in the game, besting the old record of 17 assists, held by Jeff Lebo and Ed Cota. Felton had just three turnovers in the contest.

The 115 points are the most Carolina has scored in a game since scoring 129 vs. VMI on Dec. 17, 1994.

The Patriots hit 8 of 15 first-half three-pointers and led, 49-47, at the break. The Tar Heels outscored GMU, 68-32, in the second half, hitting 64.9 percent of their second-half field goal attempts and 60.9 percent for the game. Carolina has topped 60 percent shooting twice this season (60.7 percent vs. Old Dominion). Prior to this season, UNC hadn't shot 60 percent since Jan. 8, 2000.

Reyshawn Terry had his first career double-figure scoring game vs. GMU with 10 points. Basketball walk-on and football wide receiver Jesse Holley made his hardwod debut, scoring four points in three minutes of action.

Game 6

Akron 53
No. 7/8 North Carolina 64

Dec. 14, 2003 • Chapel Hill

Carolina got a Smith-Center record 21 rebounds from Sean May and defeated Akron, 64-53, despite shooting poorly in a brief respite from final exams for the Tar Heels.

UNC won despite shooting just 30.4 percent from the field for the game and 23.5 percent in the second half. The Tar Heels also turned the ball over 14 times and hit just 4 of 21 three-point attempts but did out-rebound the Zips, 53-40.

May's 21 boards were a career high and, combined with his 10 points, gave him his third double-double of the season. It was the first time a Tar Heel has had 20 rebounds in a game since Serge Swikker had 20 vs. Southern California on Dec. 6, 1996.

Rashad McCants (14 points) led all scorers, while Jawad Williams (13) and Raymond Felton (12) also hit double-figures for Carolina.

Game 7

No. 14/9 Wake Forest 119
No. 4/4 North Carolina 114 (3 OT)

Dec. 20, 2003 • Chapel Hill

On Dec. 20 in the Smith Center, Wake Forest outlasted Carolina, 119-114 in three overtimes in what was one of the most memorable games in ACC history.

The Demon Deacons' 119 points are the most ever allowed by the Tar Heels. The previous record was 112 at Maryland on Jan. 9, 2002.

It was the first time in Carolina history that the Tar Heels lost a game in which they scored at least 100 points. The previous high was 97 to West Virginia on Dec. 31, 1965.

The three-overtime game was the longest for Carolina since a three-overtime win over Tulane in Carmichael Auditorium on Nov. 30, 1982 (UNC 70, Tulane 68). It is the fifth three-overtime game in Tar Heel history (not counting a four-overtime game against Tulane in 1976). UNC is 3-2 in those games. It was the first time in Smith Center history that UNC played a multiple-overtime game.

The 233 total points are the most ever by both teams in a Carolina game and equal the second-most by both teams in ACC history.

Raymond Felton had 22 points and 13 assists for his first double-double of the year and fifth of his career.

Rashad McCants had 25 points, eight rebounds and four steals. Sean May had 15 points and 11 rebounds for his fourth double-double of the year.

Carolina had six players in double figures in points for the first time since beating Massachusetts on Dec. 29, 2000, in Charlotte.

Jan. 11, 2004 • Chapel Hill

Raymond Felton finished with 25 points, nine assists and seven rebounds and Sean May had a career-high 28 points and eight boards as Carolina defeated No. 8 Georgia Tech, 103-88 on Dec. 11 in the Smith Center.

The Tar Heels also got 17 points from Rashad McCants and 12 from Jackie Manuel. Jarrett Jack led the Yellow Jackets with 22 points, seven assists and seven turnovers.

UNC forced 24 Tech turnovers on the night, including 16 in the first half as the Tar Heels jumped out to a double-digit lead.

Jawad Williams was limited to 13 minutes of action after suffering a blow to the head that led to a bloody nose and headache.

Jawad Williams had 18 points, hitting 3 of 4 three-pointers, for his best game since suffering the first of a series of injuries on Dec. 28 vs. UNC Wilmington.

Melvin Scott and Raymond Felton combined for 14 assists and three turnovers in the game.

Game 22

Maryland 86
No. 14/17 North Carolina 97

Feb. 15, 2004 • Chapel Hill

Carolina scored a season-high 55 points in the first half and led by 20 at intermission but had to struggle to hold on and defeat Maryland, 97-86, on Feb. 15 in Chapel Hill.

The Tar Heels scored 55 points and Maryland shot just 30.0 percent in the first half.

The second half was another story, however, as Carolina committed 12 of its season-high-tying 22 turnovers after halftime. The Tar Heel lead shrank to as little as three points with 4:52 to play, but Rashad McCants' two late three-pointers helped ice the victory.

McCants led all scorers with 25 points, reaching 25 points for the seventh time in the last nine games. Jawad Williams scored 23 points (hitting 13 of 16 free throws), his first 20-point game since Dec. 7 vs. George Mason.

Sean May had 14 points and 12 rebounds for his 10th double-double of the season. Jackie Manuel also scored 14 for the Tar Heels, while Melvin Scott added 13. Raymond Felton scored just three points and did not hit a field goal for the first time in his career. He also turned it over seven times. Carolina hit 36 of 50 free throw attempts, attempting 50 FTs for the first time in a game since Dec. 17, 1998.

Clemson 53
No. 14/16 North Carolina 69

March 2, 2004 • Chapel Hill

Rashad McCants scored 30 points and tied a school record by hitting eight three-pointers as Carolina beat Clemson in its last home game of the season. The contest marked the final Smith Center appearances of senior walk-ons Phillip McLamb, Jonathan Miller and Damien Price and senior head manager Eric Hoots.

With the win, UNC improved to 50-0 all-time in Chapel Hill vs. the Tigers. McCants hit eight of 13 three-pointers (including 8 of his first 10 attempts) to tie a school record for single-game three-pointers made. Sean May had 17 points and seven rebounds as the only other Carolina player to reach double-figures.

Carolina shot just 35.7 percent in the first half, but held the Tigers to 30.4 percent and 18 first-half points (tying the season low by a UNC opponent in 2003-04). UNC forced 23 Tiger turnovers. Jackie Manuel was in uniform but did not play, missing his second consecutive game after spraining an ankle in practice on Feb. 27.

No. 14/16 North Carolina 65
No. 3/3 Duke 70

March 6, 2004 • Durham, N.C.

Luol Deng scored 25 points to lead Duke past Carolina, 70-65, on March 6 in the final game of the regular season for both teams. The win was Duke's 14th in the last 16 games against the Tar Heels.

Rashad McCants led Carolina with 20 points. Sean May added 14 points and 15 rebounds and David Noel had 12 points and several clutch, late-game free throws.

Carolina was hindered by a limited Raymond Felton, who suffered a bruise right hip with 5:57 remaining in the first half. Felton played 29 minutes, but the injury helped limit him to four points, three assists and six turnovers in the game. Carolina had a 43-31 rebounding edge in the game, including a 20-9 advantage in offensive boards. The Tar Heels shot just 36.9 percent, however, and committed 16 turnovers to Duke's 12.

The game cemented the ACC regular-season championship for Duke and gave the Tar Heels the fifth seed in the 2004 ACC Tournament.

CAROLINA BASKETBALL 2004-05

ACC CHAMPIONSHIPS

Carolina has won or shared 23 regular-season Atlantic Coast Conference championships and 15 ACC Tournament titles. Both figures are more than any other school in the league. Duke is second with 16 regular-season and 14 tournament championships. The Tar Heels last won the regular-season crown in 2001 and the tournament in 1998.

ACC 50

The ACC sponsored an official 50th anniversary team, selected by a panel of more than 100 media and school administrators.

The Tar Heels placed 12 on the men's basketball team, more than any other school. Carolina's ACC 50 honorees include: Lennie Rosenbluth, Billy Cunningham, Larry Miller, Charles Scott, Bobby Jones, Walter Davis, Phil Ford, James Worthy, Sam Perkins, Michael Jordan, Brad Daugherty and Antawn Jamison.

Overall, UNC had 276 selections to various ACC 50 teams, the highest figure among all ACC institutions.

ACC PLAYERS OF THE YEAR

Ten different Tar Heels have been named Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year, including Larry Miller, who won the award in 1967 and 1968. Joseph Forte was named co-winner in 2001 along with Duke's Shane Battier. That was the only time in the 50-year history of the ACC that two players shared top billing. The teams tied for the regular-season championship and each team won on the other's home court.

Other Tar Heels to be named ACC Player of the Year are: Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Pete Brennan (1958), Lee Shaffer (1960), Billy Cunningham (1965), Mitch Kupchak (1976), Phil Ford (1978), Michael Jordan (1984) and Antawn Jamison (1998).

ACC TOURNAMENT

The crown jewel of college basketball outside the NCAA Final Four is the ACC Tournament. The four-day event has traditionally been one of the toughest tickets in sports. Most of the schools do not have public sale of tickets. This year's tournament is March 10-13 at the MCI Center in Washington, D.C.

Carolina has won the event a record 15 times. Frank McGuire led UNC to the 1957 title, Dean Smith's teams won in 1967, 1968, 1969, 1972, 1975, 1977, 1979, 1981, 1982, 1989, 1991, 1994 and 1997, and Bill Guthridge led UNC to the winner's circle in 1998.

Smith won 13 ACC Tournament titles. That is five more than Duke's Mike Krzyzewski, who is second with eight titles.

UNC has won 75 ACC Tournament games, more than any other school in the league. Not only has UNC won a record 15 titles, the Tar Heels have played in the championship game 27 times in 50 years.

ACC TOURNAMENT MVP

Carolina players have won the ACC Tournament Most Valuable Player Award, once known as the Everett Case Award, an unprecedented 16 times. UNC's MVPs include: Lennie Rosenbluth in 1957, Larry Miller in 1967 and 1968, Charles Scott in 1969, Lee Dedmon in 1971, Robert McAdoo in 1972, Phil Ford in 1975, John Kuester in 1977, Dudley Bradley in 1979, Sam Perkins in 1981, James Worthy in 1982, J.R. Reid in 1989, Rick Fox in 1991, Jerry Stackhouse in 1994, Shammond Williams in 1997 and Antawn Jamison in 1998. Dedmon shared the award with South Carolina's John Roche.

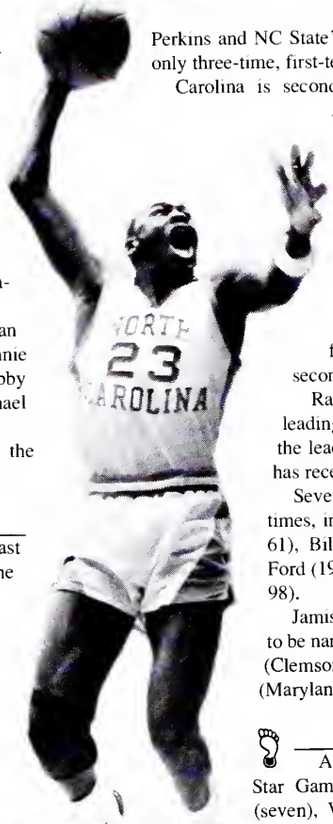
Carolina's Ford, Perkins and Stackhouse and Duke's Jason Williams and J.J. Redick are the only freshmen in league history to win MVP honors. Miller and NC State's Tommy Burleson are the only players to earn the award in consecutive seasons.

ALL-AMERICAS

Forty-five Tar Heels have earned All-America honors, including 31 first-team honorees. Carolina's first All-America was Cartwright Carmichael, who was named in 1923 and 1924. The most recent first-team selection was Joseph Forte, who earned consensus honors in 2001. Rashad McCants and Sean May were second- and third-team selections in 2003-04.

Phil Ford (1976-78), Mike O'Koren (1978-80) and Sam Perkins (1982-84) earned first-team All-America honors on three occasions. Ford, O'Koren and Perkins and NC State's David Thompson and Virginia's Ralph Sampson are the only three-time, first-team All-Americas in ACC history.

Carolina is second in NCAA history with 13 consensus first-team All-Americas. Those 13 include: George Glamack (1940 and 1941), Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Larry Miller (1968), Robert McAdoo (1972), Phil Ford (1977 and 1978), James Worthy (1982), Michael Jordan (1983 and 1984), Sam Perkins (1983 and 1984), Kenny Smith (1987), J.R. Reid (1988), Jerry Stackhouse (1995), Antawn Jamison (1998) and Joseph Forte (2001).



Michael Jordan

ALL-ACC

Carolina has placed 62 players on the All-ACC first team. That figure is the highest in ACC history. Duke is second with 52 first-team selections.

Rashad McCants earned first-team honors in 2003-04 after leading the conference in scoring with 20.0 points a game. He was the leading vote-getter on the first team, the 19th time a Tar Heel has received the most first-team votes.

Seven Tar Heels have earned first-team All-ACC honors three times, including Lennie Rosenbluth (1956-58), York Larese (1959-61), Billy Cunningham (1963-65), Charles Scott (1968-70), Phil Ford (1976-78), Sam Perkins (1982-84) and Antawn Jamison (1996-98).

Jamison is the only Tar Heel, and one of only five ACC players, to be named to the first team as a freshman. The others are Skip Wise (Clemson, 1975), Kenny Anderson (Georgia Tech, 1990), Joe Smith (Maryland, 1994) and Stephon Marbury (Georgia Tech, 1996).

ALL-STARS

A dozen former Carolina players have played in the NBA All-Star Game. Michael Jordan made 15 appearances. James Worthy (seven), Walter Davis (six), Bob McAdoo (five), Brad Daugherty (five), Billy Cunningham (four), Bobby Jones (four), Charles Scott (three), Vince Carter (three), Jerry Stackhouse (two), Rasheed Wallace (two) and Lee Shaffer (one) also played in the NBA's showcase game.

ALMA MATER

"Hark the Sound of Tar Heel Voices" is the oldest song of the University. It is based on the song "Amici" and was adapted in 1897. The chorus, "I'm a Tar Heel Bred," was added in the 1930s.

"Hark the sound of Tar Heel voices
Ringing clear and true,
Singing Carolina's praises, Shouting 'NCU.'
(chorus)
Hail to the brightest star of all!
Clear its radiance shine
Carolina. Priceless gem,
Receive all praises thine.
For I'm a Tar Heel born, I'm a Tar Heel bred
And when I die I'm a Tar Heel dead.
So it's – Rah, Rah, Carolina-lina
Rah, Rah, Carolina-lina
Rah, Rah, Carolina!

ATTENDANCE

North Carolina was third in the nation in average attendance last year with 20,801 fans per game. That figure was No. 1 in the ACC.

In the 19 seasons the Tar Heels have played at the Smith Center, 5,018,183 fans have come through the turnstiles. That is an average of 20,073 fans at the 250 UNC home games.

The 5 millionth fan came through the turnstiles for the Clemson game on March 2, 2004.

BIG GAME JAMES

Before James Worthy teamed with Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Magic Johnson to win three NBA championships, he was the Most Outstanding Player of the 1982 NCAA Final Four. Everyone remembers Michael Jordan's game-winning shot, but Worthy scored 28 points in the title game win over Georgetown. Worthy was the Helms Foundation's National Player of the Year in 1982.

Worthy was nicknamed "Big Game" James for his ability to play his best basketball in the most important games, especially in the NBA Playoffs. He had 36 points, 16 rebounds and 10 assists in Game 7 of the 1988 NBA Finals and was named Finals MVP.

The Gastonia, N.C., native was named one of the NBA's 50 Greatest Players and was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame on September 5, 2003. His college coach, Dean Smith, presented James into the Hall of Fame.

BLIND BOMBER

George Glamack, an All-America in 1940 and 1941, was nicknamed the Blind Bomber because of his poor eyesight and remarkably accurate hook shot. Glamack actually shot the ball based on the painted lines on the floor. He scored 45 points against Clemson in 1941, still the fourth-highest total in Carolina history.

BROADCASTERS

Carolina's men's basketball players deal with the media so often, it's no wonder they become comfortable in front of the camera and on the airwaves. Brad Daugherty, Kenny Smith, Phil Ford, James Worthy, Walter Davis, Mike O'Koren, Bones McKinney, Billy Cunningham and Eddie Fogler are among the Tar Heels who followed long professional basketball careers with broadcasting stints.

Daugherty established himself as one of the top college analysts for ESPN. Smith teams with Charles Barkley as co-hosts of a popular NBA show on Turner Sports. Worthy was color analyst alongside Dick Enberg for CBS when the Tar Heels won the 2000 NCAA South Regional.

BYNUM GYMNASIUM

The first gymnasium in which Carolina played intercollegiate basketball was Bynum Gym, located near what is now Peabody Hall. UNC played in Bynum from 1911 to 1924. The gym was named after William P. Bynum Jr., a former UNC student who died of typhoid after his sophomore year. His grandfather, state Supreme Court justice William P. Bynum of Charlotte, had donated $25,000 for construction of the facility. An interesting feature of the gym was the second floor running track that hung over the playing surface.

Bynum Hall now houses several University offices.

CARMICHAEL AUDITORIUM

The Tar Heels posted a 169-20 record in Carmichael Auditorium, one of the most famous arenas in college basketball history. UNC played its first game in Carmichael against William and Mary on December 4, 1965, and its last game there on January 4, 1986, versus NC State.

The arena was named after William D. Carmichael Jr., Carolina's comptroller and vice-president of the UNC system. When first built, it held 8,800 individual chair back seats. Today, it has a seating capacity of 10,000 and is home to UNC's volleyball, women's basketball, wrestling and gymnastics programs.

CAROLINA BLUE

Subject of much debate, the officially licensed color that is known as Carolina Blue is PMS 278. Sometimes referred to as Columbia Blue or sky blue, there is no doubt that the light blue hue is one of the most popular and instantly recognized colors in all of sports.

CAROLINA-DUKE RIVALRY

Voted the best college basketball rivalry in the 20th century by the National Association of Basketball Coaches and the best current college basketball series by Sports Illustrated on Campus, the Tar Heels lead the series, 123-94. The teams have combined for seven national championships, 29 of the 50 ACC Tournament titles, 29 Final Fours and 160 NCAA Tournament victories.

At least one of the two schools has been ranked in the Associated Press national poll in each of the last 118 meetings. The last time Carolina and Duke met when neither team were ranked by the Associated Press was on Feb. 27, 1960.

CHAPEL HILL

Sports Illustrated named Chapel Hill America's finest college town, saying it is "the purest example we could find of a college town defined by a university – and a good university."

COACH OF THE YEAR

Roy Williams has won national coach of the year honors in four different seasons. Each of UNC's previous four coaches also won national coaching honors while directing the Tar Heels. Frank McGuire won in 1957, Dean Smith won in 1977, 1979, 1982 and 1993, Bill Guthridge was a recipient in 1998, and Matt Doherty won in 2001. McGuire, Smith and Guthridge also earned ACC Coach of the Year honors. Smith was the ACC recipient a record eight times.

MATT DOHERTY

The East Meadow, N.Y., native was only the second former Tar Heel to be the head coach at the University of North Carolina. He led Carolina to a 53-43 record from 2001-03.

When Carolina went 13-3 in the league in 2000-01, he became the only coach in ACC history to win the regular-season championship in his first year.

Doherty and Bobby Cremins are also the only men in league history to play for and coach the No. 1 ranked team in the nation.

THE DONALD

No, not Trump, Williams. As in Donald Williams, the smooth-shooting, soft-spoken three-point artist who shot the Tar Heels to the 1993 NCAA championship. The Garner, N.C., native scored 25 points against Kansas in the national semifinal and another 25 against Michigan in the championship game and was named the Final Four's Most Outstanding Player.

Williams hit 10 of 14 from three-point range in the Final Four, the best three-point accuracy in Final Four history.

DOUBLE-DOUBLES

Billy Cunningham holds the Carolina record for double-doubles with 60 career and 22 in a single-season (22 out of 24 games in 1963-64).

Antawn Jamison finished his brilliant career with double-doubles in each of his last six games, a span that included the ACC Tournament championship game win vs. Duke and all five games in the 1998 NCAA Tournament.

George Lynch had double-doubles in the last four wins in the 1993 NCAA Tournament. He had 23 points and 10 rebounds against Arkansas in the Sweet 16, 21 and 14 vs. Cincinnati in the Final 8, 14 and 10 against Kansas in the Final 4 and 12 and 10 vs. Michigan in the national championship game.

Five current Tar Heels have double-doubles, led by junior center/forward Sean May, who has 15, the most of any returning player in the ACC. May had three as a freshmen and 12 last year. Point guard Raymond Felton has seven career double-doubles, Jawad Williams has six, Rashad McCants has three and David Noel has two.

DRAFT DAY

Carolina has had 85 players selected in the NBA Draft, including 31 players taken in the first round. The Tar Heels have had 12 players drafted in the first round in the last 16 years. Brendan Haywood and Joseph Forte were selected in the first round in 2000-01. That was the seventh time UNC had two different players selected in the first round in the same year.

James Worthy and Brad Daugherty were selected No. 1 in the overall draft. Worthy was selected in 1982 by the Lakers; Daugherty was taken No. 1 by Cleveland in 1986.

Michael Jordan was the third player selected in the 1984 Draft behind Hakeem Olajuwon (Houston) and Sam Bowie (Portland).

WOODY DURHAM

Since 1971, Woody Durham has been the Voice of the Tar Heels, handling play-by-play radio duties for Carolina basketball and football. Durham has been named the North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year 11 times. In 2002 he received the Skeeter Francis Award for Distinguished Service by the Atlantic Coast Sports Media Association.

The 1963 UNC graduate grew up in Albemarle, N.C. His son, Wes, is the play-by-play voice of Georgia Tech football and basketball and the Atlanta Falcons.

Durham is partnered with Mick Mixon, who is in his 16th year with the Tar Heel Sports Network. Mixon was named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year in 1999.

1,800 WINS

The Tar Heels have won 1,827 basketball games, the second-most in NCAA history. Carolina, Kentucky (1,876) and Kansas (1,825) are the only programs in the country with at least 1,800 wins.

EARLY ENTRIES

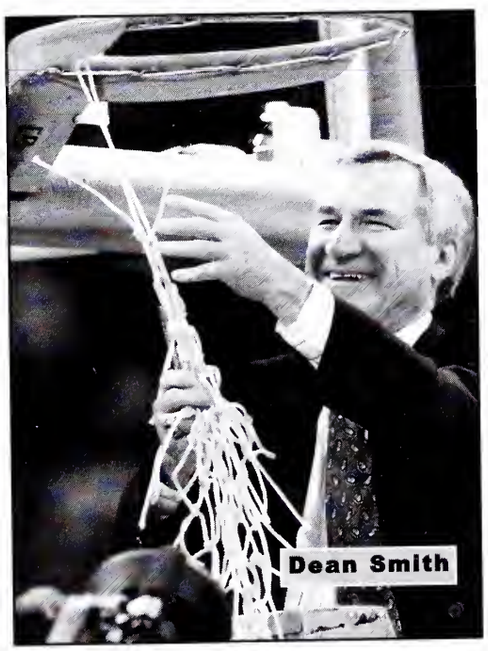
When Joseph Forte entered the NBA Draft in 2001 after his sophomore season, he became the 10th Tar Heel to leave school early for the NBA. Robert McAdoo was the first to do so, after his junior year in 1972. He was the second player selected in the draft and was an NBA Most Valuable Player with the Buffalo Braves.

The others include juniors James Worthy, Michael Jordan, J.R. Reid, Jeff McInnis, Vince Carter and Antawn Jamison and sophomores Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace.

ELITE EIGHT

Carolina has advanced to the NCAA regional final on 20 occasions. The Tar Heels are 15-5 in those games, advancing to the Final Four a record 15 times. Carolina has won each of its last six games in the Elite Eight, advancing to the Final Four in 1991, 1993, 1995, 1997, 1998 and 2000. The last time UNC made it to the brink of the Final Four but lost was in 1988.

Only one other school (Kentucky, 30) has advanced to the Final 8 more often than Carolina.



Dean Smith

FIELD GOAL PERCENTAGE

Carolina's unselfish play and willingness to get the best shot possible is exemplified by the fact that the Tar Heels have led the ACC in individual field goal percentage 15 times, more than any other school in the league (Duke is second with 13). In fact, Carolina players have five of the 10 best career field goal percentages in ACC history.

Brendan Haywood holds the ACC career record at 63.7 percent. Rasheed Wallace (2nd), Brad Daugherty (4th), Bobby Jones (8th) and J.R. Reid (10th) are also among the top 10. Ten of the 25 all-time best field goal shooters in ACC history are Tar Heels.

Carolina has led the ACC in team field goal percentage 24 times and led the nation in 1966, 1972, 1973 and 1998.

The last two NBA players to score 50 points in consecutive games are former Tar Heels Michael Jordan and Antawn Jamison. Jordan did it in 1986-87 and Jamison accomplished the feat in 2000-01.

FINAL FOUR

Carolina has played in 15 Final Fours, more than any other school in the nation. The Tar Heels played in the Final Four in 1946, 1957, 1967, 1968, 1969, 1972, 1977, 1981, 1982, 1991, 1993, 1995, 1997, 1998 and 2000. The Tar Heels won the NCAA title in 1957, 1982 and 1993.

Rusty Clark (1967-69), Bill Bunting (1967-69) and Ed Cota (1997-98, 2000) are the only Tar Heels to start in three different Final Fours. Carolina holds the NCAA record for most players who have played in a Final Four with 121. UNC has played in the Final Four in 10 different cities and in seven different decades.

FIRST-GAME STARTERS

Twenty Carolina players have started as freshmen in their first college game since first-year players became eligible to play in 1972-73.

Those 20 players include Phil Ford, Mike O'Koren, James Worthy, Michael Jordan, Kenny Smith, J.R. Reid, Pete Chilcutt, Rick Fox, Vince Carter, Antawn Jamison, Ed Cota, Brendan Haywood, Jason Capel, Kris Lang, Joseph Forte, Adam Boone, Jawad Williams, Raymond Felton, Sean May and Rashad McCants.

When Felton, McCants and May started the 2002-03 season opener against Penn State, it marked the first time in UNC history the Tar Heels started three freshmen in a game.

Later in the season, Carolina started four freshmen against Iona – Felton, McCants, May and David Noel.

500 ACC WINS

The Tar Heels have won 511 regular-season ACC games, more than any other school in league history. Duke is second with 463 wins. No other ACC school is even close to 400 ACC wins.

PHIL FORD

Arguably the greatest point guard in college basketball history, the Rocky Mount, N.C., native is Carolina's all-time leading scorer with 2,290 points.

Ford perfected the Four Corners, was MVP of the ACC Tournament as a freshman for leading UNC past David Thompson and NC State, and won the Wooden Award as the National Player of the Year in 1978. Ford was an NBA Rookie of the Year and was an assistant coach with the Tar Heels for 12 years. Ford led the USA to the gold medal in the 1976 Olympics in Montreal, dishing out 12 assists in the gold medal game.

Ford is in his first year as an assistant coach with the NBA champion Detroit Pistons.

FOUR CORNERS

One of the most famous and feared offensive sets in college basketball history was the Four Corners, a system Dean Smith first used in 1965-66 with Larry Miller and Bob Lewis handling the ball and later perfected by point guard Phil Ford. Smith was not the first coach to spread the floor, but his unique signature to the offense was to put the team's best ballhandler in the middle of the floor with four teammates around him in the corners of the court.

FRANKLIN STREET

The most famous street in Chapel Hill, one of the greatest college towns in America, is Franklin Street. Known for its restaurants, shops and nightlife, Franklin Street borders the northern edge of the UNC campus.

FRESHMEN

Carolina has had nine players named to the ACC All-Freshman Team since its inception in 1992-93. Current Tar Heels Raymond Felton and Rashad McCants were selected in 2002-03, joining Jerry Stackhouse, Rasheed Wallace, Antawn Jamison, Ed Cota, Kris Lang, Joseph Forte and Jawad Williams as All-ACC Freshman selections.

Five Carolina players have been named ACC Rookie of the Year, including Sam Perkins (1981), Michael Jordan (1982), J.R. Reid (1987), Cota (1997) and Forte (2000).

UNC is the only school to have three freshmen win ACC Tournament MVP honors. Phil Ford (1975), Perkins and Stackhouse accomplished the feat.

BILL GUTHRIDGE

The Parsons, Kan., native was the consensus National Coach of the Year and ACC Coach of the Year in 1998 when he led the Tar Heels to a 34-4 record, an ACC championship and Final Four appearance.

Guthridge spent 30 years as an assistant to Dean Smith and was UNC's head coach from 1998-2000. In those three years, UNC went 80-28 and played in the 1998 and 2000 Final Fours. He joined Fred Taylor of Ohio State as the only men to coach in Final Fours in two of his first three seasons as a head coach.

Guthridge set NCAA records for wins as a first year (34) and second year coach (58) and tied the NCAA record for wins after three years (80).

He is currently a consultant to the UNC Athletic Department.

HALL OF FAMERS

Former NCAA Final Four MVP and NBA Finals Most Valuable Player James Worthy was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., on September 5, 2003. Worthy's induction marked the second straight year in which a Tar Heel was inducted into the Hall of Fame. Larry Brown was inducted in 2002, joining coaches Ben Carnevale, Frank McGuire and Dean Smith and players Billy Cunningham and Robert McAdoo.

HONORED JERSEYS

Rising high above the Smith Center floor are the names and uniform numbers of 40 Tar Heel players who performed with great distinction. Seven of the jersey numbers are retired and 33 of them are honored. Those 33 numbers may be worn by future Tar Heels. A player qualifies to have his number honored if he meets any of the following criteria: ACC Player of the Year; selected by the coaches as MVP of a NCAA championship team; member of a gold medal Olympic team; or a first- or second-team All-America selection.

RETIRED JERSEYS

Seven Tar Heels have had their jerseys retired by the University, including Jack Cobb (no number), Lennie Rosenbluth (#10), Phil Ford (#12), George Glamack (#20), Michael Jordan (#23), Antawn Jamison (#33) and James Worthy (#52).

Today, a player must be the consensus National Player of the Year to have his jersey retired. That is policy established by the University's Athletics Council.

MICHAEL JORDAN

ESPN's SportsCentury named him the Greatest Athlete of the 20th Century. He is an NCAA champion, two-time Olympic gold medalist, six-time NBA Finals MVP, five-time NBA Most Valuable Player, 10-time NBA scoring champion and first-team All-NBA selection and six-time NBA champion.

He hit the game-winning shot in the 1982 NCAA championship game against Georgetown, was the consensus National Player of the Year in 1984 and averaged 17.7 points and 5.0 rebounds per game as a Tar Heel (he played before the shot clock and with the three-point shot in just one of his three collegiate seasons).

Jordan led the ACC in scoring as a junior and averaged 20.0 points a game as a sophomore.

KANGAROO KID

Billy Cunningham is Carolina's all-time leading rebounder at 15.4 per game and has the second-highest scoring average at 24.8 points per game. The Brooklyn, N.Y., native was nicknamed "The Kangaroo Kid" for his leaping ability. He had 10 or more rebounds 61 times in 69 games.

Cunningham went on to win an NBA championship as a player (1967) and head coach with the Philadelphia 76ers (1983). He was named one of the NBA's 50 Greatest Players and is enshrined in the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

KANSAS

Carolina basketball has a number of ties to the state of Kansas and the Kansas Jayhawk basketball program. Dean Smith was born in Emporia, grew up in Topeka and was a member of the KU basketball team that won the 1952 NCAA championship. Bill Guthridge is a native of Parsons and played basketball and coached at Kansas State. Carolina beat Kansas, led by Wilt Chamberlain, in triple overtime to win the 1957 NCAA title. Dick Harp, who coached that KU team in 1957, was an assistant coach under Smith at UNC in the late 1980s. Larry Brown played and coached at UNC and was head coach at Kansas in 1988 when the Jayhawks won the NCAA title. Former Tar Heel player and assistant coach Eddie Fogler was head coach at Wichita State. Former UNC head coach Matt Doherty spent seven years as assistant to Roy Williams at KU from 1992-99. Williams was an assistant to Smith at Carolina from 1978-79 to 1987-88 and head coach of the Jayhawks from 1988-89 to 2002-03. His current staff of Steve Robinson, Joe Holladay, Jerod Haase, C.B. McGrath and Jonas Sahratian worked with Williams in Lawrence.

TOMMY KEARNS

Kearns earned national notoriety when at just under six feet tall he jumped center against Kansas' Wilt Chamberlain to tip off the 1957 national championship game. Kearns was a second-team All-America guard that year, leading UNC to a 32-0 record. In 2000, he played a high school basketball coach in the movie "Finding Forrester."

L&M BOYS

In the mid-1960s, Bob Lewis and Larry Miller provided the spark that established Dean Smith as one of the game's great coaches and Carolina basketball as one of the sport's top programs. Lewis averaged 27.4 points as a junior in 1966 and 22.1 in his career. The Washington, D.C., native holds UNC's single-game record with 49 points.

According to Smith, Miller was the first player that signed with Carolina who was recruited heavily by Vic Bubas at Duke. Miller went on to win ACC Player-of-the-Year honors in 1967 and 1968. Lewis and Miller were dubbed "The L&M Boys" and featured in a Sports Illustrated story by Frank Deford.

Lewis will be featured as an ACC Legend at the 2005 ACC Basketball Tournament.

FRANK McGUIRE

McGuire led the Tar Heels to a 32-0 season and national championship in 1956-57, one of the defining moments in establishing ACC Basketball as the best basketball conference in America. McGuire became the UNC head coach in 1952-53 and posted a nine-year record of 164-58. He began the pipeline of New York City talent, bringing to Chapel Hill players such as Lennie Rosenbluth, Tommy Kearns, Pete Brennan, Joe Quigg, Bob Cunningham (the five starters in 1957), York Larese, Doug Moe, Donnie Walsh, Larry Brown and Billy Cunningham.

McGuire left UNC for the NBA's Philadelphia 76ers after the 1960-61 season.

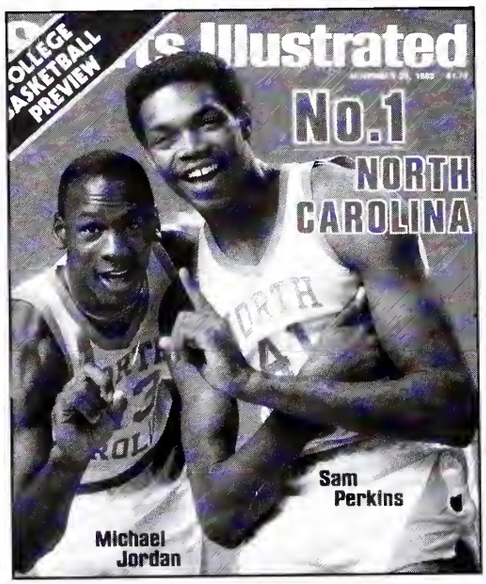
NACDA CUP

Carolina finished seventh in the nation in the 2003-04 Division I NACDA Cup standings (formerly known as the Sears Cup). Stanford won the Cup for the 10th consecutive year. UNC is the only school other than Stanford to win the Division I title since the award was created in 1993-94. Carolina finished first in the award's inaugural season.

Points are awarded by virtue of a school's NCAA postseason finish in up to 10 men's and 10 women's sports (based upon the number of teams in each championship format).

Carolina's seventh-place finish marked the ninth time in 11 years the Tar Heels have placed in the Top 10 in the country. It was also the 10th time in 11 years UNC was the highest-finishing school in the ACC.



NATIONAL PLAYERS OF THE YEAR

Nine different Tar Heels have won National Player-of-the-Year honors, including consensus winners Phil Ford (1978), Michael Jordan (1984) and Antawn Jamison (1998). Other winners are Jack Cobb (1926), George Glamack (1940 and 1941), Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), James Worthy (1982), Kenny Smith (1987) and Jerry Stackhouse (1995). Jordan, named by eight organizations as a junior, also was The Sporting News' pick as a sophomore in 1983.

Associated Press (since 1961) – Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)
Wooden Award (since 1977) – Ford (1978), Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)
Naismith Award (since 1969) – Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)
NABC (since 1975) – Ford (1978), Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)
USBWA (since 1959) – Ford (1978), Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)

NBA

There are nine former Tar Heels active in the NBA in 2004-05, including Vince Carter (Toronto), Hubert Davis (New Jersey), Brendan Haywood (Washington), Antawn Jamison (Washington), George Lynch (New Orleans), Jeff McInnis (Cleveland), Jerry Stackhouse (Washington), Scott Williams (Cleveland) and Shammond Williams (free agent).

Rick Fox retired following the 2003-04 season. Fox played for 13 seasons for the NBA's two most storied franchises. The 1991 ACC Tournament MVP played six seasons with the Boston Celtics and seven with the L.A. Lakers and won three NBA titles with the Lakers.

Larry Brown led the Detroit Pistons to the 2004 NBA championship. He is joined on the Pistons staff by Dave Hanners, Pat Sullivan and Phil Ford. Hanners and Sullivan earned NBA rings in 2004. Robert McAdoo (Miami), Mike O'Koren (New Jersey) and John Kuester (New Jersey) are also assistant coaches. Mitch Kupchak is General Manager of the Lakers and Donnie Walsh is CEO of the Indiana Pacers.

NBA CHAMPIONS

Michael Jordan won six NBA championship rings. He is one of 13 former Tar Heels who have gone on to win NBA championship rings as players. Those 13 players have accounted for 28 rings. The rest of the ACC has a combined 17 players winning 28 rings.

NBA 50

In the late 1990s, the NBA selected its All-time 50 Greatest Players. Former Tar Heels Billy Cunningham, Michael Jordan and James Worthy were named to the team. Carolina, Houston and LSU were the only schools to have three players on the team.

NCAA TOURNAMENT

Carolina is second in NCAA history with 36 appearances, 118 games played and 82 wins in the NCAA Tournament. The Tar Heels established an all-time record with 27 consecutive trips to the Tournament from 1975-2001. UNC has the fifth-best win percentage (.695) in Tournament history.

NO. 1

Carolina has been ranked No. 1 in the nation in the Associated Press poll in 15 different seasons since the A.P. began its rankings in 1948-49. Those seasons include 1957, 1958, 1959, 1978, 1982, 1983, 1984, 1986, 1987, 1988, 1993, 1994, 1995, 1998 and 2001.

The Tar Heels have been No. 1 on 84 occasions. Carolina is second alltime in weeks ranked No. 1 in the country behind UCLA (128).

Matt Doherty (two weeks) was the fourth different Carolina head coach to have his team ranked No. 1 in the nation. Frank McGuire had teams ranked No. 1 for 11 weeks, Dean Smith had teams ranked No. 1 60 times and Bill Guthridge led the Tar Heels to the No. 1 ranking for eight weeks.

Carolina has been ranked in the Top 10 515 times. That is the second-highest figure in NCAA basketball history. Carolina has appeared in the AP poll 672 times, more than any other school in history. Duke is second in ACC history with 527 rankings.

NO. 1 VS. NO. 2

Carolina has played in six games involving the top two ranked teams in the country by the Associated Press poll and the Tar Heels are 6-0 in those games (4-0 as No. 1 and 2-0 as No. 2).

A list of those games:
March 23, 1957 – No. 1 UNC 54, No. 2 Kansas 53
Dec. 26, 1981 – No. 1 UNC 82, No. 2 Kentucky 69

Feb. 5, 1998 – No. 2 UNC 97, No. 1 Duke 73

OLYMPICS

Twelve (12) former Tar Heels have represented their country in the Olympic Games. Michael Jordan won gold medals in 1984 and 1992. Larry Brown (1964), Charles Scott (1968), Walter Davis (1976), Phil Ford (1976), Mitch Kupchak (1976), Tom LaGarde (1976) and Vince Carter (2000) have also won gold medals. Bobby Jones won silver in the highly controversial 1972 Games and J.R. Reid took home a bronze in 1988. Al Wood was a member of the 1980 U.S. Team that did not compete in Moscow and Henrik Rodl played for Germany in 2000.

Dean Smith and Bill Guthridge coached the U.S. to gold in Montreal in 1976 and Brown assisted the U.S. Team in 2000.

Larry Brown (head coach) and Roy Williams coached the U.S. to a bronze medal in Athens, Greece, in 2004.

ONE

Senior Melvin Scott is the only player in Carolina basketball history who has worn number '1' and point guard Raymond Felton is the first to suit up wearing number '2.'

Sophomore point guard Jesse Holley will become the first Tar Heel to ever wear No. '0' when he rejoins the basketball team after the 2004 football season. Holley also plays wide receiver at UNC. Two players – Eric Montross and Brendan Haywood — wore '00.'

The most commonly worn number in Carolina basketball history is '20,' which has been worn by 21 different Tar Heels, although none since Steve Bucknall in 1989. Bucknall became the last player to wear it when the University decided to retire George Glamack's #20. Glamack was the National Player of the Year in 1940 and 1941.

PATTERSON MEDAL

The Patterson Medal is the most prestigious athletic award granted at UNC. It is presented annually to the top senior student-athlete, based primarily on athletic accomplishment, although sportsmanship and leadership are also considered.

Twenty-six different men's basketball players have won the award, including Monk McDonald (1924), Jack Cobb (1926), Henry Satterfield (1929), Virgil Weathers (1934), Andy Bershak (1938), Paul Severin (1941), Bobby Gerstei

Rashad McCants

PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Antawn Jamison was named ACC Player of the Week a record 12 times. Wake Forest's Tim Duncan is second with 11. Jamison won the award seven times in 1997-98, four times in 1996-97 and once in 1995-96. No other player even won the award more than five times in a year since the league began selections in 1969-70. Georgia Tech's Travis Best (1993-94) and Duke's Elton Brand (1998-99) won five times in a year.

Wake Forest's Tim Duncan (11), NC State's David Thompson (9), Wake Forest's Randolph Childress (7), Best (7) and Maryland's Juan Dixon (7) round out the top five career recipients.

Tar Heels have won ACC Player of the Week honors 92 times, the most in ACC history. Duke is second with 84.

Sean May won the award two times last year and Rashad McCants was the recipient following his 27-point performance in beating No. 1 ranked Connecticut.

RAMESES

Carolina's mascot, a ram, is named Rameses. The Tar Heels have a ram for a mascot because in 1922 the best football player, Jack Merritt, was nicknamed "The Battering Ram." Vic Huggins, the head cheerleader in 1924, came up with the nickname, which was adopted for all of UNC's varsity teams. The Tar Heels were also known as the White Phantoms, a nickname they went by until the late 1940s.

RAMS CLUB

The Educational Foundation, also known as the Rams Club, is a non-profit foundation whose members provide the scholarship funding for Carolina's varsity student-athletes to the tune of roughly $8 million per year. John Montgomery is in his fourth full year as president of the Rams Club.

The Rams Club also raises money for various capital projects in athletics and for other University interests. The staff may be reached at (919) 843-2000.

ROOKIES

Five former Tar Heels have won NBA Rookie-of-the-Year honors. The most recent was Vince Carter in 1999. Other winners are Bob McAdoo (1973), Walter Davis (1978), Phil Ford (1979) and Michael Jordan (1985). Charles Scott was the ABA Rookie of the Year in 1971.

LENNIE ROSENBLUTH

Only three players in ACC history have been named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season – Antawn Jamison, Duke's Christian Laettner and Lennie Rosenbluth.

Rosenbluth averaged a school-record 28.0 points in 1957 when he led the Tar Heels to a 32-0 record and the NCAA championship. Rosenbluth's #10 is retired and he is one of the ACC's Top 50 Greatest Basketball Players.

SEASON TICKETS

There is no public sale of season tickets at Carolina. All season tickets are purchased by members of the Rams Club and by UNC employees. The only ways to secure season basketball tickets are to endow either a half scholarship ($75,000 over 7 years) or a full scholarship ($150,000 over 8 years) or join the Coaches Circle ($5,000 a year), which gives members the opportunity to purchase two season tickets. Scholarship donors are allowed to pass the right to purchase tickets to one generation, but the location and points do not pass.

Original donors to the Smith Center campaign gave a one-time capital gift, and have to stay at one of the annual giving levels to keep the rights to the seats. Those seats can be passed down in perpetuity.

CHARLES SCOTT

The first African-American scholarship basketball player at UNC was New York's Charles Scott, who came to Chapel Hill after prepping at the Laurinburg Institute. 'Great Scott' earned first-team All-America honors and was Co-ACC Athlete of the Year in 1970, led UNC to Final Fours in 1968 and 1969, won an Olympic gold medal in 1968 and an NBA title with the Boston Celtics in 1976. He is one of the ACC's 50 Greatest Basketball Players.

In 1969, Scott scored 40 points, including 29 in the second half, to beat Duke in the ACC championship game. He then sent the Tar Heels to the Final Four with a buzzer-beating jumper to edge Davidson, 87-85.

On February 24, 1979, Carolina held the ball for most of the first half and trailed Duke, 7-0, at the half. The Blue Devils went on to win, 47-40. One week later in the ACC Tournament championship game, Mike O'Koren and Dudley Bradley combined for 34 points as the Tar Heels beat Duke, 71-63.

In 1966, Duke led UNC, 7-5, at the half and beat the Tar Heels, 21-20, in the ACC semifinals.

THE SHOT I

Walter Davis hit a 28-foot bank shot as time expired to send the UNC-Duke game into overtime on March 2, 1974. The Tar Heels went on to a 96-92 victory. The game is one of the most famous in college basketball history because Carolina trailed, 86-78, with 17 seconds to play.

THE SHOT II

Michael Jordan's 17-footer from the wing with 15 seconds to play gave North Carolina 63-62 win over Georgetown in the 1982 NCAA championship game. Jimmy Black assisted on the game-winner.

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED

Michael Jordan has been on the cover of Sports Illustrated 52 times, more than any other athlete in history. Muhammad Ali is second with 38 appearances.

Jordan and Dean Smith have been named Sports Illustrated's Sportsman of the Year — Jordan in 1991 and Smith in 1997. They are the only ACC basketball players or coaches to win the award.

DEAN SMITH

Smith is the winningest coach in NCAA history (879 wins), two-time NCAA champion (1982 and 1993), 11 Final Fours, 13 ACC Tournament championships, 20 ACC Tournament finals, 17 regular-season ACC titles, 27 NCAA Tournament appearances, an NIT championship, head coach of the 1976 Olympic gold medalists, Naismith Basketball Hall of Famer, 24 Top 10 rankings, eight-time ACC Coach of the Year and 30 20-win seasons.

Smith was named Sports Illustrated's Sportsman of the Year (1997) and was an Arthur Ashe Award for Courage recipient. In 2000, ESPN named Smith one of the seven greatest coaches of all-time. He was joined on that list by Red Auerbach, Bear Bryant, George Halas, Vince Lombardi, John McGraw and John Wooden. Recently, ESPN selected Smith as the best coach in any sport in the last 25 years.

SMITH CENTER

The Dean E. Smith Student Activities Center opened on January 18, 1986. No. 1 ranked Carolina beat No. 3 Duke, 95-92. Carolina is 207-43 all-time in the Smith Center.

After several upgrades and renovations, the Smith Center's capacity is now 21,750, making it the largest arena in the ACC and one of the largest in the nation.

TV

Carolina, a fixture on national television, was featured in the first television game involving ACC teams (Jan. 8, 1955 vs. Wake Forest), the first game on C.D. Chesley's ACC Network (Dec.7, 1957 vs. Clemson) and the first basketball game broadcast live across the state of North Carolina (March 15, 1957 vs. Canisius in the NCAA East Region semifinals).

All but two games on this year's schedule will be televised.

The 1956-57 team posted a perfect 32-0 record and won the NCAA championship. The Tar Heels had to survive several close games along the way to the title, including an unprecedented pair of triple overtime thrillers in the Final Four.

UNC won nine of its 32 games by five points or less and had four games go into overtime. Pete Brennan saved the day in the national semifinals against Michigan State as he hit a jumper with three seconds to tie the game and extend it into a third overtime. National Player of the Year Lennie Rosenbluth scord 20 points in the championship game and Joe Quigg hit a pair of free throws with six seconds left in the third overtime to give Carolina a 54-53 win over Kansas. Sports Illustrated selected the 1957 national title game as the second-best college basketball game ever played.

The 1957 Tar Heels are one of only 12 unbeaten teams in NCAA history. That Carolina team and the 1976 Indiana team share the NCAA record for most wins in a season without a loss with 32.

THREE STRAIGHT

Carolina won the regular-season championship and ACC Tournament championship for three consecutive seasons from 1967-69. This was in the era when only the ACC Tournament champion was eligible to compete in the NCAA Tournament.

UNC is still the only school that has won three consecutive outright regular-season championships and ACC Tournament titles.

1,000 ASSISTS

Ed Cota is one of only three players in NCAA history to have at least 1,000 career assists. Cota is the only player to have at least 1,000 assists, 1,000 points and 500 rebounds. Cota handed out 1,030 assists. He also scored 1,261 points and had 517 rebounds. He is one of only three Tar Heels to start in three different Final Fours (1997, 1998 and 2000).

1,000 POINTS

North Carolina has more 1,000-point career scorers than any other school in the country. The Tar Heels have had 55 players reach 1,000 points. That figure is two more than Louisville and Duke. Kentucky is fourth with 51 and Kansas and Syracuse are fifth with 47. Twenty-two (22) of the 55 Tar Heels have scored at least 1,500 points and five – Phil Ford (2,290), Sam Perkins (2,145), Lennie Rosenbluth (2,045), Al Wood (2,015) and Charles Scott (2,007) – netted at least 2,000 points.

Jawad Williams and Rashad Mccants reached 1,000 points last year.

TIN CAN

From 1924-1937 Carolina played its home games in the Indoor Athletic Center, on ground that is now home to Fetzer Gymnasium. Students nicknamed the metal structure the Tin Can. It was the home of the Tar Heels until Woollen Gym was built in 1938.

TOP THREE

Carolina finished in first, second or third place in the ACC regular-season standings 37 consecutive years from 1964-65 to 2000-01. That is an unequaled run of consistency. Overall, the Tar Heels have finished in the top three in the league 44 times in 50 seasons.

Dean Smith prefers to mention how many times the Tar Heels finished in first or second place in the league standings – 23 times in first place and 13 in second place. No other school in the ACC has more than 17 first place finishes and more than 26 top-two placements.

TRIPLE-DOUBLES

There have only been 18 triple-doubles in ACC history and two of the most recent ones were by Tar Heels in a span of two weeks.

In fact, Brendan Haywood and Jason Capel became the first two players in UNC history to register triple-doubles. Haywood had 18 points, 14 rebounds and 10 blocked shots against Miami (Fla.) on December 4, 2000. Capel had 16 points, 11 boards and 10 assists on December 17, 2000, against Buffalo.

No Carolina opponent has ever recorded a triple-double.

20 WINS

Carolina won at least 20 games for an NCAA record 31 consecutive seasons from 1970-71 to 2000-01. In that time, the Tar Heels won at least 25 games 21 times and at least 30 games three times.

UNIFORMS

Carolina basketball uniforms are among the most recognizable in the sports world. World-renowned designer and Carolina alumnus Alexander Julian re-designed the uniforms prior to the start of the 1991-92 season. Mr. Julian added the argyle pattern down the sides of the jersey and shorts, emboldened the trim and upgraded the fabric among other changes.

In 1999-2000, the words 'North Carolina' on the front of the jersey were replaced by the interlocking NC logo. A year later, 'North Carolina' went back on the jersey.

Rasheed Wallace

ROY WILLIAMS

Carolina's 18th head men's basketball coach was an assistant coach under Dean Smith from 1978-88 and the head coach at the University of Kansas from 1989-2003. Williams has a 437-112 record in 16 seasons as a head coach. Williams grew up in the Biltmore community in Asheville, N.C. He played one season, 1968-69, on the UNC freshman team under Coach Bill Guthridge, and earned his undergraduate degree from Carolina in 1972.

WOOLLEN GYMNASIUM

Carolina played its home games from 1938-1965 in Woollen Gym, which is located adjacent to Carmichael Auditorium, the building that replaced it as UNC's basketball home. Woollen was named after Charles T. Woollen, the University's business manager who pushed for its construction. Total cost of the building was $646,000, none of which came from state funds.

Woollen is still in use today and is home to some of the best and most intense pickup basketball games on any college campus.

The University of North Carolina is one of college basketball's all-time greatest programs. With four national championships, over 1,800 wins, NCAA records for consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, Final Four appearances and 20-win seasons, the winningest coach in Division I history, and legendary players such as Lennie Rosenbluth, Billy Cunningham, Phil Ford, Michael Jordan and Vince Carter, the Tar Heels are one of the most recognizable teams in the world in any sport.

Carolina's 94 seasons in the intercollegiate ranks have produced an overall record of 1,827 victories and 677 losses, making the Tar Heel program the second-winningest in NCAA history in total victories and winning percentage. In NCAA annals, only Kentucky, North Carolina, Kansas and UNLV have played at least 40 years and won more than 70 percent of their games over the years.

The Tar Heels have won half or more of their games in 84 of the 94 seasons and no Carolina coach has ever left the position with a losing record. Carolina has had only five head coaches in the last 50 years – Frank McGuire for nine years, Dean Smith from 1961-62 to 1996-97, Bill Guthridge from October 1997-98 to 1999-2000, Matt Doherty beginning from 2000-01 to 2002-03 and now Roy Williams.

THE ROOTS OF A SUCCESSFUL PROGRAM

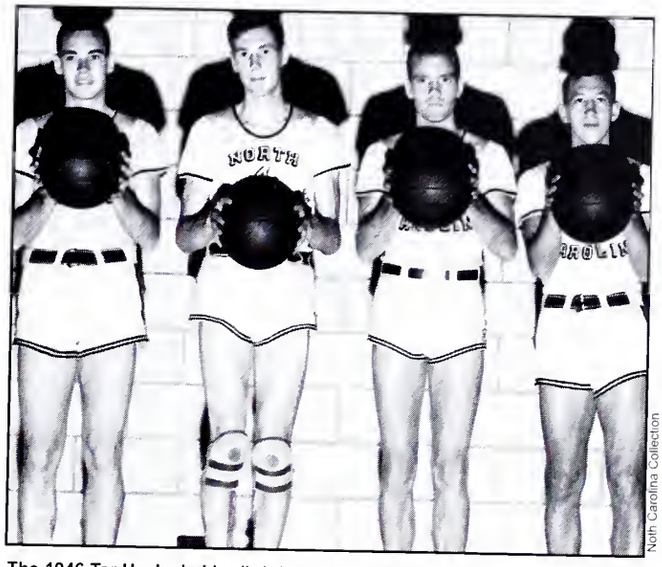
The first varsity team played at North Carolina during the 1910-11 season. Basketball clubs had originally been a part of physical education classes at the University, but student Marvin Ritch led the drive with school officials to start an organized varsity team. Nat Cartmell, UNC's track and field coach, who was internationally known in his own right as a sprinter, coached that first team in 1911.

After the team was organized, Carolina did not schedule its first game until January 27, 1911, when it defeated Virginia Christian, 42-21, in Chapel Hill. The team played its games in Bynum Gymnasium, now the site of the University Cashier's office. Carolina went 7-4 that first season, playing the likes of Tennessee, Virginia, Wake Forest, Davidson, the YMCA teams from Durham and Charlotte and the Woodberry Forest School of Virginia. At the time, a crowd of 50 spectators for a game was considered enormous.

Cartmell ended up coaching the Tar Heels for four seasons. His 1912 squad finished only 4-5, but several thousand fans came to see the Tar Heels play Virginia Tech at the Raleigh Auditorium, a sign that interest and fan support in the game was growing quickly in the Carolinas.

Charles Doak became the program's head coach in 1915. His 1916 team recorded a 12-6 ledger, the best record for any team during the first decade of the sport on campus. Doak had served as the Tar Heels' baseball coach before being assigned to coach the basketball team as well.

In 1917, Carolina recorded its first victory over then arch-rival Virginia after eight previous losses. That Tar Heel team was led by George Tennent, who captained both the 1917 and 1918 teams. Luther Hodges, who later served as governor of North Carolina from 1957-61 and was the Secretary of Commerce under President John Kennedy, was a substitute player on the 1917 team. Beginning with that 1917 season, Howell Peacock coached the team for three years, compiling a 23-14 mark.



North Carolina Collection

The 1946 Tar Heels, led by (l-r) John Dillon, Bob Paxton, Jim White and Jim Hayworth, made the first Final Four appearance in school history.

In 1920, Fred Boye took over as the head coach at Carolina, staying two years and compiling a 19-17 ledger. The 1922 squad played without an official head coach, but nevertheless compiled a 15-6 record. Carolina went to Atlanta that season and swept the first-ever Southern Conference Tournament championship, winning five games in five days. The Heels captured the title with a 40-26 win over Mercer in the finals. The Southern Conference had been founded the previous summer with an initial membership of 22 schools. The 1922 squad was led by Cartwright Carmichael, who was then a sophomore. He went on to become one of Carolina's all-time great players. He became UNC's first All-America in any sport in both 1923 and 1924 and he was an All-Southern Conference pick from 1922 through 1924.

CAROLINA'S FIRST NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The five-year period beginning in 1922 was a glorious one for Carolina despite the fact that the Tar Heels played with no coach during the 1922 and 1923 seasons and with a different head coach in each of the following three years. But with incredibly talented players on hand, Carolina went 96-17 in that five-year span and won four of five Southern Conference championships as well as the national championship in 1924.

The 1923 team set the stage for that magnificent '24 squad by going 15-1, losing only a 34-32 thriller to Ole Miss in the Southern Conference tournament final.

The '24 team proved to be something very special indeed. Led by Jack Cobb, Carmichael and Bill Dodderer, it rolled to a 26-0 record and was named the national champion by the Helms Foundation. Carolina beat Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State and Alabama to capture the Southern Conference championship.

Carolina's nine-man 1924 squad played for the first time in the Indoor Athletic Center, better known around campus as the Tin Can, a structure which existed until the late 1970s. It was razed to clear land for what is now the Robert Allison Fetzer Gymnasium on the UNC campus. Norman Shepard coached the Tar Heels in 1924 in what would be his only season as head coach. He left the following year to pursue business ventures abroad.

After being an All-Southern Conference selection in 1924, Monk McDonald took over as the team's head coach the following season. Led again by the magnificent Cobb, the Tar Heels finished 20-5 in 1925 and won another Southern Conference crown by whipping Tulane 36-28 in the finals. A year later, Carolina had yet another new head coach in Harlan Sanborn as the '26 team compiled a solid 20-5 mark. That team was led by Cobb, who was named the National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation, and by Dodderer, who was named All-Southern Conference for the third year in a row.

Cobb, who averaged 15 points per game in 1926, a total practically unheard of in that day, was named an All-America for the third successive year. One of the highlights of the year was the crowd of thousands which gathered at Memorial Hall to hear a telegraphic play-by-play of the Southern Conference championship game from Atlanta as UNC downed Mississippi State, 38-23.

James Ashmore began an impressive five-year coaching stint with the Tar Heels in 1927. His teams were led by players like Billy Morris, Puny Harper, Bunn Hackney and Rufus Hackney. Ashmore's teams combined for an 80-37 mark during his tenure, but they never won the Southern Conference championship – in fact they never reached the finals.

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE REALIGNS

Norman Shepard's brother, George "Bo" Shepard, took over as head coach in 1932. He quickly catapulted Carolina back into national prominence. The "Charlotte Connection" provided many of the best players for UNC at the time because of the strong high school and YMCA programs in that part of the state.

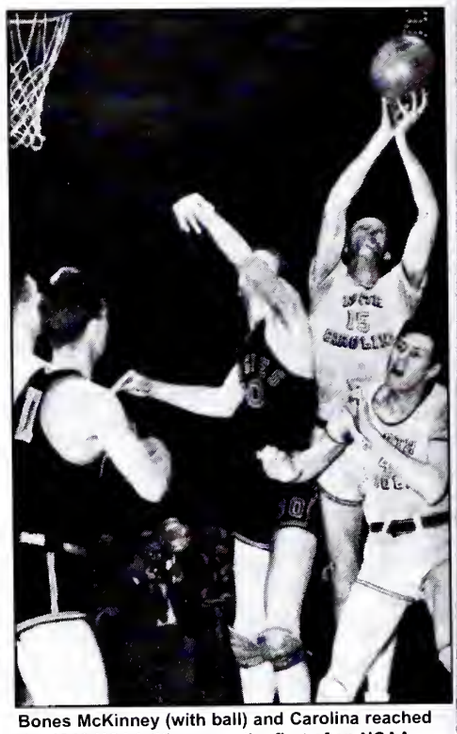
Guard Tom Alexander and forward Virgil Weathers, both All-Southern Conference choices, led the '32 team to a 16-5 mark as Carolina lost, 26-24, in the Southern Conference final to Georgia in Atlanta, the new site of the conference tournament. After the '32 season, the Southern Conference lost 13 schools which went on to form what is now the Southeastern Conference. That turn of events left 10 schools in the Southern Conference.

In 1933, Shepard needed a big man for rebounding purposes and to control the jump ball after each score. He found his man in Jack Glace, who hadn't even made his high school squad. The Heels went 12-5 that season and lost a double overtime thriller to South Carolina, 34-32, in the semifinals of the Southern Conference Tournament.

The 1934 Carolina team finished 18-4, being upset by Duke in the Southern Conference tournament after beating the Blue Devils twice in the regular season. Dave McCachren was the captain of that Carolina squad and was the first of four McCachren brothers to play at UNC from 1931-43. Each brother captained the Tar Heel team his senior year, and each was elected president of the UNC athletic association. After Dave, Jim, a three-time All-Southern Conference selection, captained the '36 team, Bill captained the '39 squad and George, better known as "Toad," captained the '43 unit.

The 1935 team won the conference championship and compiled a marvelous 23-2 mark in Shepard's last year as head coach. After that season, Shepard stepped down because of health reasons and Walter Skidmore became head coach. Skidmore continued the winning ways in Chapel Hill, leading the 1936 team to a 21-4 record and a Southern Conference title. That 1936 unit was led by Pete Mullis and Andy Bershak, who was also a football All-America.

Carolina had successful years in 1937 and '38, but failed to win the Southern Conference title either time. However, in 1938, Carolina inaugurated a new home base for its basketball operations as the 5,000-seat Woollen Gymnasium opened, and Carolina left the Tin Can to be used for track meets and campus social functions. Then, in 1939, Carolina suffered its first losing campaign in 19 years, and Skidmore stepped down as coach. He was replaced for the 1940 season by Bill Lange, then an assistant football coach under Ray Wolf.



Bones McKinney (with ball) and Carolina reached the 1946 NCAA title game, the first of an NCAA-record 15 Final Fours in UNC history.

CAROLINA EARNS ITS FIRST NCAA BID

The 1940 Carolina team proved to be an outstanding one. Led by George Glamack, nicknamed the "Blind Bomber," UNC went 23-3. The 6-6 junior from Johnstown, Pa., could barely see the basket because of impaired vision, but his foul line hook shot was lethal. Glamack became only the third player ever designated as the National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation on two occasions, winning the honor in both 1940 and '41.

Other stars on the teams of the early 1940s were Paul Severin, who was also a two-time All-America in football, and Bob Rose, an All-Southern Conference player in both 1941 and '42. Glamack averaged 20.6 points per game for the Tar Heels, an amazing statistic given the fact that teams only scored in the 40s and 50s during that era.

As in other sports, the World War II years in college basketball were unsettled in nature. The Carolina team lost many players to service obligations during this time – in fact, only one letterman was available for the 1943 team. In 1944, the Tar Heels played 11 contests against service teams. Lange stepped down as coach after the 1944 season with an impressive five-year record of 85-41. Lange's 1941 team was also the first at UNC to make the NCAA Tournament field.

Ben Carnevale took over as head coach in 1945 and the Tar Heels motored to an outstand-

Frank McGuire led Carolina to the ACC's first NCAA title and later hired Dean Smith as an assistant coach. He is a member of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

The 1956-57 Tar Heels, shown here celebrating the 1956 Dixie Classic championship, later won the '57 NCAA championship after triple-overtime victories over Michigan State and Kansas in the Final Four.

ing 22-6 ledger and the Southern Conference championship. The star of that team was Jim Jordan, who was named a second-team All-America that season.

NEARLY ANOTHER NATIONAL TITLE IN '46

The 1946 team was a truly outstanding one. Led by first-team All-Americas Jordan and John "Hook" Dillon and 6-6 Horace "Bones" McKinney, Carolina made it all the way to the NCAA championship game before losing to Coach Henry Iba's Oklahoma (A&M) State team, 43-40, at Madison Square Garden. McKinney had attended N.C. State before going into the military in World War II, and he resumed his education at Chapel Hill, helping lead the Heels to their 30-5 mark in 1946. Carnevale left after the season was over to take the coaching job at the U.S. Naval Academy. He was replaced by Tom Scott.

At this time, basketball in the South was enjoying unprecedented popularity. NC State was becoming a formidable rival for the Tar Heels, and the Southern Conference Tournament was moved to Duke's Indoor Stadium so more fans could attend the postseason classic.

Scott's first team, in 1947, was led by Jim Hamilton and Bob Paxton. It posted a 19-8 record and lost in the conference finals to NC State, then coached by the legendary Everett Case. Unfortunately, that would be the second of 15 consecutive losses Carolina suffered at the hands of the Wolfpack over a six-year period.

Scott produced 20-win seasons in both 1948 and '49, but lost three contests to NC State in each of those campaigns, including heartbreakers in the league tournament.

TAR HEELS TURN TO McGUIRE

The next three seasons produced a trio of mediocre records, and Scott resigned after the 1952 season. He was replaced by Frank McGuire, a 38-year-old native of Greenwich Village in New York City. Formerly the coach at St. John's University in Jamaica, N.Y., McGuire was successful at luring many outstanding New York basketball stars, the first of whom was Jerry Vayda, to Chapel Hill through his connections to the area.

McGuire's first team, in 1953, proved to be a scrappy unit. It didn't have great talent, but ended up 17-10 and beat NC State in Raleigh, breaking the six-year losing streak to the Pack. During the offseason, Carolina and seven other schools left the Southern Conference to join what has become America's finest intercollegiate athletic league, the Atlantic Coast Conference. The next two years produced average records – 11-10 in 1954 and 10-11 a year later – but McGuire was building a foundation for future greatness.

Lennie Rosenbluth, from New York City, debuted for the Tar Heels in 1955 as a sophomore and averaged 25.5 points per game. In 1956, a great new class joined holdovers Rosenbluth, Vayda, Tony Radovich and Bob Young. The new sophomore class included Pete Brennan, Tommy Kearns, Joe Quigg, Bob Cunningham and Roy Searcy. That '56 team went 18-5, setting the stage for what happened a year later.

1957 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

In 1957, McGuire had a lineup that consisted of the 6-6 Brennan, 6-5 Rosenbluth and 6-9 Quigg on the front line with Cunningham and Kearns in the backcourt. En route to its 32-0 record, Carolina had to avoid a couple of close calls in the regular season – against Duke at home and a double overtime contest with Maryland in College Park. The closest call of all may have come in the ACC Tournament semifinals when the Heels edged Wake Forest, 61-59. Because only the ACC Tournament champion earned an NCAA bid in those days, had the Tar Heels lost to the Deacons, they would not even have been allowed to compete in the national tournament. Once in the NCAAs, however, Carolina swept past three opponents in the East Regional to set up a meeting with Michigan State in the semifinals.

It took three overtimes, but Carolina finally vanquished the Spartans, 74-70. This win set up a showdown with Dick Harp's Kansas Jayhawks, led by the great Wilt Chamberlain. At Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium, UNC needed another three overtimes to subdue Kansas, 54-53, on Quigg's two free throws with six seconds to play in the third extra session. Thousands turned out at the Raleigh-Durham Airport the next day to welcome their conquering heroes home. Rosenbluth concluded his brilliant career by being named an All-America, first-team All-ACC for the third straight year and the Helms National Player of the Year.

In 1958, a Carolina team led by All-America and ACC Player of the Year Brennan finished 19-7. Lee Shaffer and Dick Kepley, soon to be Carolina stars in their own right, joined the squad as sophomores. With the exception of the 1957 national championship team, McGuire's 1959 squad may have been the best amongst the nine he coached during his time at UNC. Doug Moe, York Larese and Lou Brown joined the team and Carolina finished 20-5 and qualified for the school's fourth NCAA Tournament appearance.

A year later, Carolina had another outstanding season under McGuire. The Heels finished 18-6 overall and Shaffer was named a first-team All-America.

The 1961 season yielded an outstanding team and a 19-4 record. It was the senior year for Moe, Larese and Kepley. Moe was an All-America that season and together with Larese, they were called the L&M twins. McGuire chose to accept a head coaching offer from the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association after the season concluded. His nine-season record at Carolina was a brilliant 164-58. Under McGuire, Carolina went to the NCAA Tournament twice, won five ACC regular-season titles, one ACC Tournament title and the national championship.

"The Kangaroo Kid" Billy Cunningham holds the three highest single-season rebounding averages in Carolina history, including a record 16.1 per game as a sophomore in 1962-63.

The man who stepped into the coaching void was a native Kansan by the name of Dean Edwards Smith. He had been lured to Carolina in 1958 from the U.S. Air Force Academy to be McGuire's top assistant. Carolina Chancellor William Aycock was charged with the duty of finding the successor for the popular McGuire. He entrusted the post to the 30-year-old Smith, who built a program that still is a model for integrity and success in college athletics.

Coach Smith's first team in 1962 compiled an 8-9 record, his only losing season as a head coach. But his players did give him a victory in his first coaching outing, 80-46 over Virginia on December 2, 1961. It would prove to be a harbinger of things to come. After that victory, Smith said, "I've never been as scared in my life."

Billy Cunningham, affectionately known as "The Kangaroo Kid," joined the varsity team and became an immediate star in 1962. Averaging 22.7 points and 16 rebounds a game, he helped lead the Tar Heels to a 15-6 record, which included road victories against both Kentucky and Notre Dame. A year later, Cunningham was still awesome, but the Tar Heels' record dipped to 12-12. Help for the future arrived, however, in the form of highly-touted freshman Bob Lewis.

Lewis moved up to the varsity team in 1965 and with the All-America Cunningham, the two combined for 46.4 points per game as Carolina went 15-9. Cunningham left Carolina as its all-time leader in rebounds and as one of the most prolific rebounders and scorers in conference history. A two-time All-America and three-time All-ACC selection, he went on to a great professional playing and coaching career, mainly with the Philadelphia 76ers.

For 1966, Cunningham was gone, but Lewis was now joined by soon-to-be superstar Larry Miller. The Tar Heels moved out of Woollen Gymnasium and into the 8,800-seat Carmichael Auditorium, which would evolve into one of the most famous arenas in college basketball history. The '66 squad finished only 16-11, but it was obvious that greatness was just around the corner.

THREE STRAIGHT ACC TITLES & FINAL FOURS

The 1967 team proved to be Coach Smith's first truly great squad at Carolina. Lewis and Miller were joined on the varsity by sophomores Rusty Clark, Bill Bunting, Dick Grubar and Joe Brown. The season resulted in a 26-6 ledger, and the Tar Heels finished third in the final United Press International poll and fourth in the Associated Press rankings. The '67 campaign marked the beginning of a string of three successive first-place finishes in the ACC regular-season standings, three straight ACC tournament titles and three consecutive NCAA East Regional championships for Smith and his troops. That's a feat unmatched in ACC history. The '67 squad was characterized by an enthusiastic, gambling defense that would become a trademark of Smith-coached teams.

Lewis graduated after the '67 season, but the great Charles Scott arrived to take his place in the Carolina lineup as the Heels prepared for the 1968 season. Scott was the first black player on the Carolina varsity, and he started from the beginning of his sophomore year. The '68 team was an outstanding one and made it all the way to the NCAA finals before losing to UCLA and Lew Alcindor. The Heels' final record that year was 28-4, the best yet under Smith's tutelage. Miller was both an All-America and the ACC Player of the Year for the second straight year.

Heading into 1969, Miller was gone but the remaining core of those great teams returned. Carolina went 27-5, won the ACC championship for the third straight year and was again in the Final Four, the school's fifth such visit since the NCAA Tournament began in 1939. Scott, Bunting, Clark and Grubar led that team as well as junior guard Eddie Fogler.

The 1970 squad entered that season decimated by graduation. The tremendous seniors of the previous year – Bunting, Clark and Grubar – had graduated. Carolina finished 18-9, buoyed by the addition of sophomores Dennis Wuycik, Bill Chamberlain and Steve Previs, all solid players. Scott was named All-ACC for the third successive year and was a first-team All-America for the second time. Carolina accepted the first of its four NIT bids in history and the 18-9 record was the last time Carolina failed to win 20 games in a season until 2001-02.

The 1971 team was not expected to do much according to the pre-season ratings, but it rolled up a 26-6 record and won the ACC regular-season title and the National Invitation Tournament championship. Sophomore George Karl moved up to the varsity and formed a great backcourt with Previs. Wuycik was first-team All-ACC and Chamberlain was the Most Valuable Player of the NIT as Carolina downed Georgia Tech 84-66 in the finals at Madison Square Garden.

Hugh Morton

From 1967-69, Carolina won three straight ACC regular season titles, three straight ACC Tournament titles and three straight NCAA East Regional championships. No team has accomplished the feat since.

Carolina returned to the NCAA Final Four in 1972 with a 26-5 record. Robert McAdoo, a junior college transfer from Vincennes University, was outstanding for the Heels along with returnees Wuycik, Chamberlain, Karl and Previs. Sixth man Bobby Jones, a 6-8 sophomore, showed great promise for the future. Carolina won five different tournament championships during the course of the season, including the ACC Tournament and NCAA East Regional championships. The Tar Heels were eliminated in the NCAA Final Four by Florida State in the semifinals, 79-75. After the season, McAdoo became the first player under Smith to declare himself eligible for the NBA draft prior to the completion of his eligibility. A year later, he was the NBA Rookie of the Year with the Buffalo Braves.

Carolina returned to the NIT in 1973 and reached the semifinals after losing in the first round of the ACC Tournament. The 25-8 squad was led by the play of Karl and, in the first year freshmen were again eligible to play under NCAA rules, Mitch Kupchak showed signs of greatness inside.

AMAZING COMEBACK VS. DUKE

The 1974 team was led by All-America and All-ACC player Jones. It compiled a 22-6 record but was relegated to a return trip to the NIT even though it was ranked eighth in the final UPI poll. That team featured a freshman class of Walter Davis, Tommy LaGarde and John Kuester — a group which would lead Carolina back to the Final Four in 1977. The 1974 season will also be remembered for the astounding comeback the Tar Heels made against Duke at Carmichael Auditorium in the final game of the regular season. Trailing by eight points with 17 seconds to play, the Heels rallied to tie the contest on a 28-foot shot by Davis as time expired. UNC went on to win in overtime, 96-92.

In 1975, the wonderous Phil Ford arrived on campus as a freshman and had an immediate impact on Carolina basketball fortunes. He became the first freshman under Smith to start the first game of his career, a feat later matched only by Mike O'Koren, James Worthy, Michael Jordan, Kenny Smith, J.R. Reid, Pete Chilcutt, Rick Fox, Vince Carter and Antawn Jamison. As a frosh, Ford won the Everett Case Award as Most Valuable Player of the ACC Tournament as Carolina beat defending national champion N.C. State in the finals, 70-66, knocking the Wolfpack out the NCAA Tournament in the process. The Tar Heels had to survive overtime games with Wake Forest and Clemson in the first two rounds of the tournament just to get into the final game. Overall, that Carolina team finished 23-8 and was eliminated in the NCAA East Regional semifinals by Syracuse, which went on to the Final Four.

A year later, in Kupchak's senior season, the Tar Heels had one of their best teams ever under Smith, but it was undone by injuries and bad luck at season's end. First-team All-Americas Kupchak and Ford led the team to a 25-4 mark and a 13-1 ACC slate. But Carolina was upset in the ACC finals by Virginia, giving the Cavaliers their only ACC championship in history, and then UNC lost to Alabama in the first round of the NCAAs with Ford sidelined with a badly sprained ankle. Following the season, Carmichael Auditorium underwent a renovation which increased seating capacity from 8,800 to 10,000. Individual seats were torn out and bleacher seats installed throughout the facility.

The 1977 campaign marked a return to the Final Four for the first time in five years as UNC posted a 28-5 mark. Mid-season knee surgery on LaGarde ended his college career prematurely and then Davis broke his thumb in the ACC Tournament semifinals against N.C. State. Led by Kuester, the Tar Heels persevered and beat Virginia in the tournament finals, 75-69. Carolina used its up-tempo style to perfection in conjunction with the famed four corners offense in scoring NCAA wins over Purdue, Notre Dame, Kentucky and UNLV. All were of the comeback variety save the win over the Wildcats. Ford suffered a hyperextended elbow in the waning moments of the Notre Dame game and played the remainder of the tourney at less than 100 percent. After freshman O'Koren helped the Heels into the finals with 31 points against Vegas, the Tar Heels fell to Marquette, 67-59, in the title game.

The 1978 team had to play minus LaGarde, Davis and Kuester, which was no easy task. It was Ford's senior year and the Rocky Mount, N.C., native was tapped for National Player of the Year honors by four organizations as UNC finished 23-8. In an emotional Carmichael Auditorium farewell, Ford scored a career-high 34 points as UNC beat Duke 87-83 in one of the most memorable games played in the building, clinching the ACC regular-season championship for the Heels in the process. Ford finished his career as a three-time first-team All-America and as Carolina's all-time leading scorer and assist man. He still holds the scoring record to this day with 2,290 points.

The 1979 squad was not ranked highly in the preseason, but won Smith ACC and National Coach of the Year honors after finishing 23-6. O'Koren, senior defensive wizard Dudley Bradley and sophomore sharpshooter Al Wood led that team. During the regular season, UNC upset eventual national champion Michigan State 70-69 at Carmichael and scored an infamous 70-69 win at NC State on Bradley's last-second steal and dunk. Carolina tied for the ACC regular-season championship with Duke and then beat the Blue Devils 71-63 in the ACC Tournament finals as Bradley captured tournament MVP honors. Carolina was upset in the NCAA second round by Penn, which went on to play in the NCAA Final Four.

The 1980 squad was led by a senior class which featured O'Koren, a first-team All-America in 1979 and 1980. The Tar Heels finished 21-8. Other graduating seniors were guards Dave Colescott and John Virgil and centers Rich Yonakor and Jeff Wolf. One of the season's highlights was a 61-57 win at Indiana in the homecoming game for Colescott, a Marion, Ind., native and former Mr. Basketball in the Hoosier State.

The 1981 team would initiate a string of 13 straight Carolina squads which advanced to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament. Led by Al Wood and sophomore power forward James Worthy, UNC finished 29-8 and won the ACC Tournament title with one-point wins over Wake Forest and Maryland in the semifinal and final, respectively. After winning the NCAA West Regional crown, UNC returned to the Final Four in Philadelphia where it avenged two regular-season losses to conference foe Virginia in the semifinals behind Wood's astounding 39-point performance, an NCAA Tournament semifinal game scoring record to this day. Two days later, UNC was beaten by Indiana in the national championship game.

WORTHY, JORDAN KEY TO '82 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP

The 1981 team proved to be only a prelude to the greatness of the 1982 squad which won the national championship. Preseason rated No. 1, the Tar Heels finished the regular season that way and went on to win the NCAA championship. The squad's 32-2 record equaled the school record for victories in a season as the Tar Heels swept through the ACC Tournament and the NCAA East Regional. There were many heroes on the '82 team. Worthy was named the co-National Player of the Year and he scored a career-high 28 points in UNC's pulsating 63-62 win over Georgetown in the championship game. Center Sam Perkins was a first-team All-America, and he was joined in the lineup by point guard Jimmy Black, small forward Matt Doherty and a freshman guard by the name of Michael Jordan. Jordan hit a 16-foot jump shot with 15 seconds left, providing the winning points in the title game, and Worthy sealed the victory with a steal of a Fred Brown pass with five seconds left.

Worthy opted to make himself available for the NBA draft after his junior year, and he was chosen as the first pick by the Los Angeles Lakers. Even without Worthy, the Tar Heels returned a strong cast in 1983 with a nucleus featuring Jordan and Perkins. Both players earned first-team All-America honors that year and Jordan was named National Player of the Year by The Sporting News. The Tar Heels finished 28-8 after starting 0-2, the worst-ever start for a Smith-coached team at Carolina. After splitting its first six games of the season, Carolina recovered from the slow start to be the nation's No. 1-ranked team for several weeks in January and February. After tying for the ACC regular-season championship, the Heels made it to the finals of the NCAA East Regional before being upset by Georgia. The highlight of the year was an improbable 64-63 victory over Virginia on February 10, 1983 as No. 1-ranked Carolina rallied from 16 points down with 8:43 to play to beat second-ranked Virginia at Carmichael Auditorium.

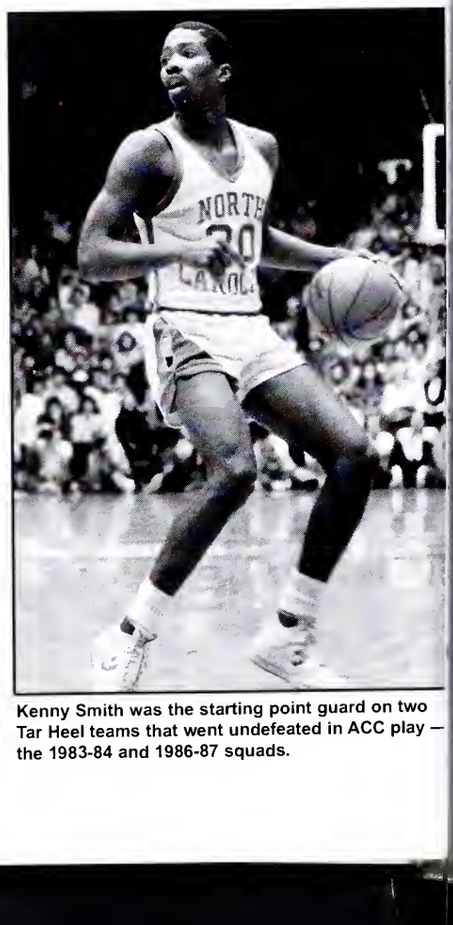
In 1984, Smith had one of his best teams ever before it fell victim to a late-season injury bug. At 28-3 overall, the Tar Heels became only the sixth team in ACC history to go through the conference regular-season round-robin undefeated at 14-0. Jordan was named the consensus National Player of the Year and Perkins was named both first-team All-ACC and first-team All-America for the third straight year. Starting point guard Kenny Smith suffered a broken wrist in the LSU game on January 29 and never fully recovered that season. Center Brad Daugherty also suffered a hand injury during the ACC Tournament that hampered his play the rest of the way. That Tar Heel team finished No. 1 nationally in both final polls.

The 1985 team was another of Smith's over-achieving teams. Ignored in the pre-season Top 20 polls for the first time in recent memory, UNC went 27-9 that year after losing Perkins and Jordan from the lineup. Carolina tied for the ACC regular-season championship as Daugherty and Kenny Smith had superb years for the Tar Heels. Carolina was eliminated in the finals of the NCAA Southeast Regional by eventual national champion Villanova.

FRESHMEN SENSATIONS

- In 1975, point guard Phil Ford averaged 16.4 points per game and earned ACC Tournament MVP honors, leading Carolina to the league title.
- In 1977, forward Mike O'Koren scored 31 points to lead Carolina past UNLV in the national semifinals.
- In 1980, forward James Worthy was shooting 58.7 percent from the floor in his first 14 games before suffering a season-ending injury.
- In 1981, Sam Perkins led UNC in blocked shots and was second on the squad in scoring and rebounding. Perkins was ACC Rookie of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP and was named to the NCAA All-West Regional Team. Perkins holds the ACC record for field goal percentage by a freshman at .626.
- In 1982, Michael Jordan hit the game-winning jump shot against Georgetown in the NCAA championship game. Jordan averaged 13.5 points per game as a freshman on that national title winning team, but even more impressively, made 53.4 percent of his shot attempts from the floor.
- In 1987, J.R. Reid averaged 14.7 points, shot 58.4 percent from the floor and led Carolina in rebounding with 7.4 per game. Reid was a freshman standout on a Tar Heel team that went 14-0 in the ACC regular season.
- In 1996, forward Antawn Jamison became only the fifth player in ACC history to earn first-team All-ACC honors as a freshman. He averaged 15.1 points and 9.7 rebounds and became the first rookie to lead the ACC in field goal percentage, shooting 62.4 percent from the floor.
- In 1994, Rasheed Wallace joined a veteran squad coming off a national championship and averaged 9.5 points and 6.6 rebounds and shot 60.4 percent from the floor. That same year, Jerry Stackhouse averaged 12.2 points a game. The Tar Heels finished No. 1 in the country in the final A.P. poll that season.
- In 1997, Ed Cota led the ACC in assists with 6.9 per game and led the Tar Heels to an ACC Tournament title and NCAA Final Four appearance.
- In 2000, Joseph Forte averaged 16.7 points per game, leading the Tar Heels in scoring, three-point field goals, and steals. Forte was the ACC Rookie of the Year, earned second-team All-ACC honors, Freshman All-America honors, and was the MVP of the Maui Classic and the NCAA South Regional.
- In 2003, Raymond Felton was third-team All-ACC and became UNC's first-ever freshman team MVP, setting a school freshman record with 236 assists. Also in 2003, Rashad McCants scored 17.0 points per game, the highest freshman scoring average in UNC history.
- Forte was the fifth Tar Heel to earn ACC Rookie of the Year honors. He joined Sam Perkins (1981), Michael Jordan (1982), J.R. Reid (1987) and Ed Cota (1997).
- Three Tar Heel freshmen – Phil Ford (1975), Sam Perkins (1981), and Jerry Stackhouse (1994) – were named ACC Tournament Most Valuable Players. Ford averaged 16.4 points, led the team with 161 assists and shot 51.6 percent from the floor as a freshman. Only two non-Tar Heel freshmen have won ACC Tournament MVP honors.



Kenny Smith was the starting point guard on two Tar Heel teams that went undefeated in ACC play – the 1983-84 and 1986-87 squads.

Jeff Lebo helped lead Carolina to a 116-25 record from 1985-89. He is now the head coach at Auburn.

THE OPENING OF THE DEAN E. SMITH CENTER

The 1986 unit, led by first-team All-America Daugherty, won its first 21 games en route to a 28-6 mark. The Tar Heels were devastated at season's end by injuries to starters Steve Hale and Joe Wolf and backup center Warren Martin. For the second straight year, UNC was eliminated from the NCAA Tournament by the eventual national champion, Louisville. The season was also highlighted by the opening of the Dean E. Smith Center on the Carolina campus on January 18, 1986. The No. 1-ranked Tar Heels celebrated the move into their new 21,572-seat arena by beating No. 3 Duke that day, 95-92.

The 1987 squad proved to be another of Coach Smith's best teams. Led by a strong senior nucleus which featured All-ACC players Kenny Smith and Wolf, UNC tied the school record for victories in a season with 32 while completing a 32-4 ledger and a No. 2 ranking in the final AP poll. For the second time in four years, UNC finished the ACC regular-season a perfect 14-0. UNC advanced to the NCAA East Regional finals before falling to eventual NCAA finalist Syracuse. Smith capped a brilliant Tar Heel career by surpassing Ford as the school's all-time assist leader and being named Basketball Times' National Player of the Year.

Going into the 1988 campaign, many experts viewed the Tar Heels as an inexperienced bunch that might struggle more than some of Carolina's previous great squads. Smith again confounded the experts as he took a team with only one senior and molded it into a 27-7 unit that won the ACC regular-season championship outright. The season was highlighted by the play of first-team All-America forward J.R. Reid. Among the 27 wins was a thrilling 96-93 overtime win over preseason No. 1-ranked Syracuse in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic at Springfield, Mass.

While the 1988 team was inexperienced, the 1989 team was a veteran unit, led by a tremendous starting backcourt of seniors Jeff Lebo and Steve Bucknall. Carolina won its first ACC Tournament championship in seven years as it beat arch-rival Duke 77-74 in the championship game at Atlanta. The Tar Heels went on to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament before losing to eventual NCAA champion Michigan. UNC's 29-8 record marked the ninth successive season in which Carolina had won as many as 27 games. The Tar Heels finished the season ranked fourth in the final United Press International poll.

After the 1989 campaign, Reid opted to forgo his final year of eligibility to enter the NBA draft and was chosen as the fifth selection by the Charlotte Hornets. With Reid, Lebo and Bucknall gone, Smith's 1990 unit was his youngest in recent memory. In an "off" year by Carolina standards, UNC still finished a solid 21-13. The 13 losses were the most by a Carolina team since the 1952 squad finished 12-15. Despite the double-digit losses, Carolina tied for third in the ACC standings, won at least 20 games again and was invited to the NCAA Tournament. The Tar Heels made the most of their opportunity there. Carolina pulled off a stunning upset of top-ranked Oklahoma, 79-77, in the second round of the NCAA Midwest Regional at Austin, Texas. Carolina was seeded eighth in the region, while the Sooners were the entire tournament's top seed. Rick Fox hit an off-balance bank shot in the lane as time expired to provide Carolina with the winning points.

A 10TH FINAL FOUR FOR UNC IN 1991

Carolina returned to the highest level again in 1991 as Smith led his team to its eighth NCAA Final Four during his tenure and the school's 10th trip overall. Carolina was ranked fourth nationally in the final AP and UPI polls as UNC finished 29-6. The Tar Heels won the 12th ACC Tournament championship in school history, a league record, by embarrassing arch-rival Duke 96-74 in the championship game at the Charlotte Coliseum. It was Smith's 11th tournament title in his 30th season at the helm of the Tar Heels.

A strong senior nucleus of All-ACC forward Rick Fox, center Pete Chilcutt and point guard King Rice led Carolina to its 21st straight 20-win season and its 17th successive bid to the NCAA Tournament. During the course of the season, UNC passed Kentucky as college basketball's all-time winningest team. In NCAA play, Carolina beat Northeastern, Villanova, Eastern Michigan and Temple to win the NCAA East Regional before being edged by Smith's alma mater, Kansas, coached by UNC alumnus Roy Williams, in the NCAA semifinals at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis.

In 1991-92, the Tar Heels, led by senior guard Hubert Davis, finished 23-10 overall and reached the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament for a 12th successive season. UNC also finished third in the ACC standings, the 28th successive season in which Carolina had finished at least third in the conference regular-season wars.

1993 NCAA TITLE

The 1993 Tar Heels added yet another trophy to the mantle of one of the sport's greatest coaches when the squad captured Coach Smith's second NCAA title by defeating Michigan 77-71 in the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. The team's 34-4 record broke the school record for victories in a season.

Picked by some sportswriters to finish third in the conference, Carolina won the ACC regular-season title with a 14-2 mark that included a spectacular, come-from-behind victory over Florida State on January 27, 1993 in the Smith Center – a game in which UNC rallied from a 21-point second-half deficit. The Heels entered the NCAA Tournament as the top seed in the East Regional, cruised to their 13th straight appearance in the Sweet 16 and survived frenetic battles against Arkansas and Cincinnati to earn Smith's ninth Final Four trip.

Battling Kansas in the NCAA semifinals for the second time in three years, Carolina advanced to the finals behind the outside shooting of sophomore guard Donald Williams. Other invaluable contributors to the NCAA title included the inside power of senior forward George Lynch and second-team All-America junior center Eric Montross and the quieter, yet equally important, contributions of point guard Derrick Phelps and small forward Brian Reese. In the finals against Michigan, Williams once again provided the spark, pouring in 25 points and making five-of-seven three pointers for the second straight game. As Williams was named the Most Outstanding Player of the Final Four, the celebration erupted simultaneously on Bourbon Street and Franklin Street with Carolina fans relishing the pinnacle of college basketball success once again.

The 1993-94 Carolina squad battled incredible expectations throughout the season and finished the year atop the Associated Press poll with a 28-7 record. A team with an interesting mixture of experience and youth, Carolina won Coach Smith's 12th ACC Tournament title with a 73-66 victory over Virginia in the finals. Seniors Eric Montross, Derrick Phelps, Brian Reese and Kevin Salvadori provided the leadership, while highly-touted freshmen Jeff McInnis, Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace showed glimpses of the future of Carolina basketball. The season ended with a disappointing loss to Boston College in the second round of the NCAA East Regional, but the early tournament exit could not overshadow the contributions of a senior class that won 114 games, two ACC Tournament titles, a national championship, and advanced to two Final Fours.

MORE FINAL FOURS AND NO. 877

The 1994-95 campaign began as one of uncertainty and ended as a further testament to the skill of Coach Smith and the skill of his players. With the loss of four senior starters from the previous year, the 1994-95 Tar Heels were one of Smith's most inexperienced teams in recent years. Nonetheless, sophomores Jeff McInnis, Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace stepped into their new starting roles beside senior guard Donald Williams and junior swingman Dante Calabria and led UNC to a 28-6 record, a tie for the ACC regular-season championship and the 12th NCAA Final Four in school history. Early in the season, Carolina became the first college basketball program in NCAA Division I history to amass 1,600 wins.

Stackhouse, a consensus first-team All-America, became the eighth Tar Heel to be named National Player of the Year when Sports Illustrated honored him as such. Wallace was a second-team All-America choice who finished the year as the ACC's leader in career field goal percentage (63.5 percent), while Williams completed his career as UNC's career leader in three-pointers made (221) and attempted (572).

The 1995-96 Tar Heels were as inexperienced a team as Coach Smith has placed on the court in his tenure. Stackhouse and Wallace both opted for the 1996 NBA Draft after their sophomore seasons and went as the third and fourth picks in the first round, respectively. Three freshmen – Antawn Jamison, Vince Carter and Ademola Okulaja – were among the top seven players on the team which finished 21-11 overall and third in the ACC with a 10-6 mark. Jamison became the first Tar Heel and just the fifth player in league history to be named first-team All-ACC as a freshman. The season was highlighted by an overtime win at Maryland, a 20-rebound performance at Virginia by Jamison and remarkable comeback victories at home over Wake Forest and Duke. Carolina also won at Duke's Cameron Indoor Stadium for the third consecutive year, behind 26 points by Shammond Williams and 25 by Jeff McInnis.

The 1996-97 season was uniquely special. Carolina opened ACC regular-season play with an unprecedented three straight losses, but regrouped to finish 11-5 in conference play and finish in a tie for second place with preseason favorite, Wake Forest. UNC won all eight of its games in February and earned a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament after winning the ACC Tournament title.

Jamison earned All-America and first-team All-ACC honors as he led the squad with 19.1 points and 9.4 rebounds per game. Freshman point guard Ed Cota was named the ACC's Rookie of the Year as he led the ACC and was eighth in the country in assists with 6.9 per game.

The Tar Heels went into the ACC Tournament as the No. 3 seed, but knocked off Virginia, Wake Forest and N.C. State to claim the school's 14th title. Shammond Williams averaged 20.0 points and 5.0 assists and was named the Tournament MVP. The Tar Heels swept through the NCAA East Regional, beating Louisville by 23 points in the regional final at Syracuse. Williams earned MVP honors after he scored a game-high 22 points against the Cardinals. He hit eight three-pointers in the two games in the Carrier Dome.

Smith became the winningest coach in Division 1 college basketball history with his 877th win. That came in the second round of the 1997 NCAA Tournament, a 73-56 triumph over Colorado. It was fitting that Smith's final season would include a trip to the Final Four, the 11th of his career.

GUTHRIDGE STEPS UP

Just prior to the start of the 1997-98 season, Smith stunned the basketball world when he announced his resignation as head coach on October 9, 1997. Smith, who said at the press conference, "I am the luckiest guy in the world — to be in Chapel Hill, to at the University of North Carolina with this faculty, this student body," turned the program over to his longtime assistant Bill Guthridge.

Guthridge picked up right where his mentor left off. The 60-year-old Kansas State alumnus became the winningest first-year head coach in NCAA history as he directed the Tar Heels to a 34-4 record, ACC Tournament title, NCAA Regional crown, Final Four berth and No. 1 ranking in the final Associated Press poll. Guthridge was named the National Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, CBS, The Sporting News and the Atlanta Tipoff Club (Naismith Award).

Carolina was led by consensus National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison, who led the ACC in scoring with 22.2 points per game and in rebounds with 10.5 per game. Jamison became the third player in ACC history – with UNC's Lennie Rosenbluth in 1957 and Duke's Christian Laettner in 1992 – to be named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season. Jamison finished his career fourth all-time at UNC in rebounds with 1,027 and seventh in scoring with 1,974 points. The Charlotte, N.C., native set a single-season record as a junior with 316 field goals and 389 rebounds and scored 822 points, second only to Rosenbluth's 895 in 1957. Jamison became the first player in ACC history to be named first-team All-ACC in his freshman, sophomore and junior seasons.

Cota established a UNC single-season assist record with 274, shattering Kenny Smith's previous mark of 235. Shammond Williams became the leading three-point shooter in UNC history with 233 and set the all-time ACC single-season free throw percentage record as he made 133 of 146 for a percentage of .911.

The Tar Heels twice defeated No. 1 ranked Duke. Those wins give Carolina nine all-time wins over No. 1 ranked teams, matching Notre Dame for the most wins over the nation's top-ranked programs. The first UNC win over Duke was a 97-73 decision on Feb. 5, 1998, and was only the second meeting between the two schools in which the teams were ranked 1-2 in the nation. The second win over the Blue Devils came in the ACC Tournament final. Jamison had 35 points and 11 rebounds in the regular-season game and 22 points and 18 rebounds in the ACC championship game.

After the season, Jamison and fellow first-team All-ACC selection Vince Carter declared for the NBA Draft after their junior seasons. Jamison was the fourth player selected in the first round and Carter was taken with the very next pick. The two players were then traded for each other with Jamison ending up with the Golden State Warriors and Carter with the Toronto Raptors. Carter went on to win the NBA Rookie of the Year Award, becoming the fifth Tar Heel to win the honor.

In 1998-99, the Tar Heels faced the early NBA departures of Carter and Jamison, but still finished 24-10. Carolina won 10 ACC regular-season games for the seventh straight year and advanced to the championship game of the ACC Tournament with a stunning 86-79 victory over fifth-ranked Maryland. Senior Ademola Okulaja earned first-team All-ACC honors after leading the Tar Heels in scoring, rebounding, steals and three-point baskets.

In 1999-2000, Guthridge led Carolina to the NCAA Final Four for the second time in his three years as head coach. The Tar Heels reached the national semifinals despite 13 regular-season losses, tying the record for most losses by a Final Four team. UNC, a No. 8 seed entering the NCAA Tournament, reached its sixth Final Four in 10 years and 15th overall, setting an NCAA record.

the third player in NCAA history to top the 1,000-assist plateau. Cota ended his career as the only player in NCAA history to total 1,000 points, 1,000 assists and 500 rebounds.

Also in 1999-2000, guard Joseph Forte became Carolina's fifth ACC Rookie of the Year honoree after leading the Tar Heels and all conference freshman in scoring. Forte is the first freshman in school history to lead UNC in scoring and scored more points as a freshman than any other player in school annals.

Carolina upset No. 3-ranked and top-seeded Stanford, 60-53, in the NCAA second round. In the regional final, Forte scored 28 points and Carolina beat Tulsa, 59-55.

Following the 1999-2000 season, head coach Bill Guthridge retired with a record of 80-28 in three years, which tied the record for most wins by a three-year head coach in NCAA history.

Matt Doherty, the head coach at Notre Dame, was named head coach on July 11, 2000. Doherty started at small forward on Carolina's 1982 NCAA championship team and tri-captained the 1984 squad that went unbeaten in ACC regular-season play.

Under Doherty, the 2001 Tar Heels reeled off 18 consecutive wins, including 11 in a row to start ACC play, and moved into the No. 1 national ranking in February. The Tar Heels knocked off Duke, 85-83, at Cameron Indoor Stadium behind Joseph Forte's 24 points and 16 rebounds and Brendan Haywood's two free throws with three seconds to play.

Carolina finished the ACC 13-3 and shared regular-season title honors with eventual NCAA champion Duke. Forte earned first-team All-America honors and was named co-ACC Player of the Year as he averaged 20.4 points per game. Haywood set the single-season school record with 120 blocked shots. Doherty was named the Associated Press National Coach of the Year.

WILLIAMS RETURNS HOME

After Matt Doherty's resignation following the 2002-03 season, former UNC assistant coach Roy Williams took over the Tar Heel program. Williams led Carolina to a 19-11 record and an NCAA Tournament berth in 2003-04. Sophomore Rashad McCants was the leading vote-getter for the All-ACC first team and was a third-team Associated Press All-America.

✓ Smith has more wins (879) than any other coach in NCAA Division I history.

✓ In 36 years, Smith coached Carolina to 11 Final Fours, two national titles and 13 ACC Tournament Championships.

✓ More than 96 percent of Smith's lettermen graduated since his first year in 1961-62.

✓ From 1981 to 1989, Carolina was ranked in the final Top 10 of both the Associated Press and coaches' poll each year.

✓ The Tar Heels shot 50 percent or better in 23 of Smith's 36 seasons.

✓ Smith was named the second-best coach in college basketball history (behind John Wooden) by the NABC in 2000.

✓ Smith was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., in 1983. He was also inducted into the North Carolina Hall of Fame in 1981.

✓ Smith was voted ACC Coach of the Year eight times - 1967, 1968, 1971, 1976, 1977, 1979, 1988 and 1993.

When ESPN's award-winning Sports Century program selected the greatest coaches of the 20th Century, it came to no surprise that Carolina basketball coach Dean Smith was among the top seven of alltime. Smith joined other legends Red Auerbach, Bear Bryant, George Halas, Vince Lombardi, John McGraw and John Wooden as the preeminent coaches in sports history.

Smith's tenure as Carolina's basketball coach from 1960-97 is a record of remarkable achievement and consistency. In 36 seasons at UNC, Smith's teams had a record of 879-254. His teams won more games than those of any other college coach in history.

However, that's only the beginning of what his UNC teams achieved.

• Under Smith, the Tar Heels won at least 20 games for 27 straight years and 30 of his final 31. No coach in history has ever produced that many consecutive 20-win seasons. In fact, no other coach has even won 20 games for 27 years.

• A 28-7 finish in his final year also gave Smith an NCAA-record 22nd season with at least 25 wins. Fresno State's Jerry Tarkanian ranks second in 25-win seasons with 14 and former UCLA Coach John Wooden is third with 11.

• From 1981 to 1989, Carolina was ranked in the final Top 10 of both the Associated Press and coaches' polls each year. That nine-year run is the second-longest streak of Top 10 finishes in history, exceeded only by UCLA's 13-year string from 1967 to 1979.

• In an era of tremendous competitiveness in the college game, the Tar Heels were ranked among the nation's final top 15 teams 28 of his last 31 seasons, missing only in 1970, 1990 and 1996, and were among the top 10 on 23 occasions during that period. Kentucky was second on the list with 23 appearances in the final top 15. Carolina teams coached by Smith finished the season ranked No. 1 in at least one of the two major polls four times (1982, 1984, 1993 and 1994).

• Smith's teams were also the dominant force in the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Tar Heels under Smith had a record of 364-136 in ACC regular-season play, a winning percentage of .728.

• The Tar Heels finished at least third in the ACC regular-season standings for 33 successive seasons. In that span, Carolina finished first 17 times, second 11 times and third five times.

• In 36 years of ACC competition, Smith's teams finished in the conference's upper division all but one time. That was in 1964, when UNC was fifth and had its only losing record in ACC regular-season play under Smith at 6-8.

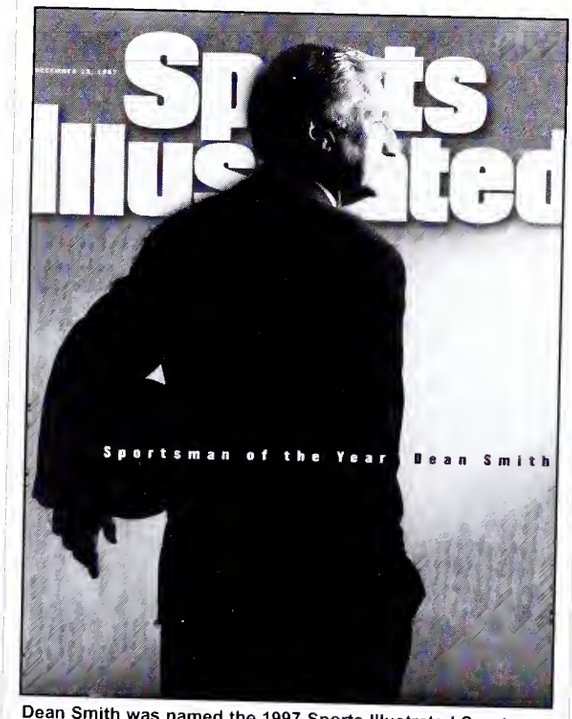
• Carolina's sweep of the 1997 ACC Tournament was its 13th under Smith. Mike Krzyzewski of Duke ranks second in ACC Tournament titles with eight.

• When Carolina advanced to the NCAA Final Four in 1997, it marked the 11th trip for one of Smith's teams to the national semi-finals. Only Wooden, with 12, has been there more often.

• Smith's teams made a record 23 consecutive appearances in the NCAA Tournament. Arizona's Lute Olson has the second-longest streak in history at 19.

• In his last 31 years, Smith led the Tar Heels into the NCAA Tournament 27 times.

• From 1981 through 1993 Carolina reached the Final 16 of NCAA play every season. That 13-year streak is the second-longest in Tournament history to a 14-year stretch by UCLA from 1967 to 1980.



Dean Smith was named the 1997 Sports Illustrated Sportsman of the Year.

Those numbers just begin to tell the story of what Dean Smith accomplished in his Carolina career. He has done more for his sport than perhaps any coach in history. Respected by fellow coaches, admired by his current and former players and acknowledged as one of the greatest minds in the game, Smith has accomplished nearly everything imaginable in his sport.

The awards and accolades continue to be given to Smith, even after he stepped down as Carolina's head coach on October 9, 1997. Smith was named Sportsman of the Year by Sports Illustrated, Honorary Coach of the Year by the United States Olympic Committee, received the Arthur Ashe Award for Courage at the annual ESPY Awards, and was honored with special awards for contributions to basketball by the Atlanta Tipoff Club and New York Athletic Club.

Smith also became the first recipient of the Mentor Award for Lifetime Achievement, given by the University of North Carolina Committee on Teaching Awards for "a broader range of teaching beyond the classroom."

He's recognized throughout the sports world for his character, his innovations to the game and his ability to have established Carolina's program as one of the greatest in college basketball. Smith's players consistently produce on the floor, in the classroom and in life.

As in any vocation, it's one's peers who truly know the daily rigors of a job best and can most appreciate what it takes to excel in the competitive world of collegiate coaching. The accolades Smith has received over the years are an indication of the respect they have for him.

Those have been common throughout his career, but mushroomed in March 1997 as he surpassed Adolph Rupp as the coach whose teams have won the most games in college history.

Here are a few examples of what some coaches said when that milestone was reached:

Former UCLA Coach John Wooden: "It's a tremendous accomplishment to break Coach Rupp's record. More than anything, it shows excellence over a long period of time. But what's more impressive to me about Dean than the record is how good he is as a teacher of basketball. I've always said he's a better teacher of basketball than anyone else. I couldn't begin to teach players the things Dean has taught them. I've admired him because there's more to him than just wins."

Texas Tech's Bob Knight: "Let me say some things that he won't say. He's going to say an awful lot about teams and that's the way it should be. But let me put it in perspective. His being able to do that and do it at a single institution, do it through all the years without ever having a problem with any kind of recruiting violation or probation, is a very singular accomplishment in college basketball. I think it's a great achievement, indicative of a guy who really knows how to coach and has decided from day one that things are going to be done the absolute right way.

"He's not going to tell you, but just take my word for it. That's a great, great accomplishment for a coach."

Duke's Mike Krzyzewski: "It's singularly such a tremendous accomplishment. People might say 'Yeah, you're at North Carolina and you've been there a number of years.' You be there a number of years. You be competitive. And you be as consistent with excellence as he has been.

"So whatever is written about him in a positive sense he justly deserves. I know he'll give credit, as we all would, to the players who have played for us, but in this situation the praise for him should rise well above that for the players who played for him."

Current UNC head coach Roy Williams: "He has a basketball program, he doesn't have a team. And when you have a program, you're concerned about the kids' entire lives, their entire existence ... and what they're going to do after they leave you and what kind of effect you can have on them as they mature."

Dave Odom of South Carolina: "What boggles the mind about him, at least to me, are the numbers of nights he's gone into the arena and been ready to compete on every single possession. I've not done it anywhere close to half as often and there are nights when it seems the season will never end. And yet, he's there, ready to go, always figuring out a way to beat you. Whenever I think about it, I shake my head in wonder."

Former Virginia Coach Terry Holland: "He has been a target for all of us who coached in the ACC to shoot for. It is not always the most pleasant position to be in. The Carolina program was the measuring stick to everybody who came into the league. He has been willing to be the measuring stick. He helped create national exposure not only for North Carolina, but also for the other ACC teams as well and made us all improve our programs."

Carolina has certainly had its share of sensational players. But, it was Smith who molded them into great teams by stressing unselfish play on offense and emphasizing hard-nosed defense on the other end of the court.

That's why he received praise for years and not just because of his all-time record.

In the December 1993 issue of College Sports magazine, Smith was hailed by his fellow NCAA Division I coaches as the coaching colleague they respected the most. In a survey of 46 Division I basketball coaches, Smith topped the most respected category and was second in the most feared category behind Indiana's Knight. The latter was based on the question, "Who would you least like to face in a big game?"

The results of a 1986 Dallas Morning News poll of college head coaches also revealed resounding admiration for Smith. In a survey of head coaches at that season's NCAA Final Four, Smith received 49 votes as the nation's top basketball coach.

At the 1995 NCAA Final Four, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer conducted a poll of all attending coaches. The paper asked, "If you could spend one hour talking with one living person about college basketball, who would it be?" The top three answers were UCLA's Wooden, Indiana's Knight and Smith.

Perhaps his greatest form of praise on a worldwide level came when a group of his peers, including Hall of Fame coaches Henry Iba, Pete Newell and Auerbach, chose Smith to coach the U.S. Olympic basketball team in the 1976 Montreal Games. The Americans finished a controversial second to the Soviet Union at Munich in 1972. Smith was given the challenge of trying to develop a team to regain the Gold Medal against a group of improving international teams.

He promptly named his long-time Carolina assistant, Bill Guthridge, and Georgetown's John Thompson, to be his assistants on the Olympic Team staff. Smith's teaching skills were put to one of their toughest tests. In the international game, it's not about building character and preparing young men for life, it's about winning under extreme pressure.

Smith molded a group of college all-stars into a cohesive unit during a few short weeks in that summer of 1976 and led them to the gold medal, sweeping through the Games undefeated and beating Yugoslavia in the championship game. Emphasizing a tough pressure defense and a fast-breaking, attacking style on offense, the Americans returned to the top of the international game.

Just as Smith used his talents to develop that 1976 all-star team into an Olympic champion, he has prepared a host of players for successful careers in the NBA.

"UNC is a plus-four school," according to Orlando Magic Vice President of Basketball Operations-Player Personnel John Gabriel, "meaning that if I rate a player as the 10th-best player in the NBA Draft, being a Tar Heel automatically jumps him to number six. The plus-four rating is based upon the success of former Tar Heels in the NBA."

The Miami Heat's Pat Riley, who coached former Tar Heel standout James Worthy to three world titles with the Los Angeles Lakers, is another believer in Smith's program.

"We always look for players from North Carolina," said Riley. "If we could draft players every year from North Carolina, we'd do it. You know they know how to play. The players are so full of character like James and Michael Jordan. I have a lot of respect for Coach Smith. I'm the beneficiary of a man who has taught all these guys how to play the game. When they come to the pros, they're refined. They're ready to step right in."

While statistics can sometimes be misleading, in Smith's case the figures are just too overwhelming to ignore.

During his last 31 seasons, since Smith's Tar Heels won their first ACC title in 1967, Carolina was among the most dominant teams in the history of the game. The Tar Heels had a record of 813-207 in that span, winning 79.7 percent of their games. That's an average record of 26-7 per year.

In 23 of those 31 seasons, Carolina won either the regular-season, tournament title or both. That level of consistency would be an amazing feat for any college basketball program, but it is particularly significant in a league as competitive as the ACC.

Most schools are happy just to win 20 games in a season. At Carolina, it's become a habit. No school in the country won more total games in that 31-year period than Carolina. UCLA was second with 751 victories. The Tar Heels also had the most wins over his last 20 seasons with 539, and over his last 10 years with 268.

Smith's teams earned 27 or more wins in 14 of his last 17 seasons.

For Smith and his players, the word "class" applied to the team's exemplary sportsmanship on the court, to its excellent academic performance and to Smith's belief that basketball involves many complexities that must be learned over the course of time — that coaching and playing the game is a classroom situation in its own right. The Tar Heels' astounding consistency on the court was due in large part to Smith's efforts to teach his players the fundamentals and the intricacies of the sport.

That dedication, along with a graduation rate among his lettermen of 97.3 percent, have been instrumental in Carolina's success.

Without compromising a commitment to academic excellence, Smith's teams have won championships at every level. There were NCAA titles in 1982 and 1993 and a sweep of the National Invitation Tournament in 1971. His gold medal-winning team at the 1976 Summer Olympic Games makes Smith one of only three men in history to coach teams to that troika of an NCAA title, NIT championship and Olympic victory. The others are Pete Newell and Bob Knight.

Smith's coaching skills and dedication to playing with class are the reasons he was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., in 1983. He was also inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 1981.

Former Marquette Coach Al McGuire once said of him: "If anyone was born to be a coach, it's Dean Smith. He's the Jack Armstrong-type person."

A key to Smith's success has been his ability to change Carolina's style to fit his personnel. He favored an offense which used the fast break whenever possible and featured a quick passing attack. But, he was also comfortable in a more disciplined style of play.

He liked to play multiple defenses to confuse opponents. However, his preference was a pressure, man-to-man to speed up the action.

Smith had tremendous rapport with his players and that was an important aspect of what he has accomplished. He had an uncanny talent for getting the best out of all his players, from his many All-Americas to the last guys on the bench.

The fast-breaking attack, great teamwork in a set offense and steals produced by the defense resulted in a number of easy baskets. Along with good shot selection, those things have helped Carolina annually rank among the best shooting teams in the nation. Only four times since 1970 did Carolina fail to hit at least 50 percent from the field as a team. Even in those four seasons, Carolina topped the ACC in field goal shooting each year.

Among Smith's many innovations are the run-and-jump defense, the scramble defense out of man-to-man pressure defense, the point zone, team huddles at the foul line, double-teamming the screen-and-roll, the free-lance passing game and multiple screens against zone defenses.

Smith's amazing knack for being such a good instructor developed early. Born February 28, 1931, in Emporia, Kan., Dean Edwards Smith grew up as the son of public school teachers. He graduated from Topeka

High School in 1949 and went to the University of Kansas on an academic scholarship. He played varsity basketball and baseball and freshman football for the Jayhawks. He was a member of Jayhawk basketball teams that won the NCAA title in 1952 and finished second in 1953.

After graduating from Kansas, Smith served as an assistant coach at his alma mater to Phog Allen and Dick Harp and then served in the U.S. Air Force as a lieutenant. While in the service, he played and coached basketball in Germany. Smith served for three years as an assistant basketball coach under Bob Spear, recognized by his peers as one of the outstanding coaches in the history of the game, and one year each as head baseball and head golf coach at the United States Air Force Academy. In 1958, the late Frank McGuire asked him to join his staff at Carolina as an assistant coach. Smith served as an assistant under McGuire for three years before McGuire resigned to become head coach of the NBA's Philadelphia Warriors in the summer of 1961. At that time, Carolina Chancellor William Aycock tapped the 30-year-old Smith to become UNC's head coach.

Since Smith taught the fundamentals and complexities of basketball so well, former Tar Heel players, assistant coaches and managers have moved on to enjoy very successful careers in all fields of endeavor.

Smith shared his knowledge of the game with a talented group of assistants. Many of his assistants went on to head coaching jobs, including Larry Brown, Roy Williams, John Lotz, Kenny Rosemond, Eddie Fogler, Randy Wiel and Bill Guthridge.

Brown, inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in September 2002, led UCLA to the 1980 NCAA finals and won the 1988 NCAA championship at Kansas. He led the Philadelphia 76ers to the NBA Finals and was named NBA Coach of the Year in 2001. In 2004, Brown led the Detroit Pistons to the NBA title, becoming the first coach ever to win NBA and NCAA championships.

Williams led Kansas to four Final Fours and has earned National Coach of the Year honors. Lotz and Rosemond earned Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year honors at Florida and Georgia, respectively. Fogler won an SEC title and was named National Coach of the Year at Vanderbilt and had a successful career at Wichita State and South Carolina, as well.

Guthridge, Smith's assistant at Carolina for 30 seasons, received numerous head coaching offers during his stint at UNC. Guthridge, however, made a career decision to stay in Chapel Hill and not pursue head coaching positions. He was named Carolina's head coach on October 9, 1997, when Smith resigned. Guthridge posted a 34-4 record in his first year as a head coach and was named National and ACC Coach of the Year as the Tar Heels won the ACC championship and played in the Final Four. Two years later, Guthridge again directed Carolina to the Final Four.

Matt Doherty, Carolina's former head coach, played for Smith at UNC from 1980-84. In his first year as the Tar Heels' head coach, he was named The Associated Press Coach of the Year. Billy Cunningham, Smith's first All-America, was head coach of the 76ers in 1983 when Philadelphia won the NBA title.

Smith's talents do not lie solely in tutoring quality college coaches as is evidenced by the number of outstanding players who have gone on to professional careers after their days in Chapel Hill. In Smith's 36-year tenure, more than 50 of his players went on to play pro basketball in the National Basketball Association or American Basketball Association and many more played in other professional leagues both in the United States and overseas.

After playing in Smith's program at Carolina, most Tar Heels have made a smooth transition to the rigors of the professional game. Six of Smith's players won rookie of the year awards in either the NBA or ABA, including Charlie Scott, Robert McAdoo, Walter Davis, Phil Ford, Michael Jordan and Vince Carter.

"Coming out of high school I had all the ability in the world, but I didn't know the game," says Jordan, a five-time NBA MVP. "Coach taught me the game, when to apply speed, how to use your quickness, when to use that first step, or how to apply certain skills in certain situations. I gained all that knowledge so that when I got to the pros, it was just a matter of applying the information. Dean Smith gave me the knowledge to score 37 points a game and that's something people don't understand."

In his 36 years at Carolina, Smith coached players who went on to become doctors, lawyers and businessmen. Many of them attribute their success to the skills and lessons they carried over from their time as a player under Smith.

"He was always very supportive and has provided me with invaluable insight for most of the major decisions I've made since 1971," says Charles Waddell, Vice Chancellor in the Office of Institutional Advancement at Fayetteville State University. "He is one of the best teachers I've had. He taught us to work hard, to sacrifice for the good of the team, to maximize your strengths and minimize your weaknesses. Although

In 1999, ABC Sports named its "Sportscentury Greatest Coaches of the Century." Dean Smith was selected as one of the seven. The list (in alphabetical order):

Red Auerbach, Boston Celtics (NBA)
Bear Bryant, University of Alabama (football)
George Halas, Chicago Bears (NFL)

John McGraw, NY Giants (MLB)

he taught us these lessons through basketball, they have provided me with a strong foundation for life."

Here are more examples of what some of his former players have said about him in the past:

Former NBA head coach George Karl: "I don't think any of the lettermen can really express the family atmosphere that he's built, the tradition that he's built of loyalty and camaraderie. It's a fraternity that's very much admired by basketball people in the world."

Michael Jordan: "The camaraderie that he has with his players goes a long way. He's taught a lot of us similar traits and we've accepted that and we've moved on as players and people. That's something we treasure more so than maybe our basketball experience — the things that we learned away from the game.

"He's like a second father to me. When I first left school I was unsure, nervous, scared, going into a situation I wasn't really comfortable with and I didn't know if I was ready for it. He calmed me down with a fatherly attitude, taking me under his wing and teaching me a lot of things about being an adult."

Phil Ford: "My first impression of Coach Smith was honesty. He didn't promise me playing time. In fact, he told me I might have to play on the junior varsity my first year. That kind of set me back. But my mom really liked that because she said, 'Phil, if he's not out here promising you that you will start, that means you go there and work hard and do the best that you can do, then he won't be out promising your job to another high school player.' And if you think about it, that made a lot of sense."

Larry Brown: "Nobody's done it better over a longer period of time than he has. He won in the '60s, '70s, '80s and '90s and if you look at his teams, they've always been innovative, he hasn't been lost or left behind. He's always stayed ahead. He's kept young. He's learned to deal with all kinds of athletes and the changes we've all faced."

Smith ranks as the winningest coach in the history of the NCAA Tournament with 65 victories. In 36 ACC Tournaments, he had a coaching record of 58-23, a winning percentage of .716.

Smith, who played for the legendary Phog Allen at Kansas in the early 1950s, is also one of only two men to both play on and coach an NCAA championship team. Smith was a member of the Jayhawk squad that won college basketball's top prize in 1952. He then coached the Tar Heels to national titles in 1982 and 1993. Knight is the other person to accomplish the feat. Bob Knight played on Ohio State's 1960 championship team and then coached Indiana to three titles.

Carolina was invited to the postseason in each of Smith's last 31 years as head coach. In 27 of those seasons, including the last 23 in succession, Carolina was invited to play in the NCAA Tournament. In 1970, 1971, 1973 and 1974, Carolina was invited to play in the NIT, winning the championship in 1971 and finishing third in 1973. But those appearances came before the NCAA opened its tournament in 1975 to admit more than one member from any conference.

Smith is also the author of "Basketball: Multiple Offenses and Defenses," which has been translated into several foreign languages. His autobiography, "A Coach's Life," hit bookstores in November 1999. The book was on the New York Times bestseller list and is now available in paperback. Smith released "The Carolina Way: Leadership Lessons from a Life in Coaching" in 2004.

The list of other coaches to win the award include Wooden, the late Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, the late Bear Bryant of Alabama, Joe Paterno of Penn State and the late Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys.

4 national titles | 31 first-round NBA Draft picks

Bill Guthridge stepped down as the head coach at the University of North Carolina on June 30, 2000, after a record-setting coaching career. He won more games than any college head coach in history after two seasons and tied Everett Case for coaching victories after three years. He took his teams to two Final Fours in three years and was consensus National Coach of the Year in 1998. He played or coached in 14 Final Fours, more than any person in NCAA history. That includes two as a head coach at Carolina, 10 as a Tar Heel assistant coach, and one each as a player and assistant coach at his alma mater, Kansas State.

Prior to being appointed head coach to succeed the legendary Dean Smith, Guthridge was Smith's assistant for 30 years. He joined the UNC staff in 1967 after five years as assistant to the widely-respected Tex Winter at Kansas State. In his 33 seasons at Carolina, the Tar Heels won two NCAA championships (1982 and 1993), played in 12 Final Fours, won the ACC Tournament championship 13 times and played in the ACC Tournament championship game a total of 22 times. The Tar Heels finished first or tied for first in the ACC regular season 16 times, finished second or tied for second in the ACC regular season 11 times, and finished third or tied for third in the ACC regular season six times. UNC never finished lower than third in the ACC regular season standings and participated in the postseason in all 33 years (29 of the 33 years in the NCAA Tournament, including the last 26 years in a row).

He was a part of 867 wins in 33 seasons at Carolina and 960 college coaching victories overall, including 93 wins on the staff at Kansas State. Those 960 wins are a Division I record for most wins as both a head and assistant coach. He was on the sidelines for a record 73 NCAA Tournament victories, including 71 at Carolina and two at Kansas State. Guthridge played college basketball at Kansas State.

After two seasons as a high school coach, he began his college coaching career as a Wildcat assistant for five seasons. His 14 NCAA Final Four appearances include one as a player at Kansas State (1958); one as an assistant coach at Kansas State (1964); 10 as an assistant at Carolina (1968, '69, '72, '77, '81, '82, '91, '93, '95 and '97) and two as UNC's head coach (1998 and 2000).

The Parsons, Kan., native posted an 80-28 record in three seasons as Carolina's head coach. Guthridge led the 1998 and 2000 UNC teams to the Final Four. He joined Ohio State's Fred Taylor as just the second man in history to lead teams to two Final Fours in his first three seasons as a head coach. He was named National Coach of the Year in 1997-98 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, the Atlanta Tipoff Club (Naismith Award), CBS/Chevrolet, the Columbus (Ohio) Touchdown Club and The Sporting News. That year, UNC went 34-4 and Guthridge set the NCAA record for wins by a first-year head coach with 34. He directed UNC to the 1998 Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament championship and was named the ACC Coach of the Year.

Tom Copeland/News & Record

He guided the Tar Heels to team tournament championships in the 1997 Great Alaska Shootout, 1998 ACC Tournament, 1998 NCAA East Regional, 1998 Preseason NIT, 1999 Maui Invitational, 1999 Food Lion MVP Classic and 2000 NCAA South Regional.

"He stuck by us through (last) season," said forward Jason Capel. "He's someone you could always talk to. He's a very caring, genuine person who is good-hearted. That's his biggest quality, and he really cares about us much more than as athletes, but as people."

He coached 1997-98 National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison and 1998-99 NBA Rookie of the Year Vince Carter, both of whom entered the NBA Draft after their junior seasons. In his tenure at UNC, he coached five National Players of the Year (Phil Ford, Michael Jordan, Kenny Smith, Jerry Stackhouse and Antawn Jamison), six ACC Players of the Year (Larry Miller, Mitch Kupchak, Ford, Jordan, Jamison and Joseph Forte), five ACC Rookies of the Year (Sam Perkins, Jordan, J.R. Reid, Ed Cota and Forte) and 28 first-team All-ACC players. He also coached 66 players who were selected in the NBA and/or ABA Drafts.

He coached summer basketball in 1967 and 1970 in Puerto Rico and was named coach of the year in 1967.

Guthridge was an assistant coach along with Hall of Famer John Thompson under Dean Smith in 1976 when the United States won the Olympic gold medal in Montreal.

BEN CARNEVALE

Ben Carnevale only spent two seasons as Carolina's head coach, but both were remarkable years. He led the Tar Heels to a 22-6 record in 1945 and a 30-5 mark in 1946.

Carnevale had been a collegiate star at NYU for the legendary Howard McCann. The Violets were undefeated in 1936 and only lost five games in his three years of varsity competition. After graduating in 1938, he coached the freshmen there before playing one season of professional basketball. He then became head coach at Cranford High in New Jersey.

A lieutenant in the Navy, he came to Chapel Hill during World War II as part of the V-12 program here. When Carolina Coach Bill Lange resigned to become athletic director at Kenyon College as the 1945 season was approaching, Carnevale volunteered to help out in the emergency.

Because of the war, his first Carolina team was comprised completely of newcomers with the exception of one returning varsity reserve and one "B team" member from 1944. The "White Phantoms", as the team was called, still posted a 22-6 record and won the Southern Conference Tournament championship.

Bigger things were to come the following year. Led by Jim Jordan, John "Hook" Dillon, Horace "Bones" McKinney and Bob Paxton, Carolina posted a 30-5 record.

Carnevale's team advanced to NCAA Tournament play at Madison Square Garden. The White Phantoms beat NYU, 57-49, in the Eastern semi-finals and then edged Ohio State, 60-57, in an overtime battle for the Eastern crown. In the NCAA Finals, Carolina was beaten by Oklahoma A&M and the Aggies' seven-foot star, Bob Kurland. Carolina simply could not match the inside power of Kurland who finished with 23 points in a 43-40 victory.

Following the 1946 season Carnevale left Chapel Hill to take the head coaching job at the U.S. Naval Academy. His first Navy team went 16-1 and earned the school's first-ever berth in the NCAA Tournament. He was named national coach of the year because of his success that season.

Carnevale spent 20 seasons at Navy, posting a career record there of 257-160. One of his most stunning victories came in 1959 when the Mids upset a Carolina team that had been ranked in the Top 10 almost all year in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

Five of his Navy teams played in the NCAA Tournament and two others competed in the National Invitation Tournament. He was named president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches for the 1965-66 season and has been inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame because of his coaching career.

Carnevale retired from coaching following the 1966 season to become athletic director at his alma mater, NYU. He served on the NCAA Men's Basketball Committee, which selects the field for the postseason tournament in his final year at Navy and until 1970 while at NYU.

TOM SCOTT

When Ben Carnevale left Carolina following World War II to go to Navy, Tom Scott was chosen as his successor.

A native of Pittsburgh, Kan., he was a four-year varsity player at Kansas State. Upon graduation he played with the Wichita Henrys AAU team, which won the 1931 national AAU championship.

He coached on the high school level in Kansas for five years before becoming head coach at Concordia College in Minnesota for two seasons. In 1938 he began a four-year stint as head coach at Central Missouri State. After serving four years in the Navy during World War II, he returned to Central Missouri State where his teams won conference titles four out of the next five seasons.

His first Carolina squad posted a 19-8 record in 1947, dropping a narrow 50-48 decision to NC State in the Southern Conference Tournament finals. Carolina was 20-7 in 1948, 20-8 in 1949 and 17-12 in 1950. The Tar Heels had remarkable success against Duke in that three-year period, winning seven of eight games.

After back-to-back 12-15 seasons, he resigned to become coach of the famed Phillips 66 Oilers AAU team in Oklahoma. In six seasons at Chapel Hill his overall record was 100-65, a winning percentage of .665.

He returned to the college scene in 1954 as athletic director at Davidson. However, when Danny Miller resigned at mid-season, Scott had to take over the coaching duties. He remained in that position until 1960. His overall collegiate record was 315-173.

He hired Lefty Driesell as his replacement, which turned out to be a great move. Driesell took the Wildcats to four NCAA Tournaments and posted seven 20-win seasons there.

Scott was honored twice by the National Association of Basketball Coaches. In 1968 he received an award of merit for 35 years of coaching. In 1975 he received an Appreciation Award for contributions to the NABC.

From 1967 to 1975, Scott served on the NCAA Men's Basketball Committee and was its chairman from 1970-1975. He was instrumental in bringing the 1994 Final Four to Charlotte, as well as over 50 regional and early-round NCAA Tournament games.

FRANK McGUIRE

The man who brought the Atlantic Coast Conference its first NCAA basketball championship was Frank McGuire. He also changed the course of college basketball history by hiring Dean Smith as an assistant in 1958. Smith, of course, would go on to develop the most consistent program in the game's history.

McGuire came to Chapel Hill prior to the 1952-53 season after Tom Scott had resigned to become head coach of the Phillips 66 Oilers.

A native New Yorker, McGuire had spent the previous five seasons at St. John's. His 1952 team had reached the NCAA championship game before losing to Kansas.

McGuire starred in football, basketball and baseball at Xavier High School in Brooklyn. He then played both basketball and baseball at St. John's.

After graduation, he returned to Xavier as basketball coach. His teams there went 126-39. His high school coaching was interrupted by Navy duty during World War II. He spent some of his time at Chapel Hill in the pre-flight unit, leading to his interest in Carolina.

Because of his success at Xavier, he was selected to follow the great

Joe Lapchick at St. John's in 1947. In five seasons at St. John's, his teams won 103 games and lost just 36. All five of his teams there were chosen for the National Invitation Tournament and two also played in the NCAA Tournament.

However, when the Carolina job became available, McGuire could not turn it down. His first Tar Heel team went 17-10. In nine years here he would have just one losing season, a 10-11 mark in 1955.

His nine-year record was 164-58. Carolina finished first or tied for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings five times in this period.

Because of his background in New York City, that proved to be a fertile recruiting area for McGuire. With his many contacts among New York high school coaches, he developed a pipeline of top talent for Carolina. This "underground railroad" brought players like Lennie Rosenbluth, Tommy Kearns, Pete Brennan, Joe Quigg and Bob Cunningham to Chapel Hill. They were the starters on McGuire's greatest team — the 1957 squad that went 32-0 and swept the NCAA title.

Later McGuire would talk New York-area stars like York Larese, Doug Moe, Donnie Walsh, Larry Brown and Billy Cunningham into attending Carolina.

The highlight of McGuire's Tar Heel career was certainly the 1957 season. This team had a perfect starting unit for McGuire. The 6-5 Rosenbluth was one of the national scoring leaders, averaging 28.0 points a game, as well as 8.8 rebounds. Brennan, a 6-6 forward, was the top rebounder at 10.4 and second-leading scorer with a 14.7 mark. The 6-9 Quigg gave the Tar Heels an inside presence. Kearns was the playmaker in the backcourt and also scored at a 12.8 clip. Cunningham was the team's defensive stopper.

As was the case with many of McGuire's teams, the starting unit played most of the way. Of Carolina's 32 victories, 13 were by 10 points or less. Fans began to believe this was a team of destiny after a double-overtime triumph at Maryland in early February.

The 1957 Final Four in Kansas City is still regarded by many as the most exciting of all time. Carolina topped Michigan State with Johnny Green, 74-40, in a triple-overtime semifinal game. Then the very next game the Tar Heels had to go three overtimes again before outlasting Kansas, featuring Wilt Chamberlain, 54-53.

Prior to the 1958-59 season, McGuire hired Dean Smith to be his top assistant. This move would change the course of college basketball history as Smith was selected to replace him when McGuire moved to the NBA for the 1961-62 season.

As coach and vice-president of the Philadelphia Warriors, he led his team to a 49-31 record. The Warriors—with Hall of Famers Paul Arizin, Tom Gola and Chamberlain—took the Boston Celtics to seven games before losing in the NBA's Eastern Conference finals.

McGuire left coaching briefly before returning to the college ranks for the 1964-65 season at South Carolina. He compiled a 283-142 record in 16 seasons with the Gamecocks. That gave him a career record of 549-236 in 30 years. He led South Carolina to its only ACC regular-season title in 1970 and only ACC Tournament championship in 1971.

McGuire, a member of the Naismith Hall of Fame, suffered only three losing seasons in his 30 years as a college head coach. He was the first coach in history to win over 100 games at three different schools and also to take two different schools to the NCAA championship game. He is one of only a few coaches to take three different schools to the NCAA Tournament.

He was named national coach of the year three times—in 1952 at St. John's, 1957 at Carolina and 1970 at South Carolina.

He remains the only man in history to win ACC titles at two different schools. In 1970 he received the Award of Merit from the National Association of Basketball Coaches. In 1977 South Carolina renamed its homecourt "Frank McGuire Arena."

MATT DOHERTY

Matt Doherty became the second former Tar Heel player to be head coach at his alma mater when he replaced the retiring Bill Guthridge on July 11, 2000. Doherty led Carolina to a 53-43 record from 2000-03.

He was the Associated Press National Coach of the Year after leading UNC to a 26-7 record and a share of the ACC regular-season title in his first season. The Tar Heels won 18 straight games in mid-season and earned the No. 1 ranking in the nation for two weeks in February. A 13-3 record in the ACC tied eventual national champion Duke for the regular-season title. Doherty became just the second person in ACC history to play for and coach an ACC team ranked No. 1 in the country. Carolina had impressive wins that first season at UCLA, Wake Forest, Maryland and Duke. The Tar Heels lost to the Blue Devils in the ACC Tournament finals, and were a No. 2 seed in the NCAA South Region.

After an 8-20 second season, Carolina bounced back to a 19-16 record in Doherty's third and final year as head coach. He coached the youngest team in school history to the Preseason NIT championship with wins over No. 2 ranked Kansas and Stanford, and had impressive wins over Connecticut, Duke and Maryland later in the season. Carolina beat three Top 10 teams, matching the school record for wins by an unranked team against Top 10 opponents.

The Tar Heels returned to the postseason in 2003 and advanced to the third round of the NIT.

ACC TOURNAMENT

The Atlantic Coast Conference Men's Basketball Tournament is annually the pre-eminent college roundball clash in the country and no team has won as many tournament championships or dominated the history of the event more than the University of North Carolina.

The Tar Heels have won a record 15 ACC Tournament crowns, an unmatched 75 games and been the No. 1 seed on 18 occasions. Coach Dean Smith led Carolina to 13 championships, five more than Mike Krzyzewski of Duke.

Carolina won its first ACC Tournament title in 1957 as the Tar Heels would go on to post a perfect record and win the NCAA championship. UNC is the only school in the conference that won at least one ACC Tournament in the 1950s (one), 1960s (three), 1970s (four), 1980s (three) and 1990s (four). From 1954 to 1974, only the conference tournament champion was invited to the NCAA Tournament; UNC won five tournaments in that era, including three straight from 1967-69.

If remarkable seems like too strong a word to describe UNC's history in the ACC Tournament, consider these statistics:

✓ UNC has entered the tournament as the No. 1 seed 18 times, compiling a 35-10 record in that slot and winning eight titles as the No. 1 seed.

✓ UNC has been seeded lower than No. 5 just twice and has been seeded lower than No. 3 only five times since 1966 (No. 4 in '89, '90 and 2000 and No. 7 in 2002 and 2003). UNC won the tournament as the No. 4 seed in 1989.

✓ The ACC Tournament has been played in five different cities, and UNC has a winning record in each arena, most prolifically a 31-11 (.738) record in Greensboro.

✓ A UNC player has won the Everett Case Award as the Most Valuable Player 16 times. Those players read like a who's who list of college basketball talent. They include: Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Larry Miller (1967, 1968), Charles Scott (1969), Lee Dedmon (1971), Robert McAdoo (1972), Phil Ford (1975), John Kuester (1977), Dudley Bradley (1979), Sam Perkins (1981), James Worthy (1982), J.R. Reid (1989), Rick Fox (1991), Jerry Stackhouse (1994), Shammond Williams (1997) and Antawn Jamison (1998).

Overall, Carolina has a 75-34 record in the ACC Tournament. Dean Smith's teams were 58-23 in the event. Smith's teams played in the title game in 21 of his 36 years.

Hugh Morton

Carolina won three straight ACC Tournaments from 1967-69. Overall, the Tar Heels have won 15 conference crowns, more than any other ACC school.

North Carolina lost its first two games, both as the No. 5 seed, in 1954 and 1955. Skippy Winstead's 25 points, 70 percent shooting and 40 minutes played did not go unnoticed in the 1954 game against N.C. State, garnering first-team all-tournament honors.

The breakthrough season for the Tar Heels in the ACC Tournament came in 1957. A group of displaced Yankees playing for Frank McGuire ran the table in the conference regular season, 14-0. That year marked the first time that UNC reached the finals of any conference tournament since the 1947 finals of the Southern Conference Tournament. The Tar Heels held off Wake Forest, 61-59, in the semifinal and then defeated South Carolina by 20 points in the final to earn their first ACC championship. In the semifinal, Wake Forest took a one-point lead with less than a minute to play, but National Player of the Year Lennie Rosenbluth hit a hook shot from the circle as well as a free throw for a three-point play and the win.

Rosenbluth made 8 of 11 shots from the floor in the championship en route to 38 points, the team title and MVP honors.

Carolina made the championship game again in 1958 and '59 but lost to Maryland and NC State, respectively.

THE 1960s

Carolina won only four of 10 games from 1960-66, but dominated the ACC over the next three years. In an era when only the ACC Tournament champion would advance to the NCAA Tournament, the pressure to win the conference tournament was greater than ever. The 1967-68-69 Tar Heel teams rank as one of the great eras in conference history. Those teams went a combined 36-6 in regular-season league action and a perfect 9-0 in the ACC Tournament.

The Tournament moved to the Greensboro Coliseum for the first time in 1967 and was the site of Smith's first title. Larry Miller and the Tar Heels defeated NC State in the quarterfinal by three points, Wake Forest in the semifinal by 10 and Duke by nine in the title match. Miller was selected the Most Valuable Player (25.7 points, 8.3 rebounds). Joining Miller on the first-team all-tournament squad was Bob Lewis (18.0 points, 5.0 rebounds). Rusty Clark and Dick Grubar were selected to the second team.

The Tournament moved again in 1968 for the first year of a three-year stay in Charlotte. UNC's semifinal game against South Carolina was a fierce battle. A fiery second-half start by North Carolina was extinguished by the Gamecocks, as USC produced an 18-4 burst to tie the score at 74 at the end of regulation. The Tar Heels had to come from behind in overtime and won on baskets by Grubar and Gerald Tuttle.

In the championship game, Carolina led NC State by only five at the half, but the final tally was a lopsided 87-50 victory for UNC's second straight title. Miller (25.3 points, 8.7 rebounds) repeated his selection as the MVP, and Grubar (13.3 points, 4.7 rebounds) was also a first-team selection. Charlie Scott and Clark were second-team selections.

North Carolina entered the 1969 ACC Tournament as the No. 1 seed for the third year in a row after posting a 12-2 league record. It was a tale of two "Charlies" in the semifinals as Carolina's Charlie Scott and Wake Forest's Charlie Davis battled. Davis won the first half, as the Deacons led 37-29 at intermission. Scott took over in the second stanza, enabling UNC to win, 80-72. Scott and Grubar scored 23 points each.

Carolina and Duke squared off in the championship game. The Blue Devils led by nine at halftime and the Tar Heels lost Grubar to a first-half knee injury. The second half featured one of the most memorable performances in ACC history as Scott scored 25 of his game-high 40 points on 12 of 13 shooting. Thanks in large part to Scott's efforts, Carolina won its third straight ACC title, 85-74, and Scott earned MVP honors.

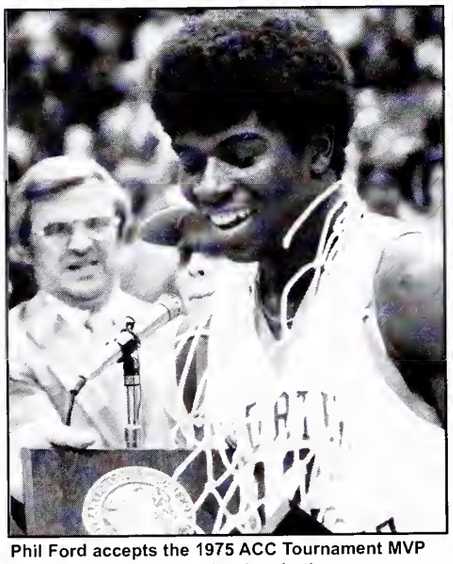
The 1970s brought many changes in the ACC. South Carolina left the conference after its victory in the 1971 ACC championship game. Georgia Tech filled the void in 1980 with its membership. In addition, beginning in 1975, a team no longer had to win the ACC Tournament to receive an NCAA Tournament bid since the NCAA began sending out at-large bids with the '75 tourney.

One constant in the Seventies was the success of the Tar Heels, who won four ACC Tournaments.

The first of the four came in 1972. Carolina entered the tournament with three blemishes on its conference ledger, but earning the No. 1 seed. South Carolina's secession from the league left only seven teams in the tournament, and Carolina received a bye into the semifinal against Duke. Four Tar Heels scored in double figures, led by Bobby Jones, who carded a double-double (14 points, 11 rebounds) as the Tar Heels won, 63-48.

Carolina was in the championship game for the fifth time in six years. Maryland was in the finals for the first time since 1958. Carolina posted a large early lead, 21-9, and the two teams ran even for the rest of the first half with UNC leading at intermission, 41-29. Robert McAdoo (15 points, 7.5 rebounds per game) became the fifth Tar Heel in six years to win the MVP award as Carolina held on for a 73-64 win. Dennis Wuycik (17.5 points, 5 rebounds) and George Karl (13 points, 2.5 rebounds, .571 shooting percentage) joined McAdoo on the all-tournament first team.

In 1975 the Tar Heels trailed Wake Forest in the quarterfinals by eight points with 50 seconds left. Freshman point guard Phil Ford (44 seconds to play), Mitch Kupchak (36 seconds), Walter Davis (30 seconds) and Brad Hoffman (two seconds) hit jump shots and the Deacs missed a pair of free throws to force overtime. In the extra session with the game tied at 96 Carolina took possession with 58 seconds to play. UNC went to the "Four Corners" offense, and drew a technical against Wake Forest with 29 seconds to play for not forcing UNC to take action. Ford hit the free throw and another free throw six seconds later as Carolina triumphed, 101-100. UNC's winning effort was led by Davis (31 points, 12 rebounds), Kupchak (16 points, 14 rebounds) and Ford (25 points).



Phil Ford accepts the 1975 ACC Tournament MVP award after averaging 26 points in three Tournament games.

In the 1975 semifinals Clemson came back from 11 down at the half to force overtime. A tip-in basket by Kupchak gave Carolina an overtime lead it would not relinquish. Ford led UNC with 29, including 15 of 18 from the free throw line.

In the championship game against defending NCAA champion NC State, Ford excelled running the "Four Corners." Carolina took the lead, 56-55, on a jumper by Davis with nine minutes left and then went into its delay offense. Ford hit two baskets in the next two and one-half minutes, and NC State did not score during a 5:18 stretch, paving the way for a 70-66 Tar Heel victory. Ford (26 points per game) was the MVP and was joined on the first-team by Kupchak (13.7 points, 13.7 rebounds). Davis netted 19 points and grabbed 7.7 rebounds over the three games.

No. 1 seed Carolina met No. 7 Virginia in the finals of the 1977 Tournament. Ford scored 19 points in the first half, but the Cavaliers led by one at the break. Virginia led 64-56 with 7:08 remaining, but over the next 5:03 the Tar Heels blitzed the Wahoos, 15-1. Freshman Mike O'Koren and John Kuester led the final charge after Ford fouled out with 5:45 to play and UVa still holding a 64-61 advantage. A layup by Tom Zaliagaris gave the Tar Heels the lead with 4:22 left and a layup by Bruce Buckley with 3:37 to play broke a 67-all tie and gave UNC the lead for good. Kuester's take-charge attitude and perfect free throw shooting earned him the tournament's MVP award. Ford and O'Koren were also first-team selections.

At the end of the 1979 regular season, Carolina and Duke were tied atop the ACC standings. Duke defeated UNC in the final game of the regular season, but the Tar Heels won the draw for the tournament's top seed and first-round bye. Carolina defeated Maryland, 102-79, in the semifinal, as five Tar Heels scored in double figures. Al Wood led with 19 points on 8 of 10 shooting.

The tournament ended just as the regular season had — a contest between the Blue Devils and Carolina. O'Koren led five Tar Heels in double figures with 18 points as the UNC prevailed, 71-63. Dudley Bradley scored 16 points with seven steals and four assists and earned MVP honors. O'Koren had 18 points and eight rebounds and was 10 for 11 from the free throw line. The Tar Heels turned the ball over just seven times and forced 14 Duke miscues. O'Koren and Dave Colescott, averaging 15 and 12.5 points per game in the tournament, respectively, also were first-team selections.

The Tar Heels struck fast in the '80s, claiming their first title of the decade in 1981. UNC beat Wake Forest, 58-57, in the semifinal as Mike Pepper nailed a 16-foot jumper with eight seconds to play for the victory. Freshman Sam Perkins scored 18 points and pulled down 15 rebounds, James Worthy added 12 points and 11 rebounds and Pepper had 12 points to pace the Tar Heels. The Deacons led 53-46 with 9:40 to play but Pepper and Perkins each hit two baskets. The second basket by Perkins gave UNC a 56-55 lead with 4:12 to play. Alvis Rogers hit an 11-foot jumper to give Wake the lead back with 1:30 to play, but Pepper hit the game-winner with eight seconds to go.

Carolina and Maryland met in the 1981 final in the Capital Centre in Landover, Md. The game was tied seven times in the second half, but the Tar Heels finally went ahead for good with 2:53 to play on a Jimmy Black steal and layup. Wood scored twice in the final 2:00 to help UNC to a 61-60 triumph.

Perkins (17.7 points, 8.3 rebounds) became just the second freshman ever, and first since Ford, to be named the Everett Case Award winner. Worthy (13 points, 7.7 rebounds) joined Perkins as a first-team all-tournament selection.

In 1982 No. 1 Carolina led No. 2 Virginia, 34-31, at halftime behind 16 points by Worthy. Freshman Michael Jordan scored four of the Tar Heels' first five field goals in the second half. His fourth straight field goal, with 8:44 to play, actually was Carolina's last of the game. Leading 44-43 with 7:34 remaining, Carolina spread the floor and held the ball. Virginia fouled six times over the next 7:06, putting Matt Doherty on the foul line for 1-and-1 with 28 seconds left. Doherty hit the first for a two-point edge. Virginia committed a turnover with three seconds to play, Doherty hit two free throws with a second left and Ralph Sampson dunked uncontested with one second to go for the final margin of 47-45, UNC. The field goal by Sampson was the first by the Cavaliers since the 7:34 mark.

Worthy (13.3 points, 8 rebounds), Perkins (9.7 points, 7.3 rebounds) and Jordan (11.7 points, 3 rebounds) were named to the first-team all-tournament team, with Worthy named MVP.

Carolina reached the ACC Tournament championship game four more times in the '80s but did not win another team title until 1989. Carolina breezed to the championship game, recording a 15-point rout of Georgia Tech in the quarterfinal and a 30-point romp over eighth-seeded Maryland.

The 1989 ACC championship game was one of the great meetings ever between Carolina and Duke. Earlier in the year, playing without senior point guard Jeff Lebo, UNC toppled undefeated and No. 1-ranked Duke by 20 points in Cameron Indoor Stadium. The Blue Devils ended the regular-season, however, with a two-point win over the Tar Heels in the Smith Center.

The ACC Tournament finale was one of the fiercest, most intense games in conference history. The Tar Heels committed 26 turnovers and forced 18 mistakes by the Blue Devils. Junior center J.R. Reid and senior guard Steve Bucknall led the Tar Heels. Reid had 14 points and nine rebounds; Bucknall had 10 points and five assists. Carolina led 20-8 early but Duke rallied to within four at the half.The game was tied five times in the second half and Duke led just one time, with 5:28 to play. Bucknall hit a driving basket and subsequent free throw with 1:46 remaining to break a 66 tie. Bucknall and King Rice hit four straight free throws apiece to clinch the win.

Reid (16.0 points, 8.0 rebounds per game) won the Everett Case Award. Lebo (10.7 points, 3.0 assists), Bucknall (10.3 points, 5.3 assists) and Rick Fox (12.0 points, .619 shooting percentage) were also all-tournament selections.

Two years after taking out Duke in the 1989 championship game, Carolina again gave the Blue Devils nightmares in 1991. After hard-fought victories over Clemson and Virginia, the Tar Heels met a Duke team that had swept the regular-season series from UNC. Carolina raced out to a 15-4 lead and thrashed Duke, 96-74. Fox made 10 of 16 field goal attempts for 25 points and Hubert Davis netted 17. Rice had 12 points and seven assists and did not commit a single turnover. Fox averaged 17.3 points and 9 rebounds over the three games and was named the MVP. Davis averaged 13.7 points and hit nearly 64 percent from three-point range in the tournament.

The 1994 ACC Tournament marked a record 13th title for the Tar Heels. Carolina faced Wake Forest in the semifinal in what proved to be one of the most exciting games in the history of the ACC Tournament. Wake Forest led, 76-70, with 2:15 to play in regulation, but UNC point guard Derrick Phelps helped cut the lead to three with 11 seconds to play. Phelps made the first of two free throws and then rebounded his own miss. He fed sophomore guard Dante Calabria who drove the lane and hit a twisting bank shot with three seconds left for a tie at 81.

Carolina led 84-81 in overtime until a three-pointer by Rusty LaRue tied the game with 39 seconds left. Freshman Jerry Stackhouse, the Tournament's MVP, hit the game-winner for the Tar Heels on a baseline move with five seconds on the clock. Wake Forest guard Randolph Childress, who scored 31 points, just missed a long three-pointer as the clock expired.

Stackhouse's 14 points and seven rebounds and Eric Montross' 12 points and nine rebounds led Carolina past Virginia, 73-66, in the 1994 title game.

Wake Forest edged Carolina, 82-80, in the 1995 championship game as Childress scored 37 points, including all nine of his team's points in overtime. The teams traded leads in the second half, but the Tar Heels were forced to play without injured All-America center Rasheed Wallace. Wallace had scored 33 points against Joe Smith and Maryland in an overtime win in the semifinals, but sprained an ankle with just over six minutes to play in the final. Stackhouse had 24 points in the final. He drained a three-pointer with 4.5 seconds remaining in regulation to send the game into overtime, but just missed a three at the final buzzer which would have won the game and the title.

In 1997, the Tar Heels rallied from an 0-3 start in ACC play to finish in a tie for second place. Carolina then swept past Virginia, Wake Forest and N.C. State to claim its 14th conference crown.

Shammond Williams earned MVP honors averaging 20.0 points and 5.0 assists in the three games.

Antawn Jamison scored 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds and freshman point guard Ed Cota had 11 points and 10 assists in the 78-68 quarterfinal win over Virginia. Williams made eight of 11 shots, including four of seven three-pointers, in an 86-73 triumph over the Demon Deacons in the semifinals.

In the championship game, Williams again led Carolina with 23 points, nine of which came on a trio of three-point baskets in a 2:02 span midway through the second half. Jamison added 17 points and a game-high 11 rebounds. Carolina shot 59.0 percent from the floor, the third-highest ever by the winning team in an ACC final.

In 1998, Carolina defended its ACC Tournament championship for the first time since 1981-82 with victories over N.C. State, Maryland and Duke. Those wins avenged regular-season losses against the same three opponents. Jamison injured a muscle in the overtime win over the Terrapins in the semifinal, and was questionable for Sunday's championship game. However, Jamison was relentless against the Blue Devils, sparking UNC to a 15-point win over the nation's top-ranked team with a 22-point, 18-rebound effort that ranks as one of the finest in championship game history.

Jamison had 25 points in the opening round win over the Wolfpack. The Tar Heels trailed throughout much of the second half against Maryland, but rallied behind Shammond Williams to force overtime. Williams added 10 points in the extra stanza to lead Carolina to an 83-73 triumph.

Carolina's win over Duke in the championship game was UNC's sixth in title game matchups against the Blue Devils. The game was tied at 57 with less than 11 minutes to play, but the Tar Heels reeled off the next 13 points. Carolina finished the game shooting 54.4 percent from the floor, while Duke hit on just 32.8 percent of its field goal attempts. Williams and Vince Carter had 19 and 16 points, respectively.

In 1999, Carolina defeated fifth-ranked Maryland, 86-79, in the semifinal to reach the championship game for the third straight year and the eighth time in the decade. Sophomore Max Owens scored a career-high 23 points, Ademola Okulaja added 19 points, four assists and three steals and Jason Capel shook off a back injury to score 13 points to lead Carolina to the improbable victory. The Terps had knocked off the Tar Heels by 13 points in Chapel Hill in January and by 17 in College Park a month before the ACC Tournament. But the Tar Heels built a 23-point lead midway through the second half and withstood a Terrapin rally that cut the margin to four points with 26 seconds to play. Duke defeated Carolina, 96-73, to win the title.

In 2001, the Tar Heels advanced to the championship game for a record 27th time, but fell to Duke, at the Georgia Dome in Atlanta. Capel set UNC records in the Tournament by hitting six for six from three-point range in a 99-81 win over Clemson in the quarterfinal. Joseph Forte had 27 points and 12 rebounds and Brendan Haywood held first-team All-ACC center Alvin Jones to just seven points in UNC's 70-63 win over Georgia Tech in the semifinal. The Yellow Jackets overcame a 13-point Tar Heel lead and took a 55-53 lead with 7:02 to play, but Forte scored nine points in the last five minutes to clinch the win.

The 2002-03 Tar Heels entered the ACC Tournament as the No. 7 seed for the second year in a row. In the quarterfinal, UNC played defending NCAA champion Maryland, a team that beat the Tar Heels by 40 points less than a month earlier in College Park.

Carolina pulled off a shocking turnaround, upsetting the Terrapins, 84-72, behind career scoring highs from Jawad Williams (25) and Melvin Scott (19). Freshman Raymond Felton was spectacular with 20 points and 10 assists. The Tar Heels trailed by as many as nine points in the first half, but went on a 23-7 run early in the second half. Scott and Felton capped the run with back-to-back three-pointers.

The win marked a 52-point turnaround against Maryland, the largest two-game swing against any opponent in Carolina basketball history.

FANTASTIC FINISHES

Amazing comebacks and heart-stopping finishes have been a Carolina basketball trademark for more than 40 years. Many of the most memorable wins in UNC history have occurred when the Tar Heels had to overcome large deficits or hit clutch shots in late-game situations.

That sense of the dramatic may have been initiated in Chapel Hill by the 1957 national champions, but it was perfected by Dean Smith. Who could ever forget Walter Davis's 28-foot prayer against Duke in 1974; or the 20-point comeback against Wake Forest in 1992; or George Lynch's steal and dunk to overcome a 21-point deficit against Florida State in 1993?

Carolina fans remember in the last four wins of the 1993 NCAA title drive, when the Tar Heels trailed by at least double digits in each contest. In 1995-96, Carolina rallied to beat Wake Forest and Duke in a span of four days despite a second-half deficit of 18 points to the Deacons and 17 points against the Blue Devils.

Carolina's poise, discipline and belief in each other have been the calling card of the Tar Heels.

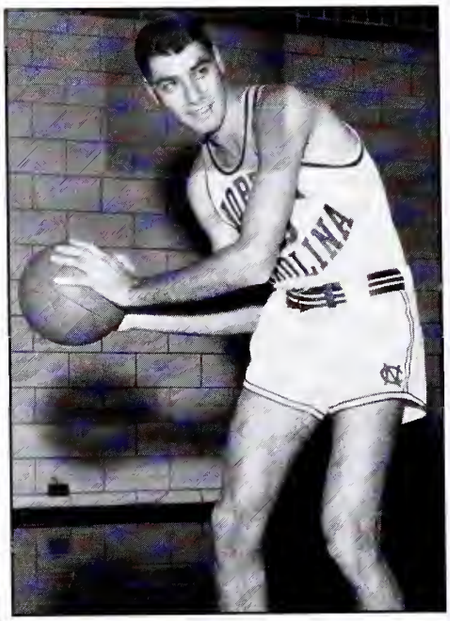
1957 SEASON

In Carolina's incredible 32-0 national championship season, the Tar Heels had to pull out several thrillers to preserve their perfect record. In the fourth game of the season, South Carolina took the Heels to overtime in Columbia before UNC prevailed, 90-86. The 17th win was a double-overtime contest, this time against Maryland in College Park. The Tar Heels trailed by four with just two minutes left in regulation before emerging as the 65-61 victors. The next game was at home in Woollen Gym against Duke, and the score was tied with a minute to play. Tommy Kearns' free throws provided the winning margin in the 18th consecutive win, 75-73. The 23rd win was one of Carolina's many battles with Wake Forest that season. Trailing by four with just three minutes remaining in Winston-Salem, the Tar Heels pulled out a 69-64 win. Only three games later, the Heels met the Deacons again in the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament semifinals in Raleigh. Carolina trailed with less than a minute left, but squeaked out a 61-59 win for its fourth victory over Wake Forest of the 1956-57 season. In the NCAA Tournament, the close contests continued. In the national semifinals, the Spartans of Michigan State went three overtime periods with Carolina before falling, 74-70. Pete Brennan hit a jump shot with only three seconds left in double overtime to force the third extra frame. The NCAA championship game began with 5-11 Tommy Kearns jumping center against 7-1 Wilt Chamberlain of the Kansas Jayhawks and ended in an epic battle that went three overtimes. Tar Heel star Lennie Rosenbluth fouled out of his last college game in regulation, but the rest of the team picked up the slack. Joe Quigg hit two free throws with only six seconds remaining in the final overtime period to give Carolina a 54-53 win. In October of 1999, Sports Illustrated selected the 1957 NCAA title game as its second-favorite game of all-time.



Lennie Rosenbluth and the Tar Heels won triple-overtime thrillers in both Final Four games to win the 1957 NCAA title.

The Carolina bench jumps for joy as Charles Scott hits the game-winner as time expires, giving the Tar Heels an 87-85 win over Davidson in the 1969 NCAA East Regional Final. The victory gave UNC its third straight Final Four appearance.

UNC 76, WAKE FOREST 64
JANUARY 4, 1967

Playing in Winston-Salem, Carolina was engaged in one of its many classic battles with the Wake Forest Demon Deacons. It seemed as though this was the Deacons' game to win; however, Tom Gauntlett missed a 23-foot jumper with 15 seconds left that would have tied the game for Carolina. But the Tar Heels' Rusty Clark was there for the tip-in and the score stood at 74-74. Wake Forest brought the ball upcourt for its game-winning attempt, but Larry Miller came up with a steal at halfcourt. Miller drove to the basket, made an off-balance layup and kept running straight to the Carolina locker room. The Tar Heels ran out of Winston-Salem with another last-second victory, 76-74.

UNC 86, UTAH 84
DECEMBER 29, 1967

In the semifinals of the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore., Carolina faced unbeaten Utah. The Utes sprinted out to a 54-41 halftime lead. With 14:34 left in the contest, they had extended their lead to 67-50. But, led by Charlie Scott and Larry Miller, the Tar Heels staged a furious comeback. With just two minutes left,

Dick Grubar scored his first basket of the game and tied the score at 82-82. Then, with the score tied at 84 apiece, Scott hit the game-winning shot with eight seconds to go. Both Scott and Miller finished with 24 points, and Carolina went on to defeat Oregon State the following day to win the tournament title.

UNC 85, DUKE 74 MARCH 8, 1969

On this day it was Charlie Scott who provided the heroics in Carolina's ACC Tournament championship win over Duke in Charlotte. Dick Grubar missed most of the game with a knee injury and Bill Bunting played only sparingly before fouling out with 9:26 left. The Tar Heels trailed by nine at the half before Scott put on one of the greatest individual performances in Carolina history in the second 20 minutes. He connected on 12 of his 13 second-half field goal attempts, many of which were long jumpers, and scored 28 points in the half. Scott's game-high 40 points led the Tar Heels to a come-from-behind 85-74 win and their third consecutive ACC crown.

Walter Davis (No. 24) capped a furious, eight-point comeback in the final 17 seconds of regulatoin with this 28-foot shot at the buzzer on March 2, 1974. Carolina went on to defeat Duke, 96-92, in overtime.

UNC 87, DAVIDSON 85 MARCH 15, 1969

A week later, Scott again put on one of his amazing performances, almost single-handedly carrying the Tar Heels to victory. This time the opponent was Davidson and the setting was the NCAA East Regional final in College Park, Md. Scott was dazzling in the second half, connecting on 10 of 14 field goal attempts. Dick Grubar was out of action with a knee injury, but Carolina stayed close. Davidson had the ball with 1:05 remaining and the score tied, 85-85. Gerald Tuttle drew a charge for the Tar Heels, setting up the final possession of the game. Carolina ran a play for Scott, who took the ball at the top of the key, soared above a defender and launched a 20-footer with three seconds left. The ball sailed through the hoop, the buzzer sounded and the Heels were off to their third consecutive Final Four.

UNC 73, DUKE 71 JANUARY 19, 1974

In a vintage Carolina-Duke hardcourt battle, the Tar Heels defeated the Blue Devils on another last-second shot at Cameron Indoor Stadium in Durham. After the Tar Heels had rallied to tie the score at 71-71, Duke had the ball at halfcourt with four seconds left. But Bobby Jones stole the inbounds pass and hit a spinning, off-balance layup with one second left to give Carolina a 73-71 win.

UNC 96, DUKE 92 (OT) MARCH 2, 1974

In perhaps the most famous comeback in college basketball history, the Tar Heels rallied from eight points down with 17 seconds remaining against Duke to force overtime at Carmichael Auditorium. Trailing 86-78, Bobby Jones connected on both ends of a one-and-one with just 17 ticks left on the clock. John Kuester cut the deficit to four with a layup when Duke threw away the inbounds pass, but there were still just 13 seconds left. Again, the Blue Devils lost the inbounds pass. Jones cut the Duke lead to two on a put-back of an Ed Stahl miss. Six seconds remained. With four seconds left, the Tar Heels fouled Pete Kramer, who missed the front end of the one-and-one. Stahl grabbed the rebound and called a timeout with but three ticks left. Mitch Kupchak inbounded the ball to Walter Davis, who launched a 28-foot prayer as time expired. The prayer was answered as Davis' shot kissed off the glass to tie the score at 86-86. Carmichael Auditorium erupted and Carolina went on to win 96-92 in overtime.

UNC 101, WAKE FOREST 100 (OT) MARCH 6, 1975

In the opening round of the ACC Tournament in Greensboro, Carolina trailed Wake Forest 90-82 with only 50 seconds remaining. A 20-footer by Phil Ford cut the deficit to six with 43 ticks left. After the Demon Deacons turned the ball over in their delay offense, Mitch Kupchak scored on a drive to the hoop to pull the Tar Heels within four with 34 seconds to go. Wake Forest's inbounds pass grazed the scoreboard, turning the ball over to Carolina. Walter Davis quickly capitalized on the mistake, making the score 90-88 with 29 seconds left. Two Deacons failed to convert their one-and-one opportunities and Carolina called timeout with nine seconds on the clock. Brad Hoffman drove the baseline and nailed a 12-footer to tie the game with two seconds left. The Tar Heels pulled out the 101-100 win in overtime and went on to capture the ACC title two days later.

Dudley Bradley's steal and dunk in the final seconds gave the Tar Heels a 70-69 win at NC State on January 17, 1979.

UNC 70, NC STATE 69
JANUARY 17, 1979

Playing at Reynolds Coliseum on the campus of NC State, it looked as though the Tar Heels would finally have the tables turned against them. Carolina charged out to a 40-19 halftime lead and was seemingly in control of the game. With 10:30 to play, the Heels still led by 17, but then the Wolfpack hit a torrid streak. State had cut the Carolina lead to three with 43 seconds to play when Hawkeye Whitney went to the line for the Wolfpack. At the same time, Carolina's Jimmy Black was whistled for a technical foul and Whitney hit two of the three free throws to cut the Wolfpack's deficit to one. After the inbounds play, Kenny Matthews hit a long-range jumper with 32 seconds left that gave State a 69-68 lead. Reynolds erupted. Carolina tried to regain the lead, but Dudley Bradley missed a long jump shot and State grabbed the rebound with 16 seconds left. Reynolds celebrated. But Bradley atoned for his miss when he stole the ball from State's Clyde Austin at midcourt and drove in for the game-winning dunk. A Wolfpack desperation shot bounded off the glass and Carolina escaped with a 70-69 triumph.

UNC 70, TULANE 68 (3 OT)
NOVEMBER 30, 1982

Coming off their 1982 national championship, the Tar Heels had opened the season with losses to St. John's and Missouri before returning to Carmichael for the home opener. The opponent was the Green Wave of Tulane, which had taken Carolina to the wire several times over the years. With the score tied at 49-49, Tulane's John Williams hit a layup with 1:29 remaining to put the Wave up by two. With just 36 seconds left, Michael Jordan scored on an offensive rebound to tie the game. But with eight seconds left, Williams made two free throws to give Tulane a 53-51 edge. Jordan was whistled for an offensive foul with four seconds remaining, and it appeared the Heels would start a season with three successive losses for the first time since 1928-29. However, Jordan came up with the Green Wave's inbounds pass and hit a spinning 24-foot prayer at the buzzer to tie the game. Carolina finally prevailed, 70-68, after three thrilling overtime periods.

FEBRUARY 10, 1983

Carolina trailed Ralph Sampson and second-ranked Virginia by as many as 16 points in the second half and was down 63-53 with just 4:12 left on the clock. Jimmy Braddock hit a long three-pointer from the right side to cut the margin to seven, and Matt Doherty made both ends of a one-and-one to close the gap to five. Sam Perkins also converted his one-and-one to trim the Cavalier lead to 63-60 with 2:54 remaining. Terry Holland then had Virginia stall and Perkins was forced to foul Sampson with 1:20 left. The All-America center missed the front end of his one-and-one and Michael Jordan proceeded to take over the game. Braddock missed a three-pointer, but Jordan was there to put in the rebound. As Rick Carlisle dribbled the ball upcourt for the Cavaliers, Jordan stole it and slammed it home for a 64-63 Tar Heel lead. Carlisle missed a potential game-winning shot and Jordan grabbed the rebound to seal the win as Carmichael exploded in celebration.

UNC 75, MARYLAND 74
JANUARY 9, 1985

Late in Lefty Driesell's career at College Park, Maryland seemed poised to knock off Carolina at Carmichael Auditorium. The Terps led 72-69 with only 23 seconds left and star guard Keith Gatlin on the line for a one-and-one opportunity. The 83 percent foul shooter missed the front end and Kenny Smith rushed upcourt and sank a jump shot with 16 seconds left. Steve Hale fouled Adrian Branch, a 78 percent free-throw shooter, on the inbounds pass. Branch also missed. Dave Popson provided the winning points with a high-arcing jumper over Maryland defender Derrick Lewis from 16 feet away. The swish at 0:09 gave the Tar Heels a 73-72 lead. Curtis Hunter's steal and free throws secured the win as Carolina prevailed, 75-74.

MARCH 16, 1985

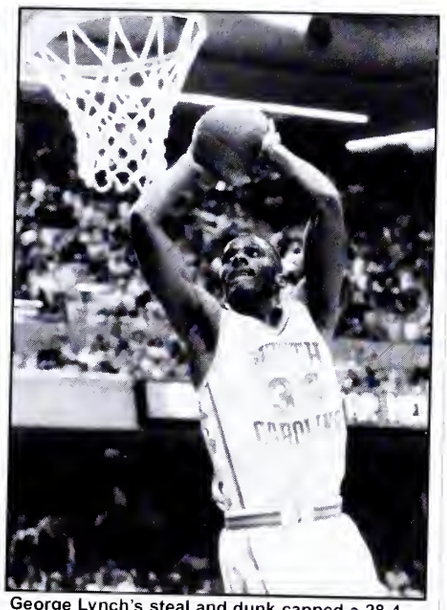
In the second round of the NCAA Tournament, the higher-seeded Tar Heels played Notre Dame at South Bend. The score was tied 58-58 with 1:38 to go when the Irish's Donald Royal went to the foul stripe. Royal missed, but Jim Dolan grabbed the rebound and the Irish decided to hold for the last shot. As the clock wound down, point guard David Rivers lost control of the ball, enabling Carolina's Curtis Hunter to scoop it up and make a lead pass to Kenny Smith. Smith slammed it home for the game-winning shot and then stole the inbounds pass to seal the win.

UNC 96, SYRACUSE 93 (OT)
NOVEMBER 21, 1987

Carolina was pitted against top-ranked Syracuse in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic at Springfield, Mass. Playing without standouts J.R. Reid and Steve Bucknall, the Tar Heels seemingly were undermanned against the powerful Orangemen, who a season earlier were NCAA finalists. Indeed, with 15:39 left in the game, Syracuse had built a 14-point lead. But Carolina stormed back, and Syracuse led only 85-83 when the Tar Heels had the last possession of regulation. Freshman Pete Chilcutt hit a rim-rattling, turnaround jumper at the horn to send the game to overtime. Carolina prevailed, 96-93, in the extra session to complete the upset of the Orangemen.

UNC 80, JAMES MADISON 79
NOVEMBER 24, 1989

In Carolina's season opener against James Madison at the Maui Classic, the Tar Heels trailed, 79-70, with less than a minute to play. Rick Fox started the Carolina surge with a rebound basket with 51 seconds remaining. Hubert Davis stole the ball three seconds later and canned a three-pointer to cut the margin to 79-75. The Dukes' Billy Coles missed the front end of a one-and-one with 18 seconds left and Pete Chilcutt drilled a trey to cut the deficit to one with 10 ticks remaining. Steve Hood also missed a one-and-one attempt for James Madison, but Jeff Denny's pass upcourt was stolen by the Dukes' William Davis. However, Davis stepped out of bounds, giving Carolina one last shot. King Rice threw up an off-balance runner from the top of the key and the ball banked high off the glass and in as the buzzer sounded. Final score: 80-79 Carolina. It was not the first time James Madison coach Lefty Driesell had been the victim of a Tar Heel miracle.



George Lynch's steal and dunk capped a 28-4 Tar Heel rally as UNC overcame a 19-point second-half deficit and defeated Florida State, 82-77, on January 27, 1993.

UNC 79, OKLAHOMA 77
MARCH 17, 1990

Facing the top-ranked team in the country in the NCAA Tournament second round, Carolina was in jeopardy of not advancing to the Sweet 16 for the first time since 1980. The Tar Heels trailed the Oklahoma Sooners, 74-73, with 55 seconds to play when Rick Fox nailed a three-pointer from 25 feet away with the shot clock winding down. The Sooners countered with a conventional three-point play and led, 77-76, when King Rice was fouled with 10 seconds left. Rice hit the first shot, but missed the second. The rebound hit off the Sooners out-of-bounds and Carolina had the ball with eight seconds to go and a 77-77 score. Fox took a pass from Hubert Davis and drove the right baseline. His bank shot off the glass as the buzzer sounded gave the Tar Heels a 79-77 win and a 10th consecutive Final 16 berth.

UNC 89, VIRGINIA 86 (2 OT)
JANUARY 12, 1991

Just three days after knocking off top-ranked Duke, Carolina rallied from 22 points behind to defeat Wake Forest, 80-78, on Brian Reese's jumper at the buzzer in Chapel Hill. The comeback was the biggest in terms of point deficit (22) in Tar Heel history. Despite making several mini-runs to cut that 22-point first-half deficit, UNC was behind by 20 with 14:49 to play and still trailed by 11 with 6:17 to go. The Tar Heels then went on a 10-0 run to cut the Demon Deacon lead to 75-74. Then, with 38 seconds remaining, Pat Sullivan tied the game at 78 with a pair of free throws – his only shots of the game. Reese came up with a steal that set up one final possession for Carolina with 16 seconds to go. After a timeout, Reese drove the lane and misfired off the front rim. But he followed his shot, grabbed his own rebound and launched a swish at the buzzer from 12 feet away to give the Heels an improbable 80-78 win. The final score was Carolina's first lead since it led, 3-2.

UNC 82, FLORIDA STATE 77

One of the most memorable second-half comebacks in Carolina history came against Florida State on January 27, 1993. Seminole head coach Pat Kennedy spent the pregame browsing through the Carolina media guide, reading about the great Tar Heel comebacks of the past. Kennedy surely was unaware that his team would soon become another chapter in that storied history.

Florida State jumped out to a 45-28 advantage at the half and extended the lead to as many as 21 points in the second stanza. With under nine minutes to go, Carolina still trailed, 73-54. Spurred by pressure defense and long-range shooting, the Heels ran off 15 straight points to cut the deficit to four. Later, an Eric Montross jump hook with 1:59 left cut the FSU lead to 77-76. Then, in a play reminiscent of a Michael Jordan exploit against Virginia 10 years earlier, George Lynch stole a Charlie Ward crosscourt heave at midcourt and slammed the ball home to give Carolina a 78-77 lead. Clutch foul shooting by Donald Williams sealed the 82-77 victory. The Tar Heels had amazingly outscored the Seminoles 28-4 over the last nine minutes to end the game.

1993 NCAA TOURNAMENT

In the run to Carolina's fourth national championship, the Tar Heels had to overcome double-digit deficits on three different occasions against tough tournament competition. In the East Regional semifinal at the Meadowlands, Carolina trailed a quick and deep Arkansas team, 25-14, more than 10 minutes into the first half. Sparked by George Lynch and Donald Williams, however, the Heels went on a 14-3 run to tie the game at 28. Carolina again fell behind 38-31 before knotting the score at 45 at halftime and eventually prevailing 80-74. Two days later in the regional final, the Tar Heels trailed Cincinnati 29-14 with under seven minutes remaining in the first half. The Bearcats' Nick Van Exel hit his sixth three-pointer of the half with 4:50 remaining to chalk up his 21st point and a 33-20 lead. But led by Derrick Phelps' suffocating defense on Van Exel, Carolina cut the deficit to one by halftime, held Van Exel to only two more points in the final 20 minutes and pulled out a 75-68 overtime win. After defeating Kansas in the Final Four in New Orleans, the Tar Heels fell behind Michigan 23-13 in the national championship game. Carolina then went on a 12-2 run to tie the game, capped off by a 22-foot three-pointer by Donald Williams. Carolina took a 42-36 halftime lead and went on to win the title, 77-71.

UNC 86, WAKE FOREST 84 (OT)
MARCH 12, 1994

In the semifinals of the 1994 ACC Tournament, the Tar Heels overcame 31 points and 10 assists from Wake Forest junior guard Randolph Childress and erased a five-point deficit in the final 1:15 of regulation to down the Demon Deacons, 86-84 in overtime. With an 81-78 lead, Wake coach Dave Odom called a time out and instructed guard Charlie Harrison to foul Carolina's Derrick Phelps with 11.8 seconds left. Phelps made the first free throw and missed the second, but he grabbed the rebound and dribbled to the left side of the court. He found Dante Calabria on the opposite side of the lane and Calabria's baseline drive and basket with 3.8 ticks left on the clock in regulation tied the score at 81, forcing the extra stanza. After a low-scoring overtime, Tar Heel freshman Jerry Stackhouse, who was later named the tournament MVP, took a pass from Phelps and sunk a driving shot in traffic to win the game, 86-84. Carolina went on to win its 13th ACC title the next day with a hard-fought 73-66 victory over Virginia.

UNC again victimized Wake Forest in what would be the first of two comeback road wins over in-state rivals in the span of five days. Winston-Salem was the stage for an epic battle between centers Tim Duncan and Rasheed Wallace. The Demon Deacons' Duncan, who finished the game with 18 points, 17 rebounds and seven blocked shots, and Carolina's Wallace, with totals of 17 points, 10 rebounds and three blocks, each showed the stuff that made them first-team All-ACC honorees at the close of the season. Carolina did not score during a five-minute stretch of the second half and trailed Wake Forest by 10, 53-43 with 6:39 left. Strong inside play from Wallace and the timely three-point shooting of Jeff McInnis and Donald Williams brought the Heels back within one at 61-60. Williams then hit a running one-hander from the right of the lane with 5.5 seconds remaining to seal a 62-61 win.

UNC 102, DUKE 100 (2 OT)
FEBRUARY 2, 1995

Five days later, Carolina and Duke waged one of the finest battles in the history of the greatest rivalry in college basketball. It was a game of surges that seemed at times as if it would never end. The Tar Heels jumped out to an early, 26-9 lead on a reverse dunk by Jerry Stackhouse over two Blue Devil players and the ensuing free throw. Duke's three-point shooting pulled the Blue Devils within five at halftime and gave them the lead by as many as 12 midway through the second half. UNC then mounted a comeback of its own, battling back from a nine-point deficit with 6:18 to play to force overtime. The Tar Heels raced out to a nine-point lead in the first extra stanza, but four Duke three-pointers, including a running 30-footer from Blue Devil sophomore Jeff Capel at the buzzer, knotted the score at 95 and forced a second overtime. The clutch shooting of Donald Williams and a steal and basket by Jeff McInnis with under a minute to play sealed Carolina's 102-100, double-overtime win. The 202 points between the two teams were the most points ever scored in a UNC-Duke game.

UNC 65, WAKE FOREST 59

UNC actually had more turnovers than field goals in the first half and trailed Wake Forest by 14 at halftime, 42-28. The Deacons stretched the lead to 18 (41-23) with 17:23 left in the game before freshman Antawn Jamison ignited the UNC comeback. Jamison had a three-point play at 16:17 to cut the lead to 13, at 15:41 to cut it to 11 and then he followed an Ademola Okulaja three-pointer with another put-back at 12:00 to get the deficit to single digits at 43-35.

Ricky Peral and Tim Duncan scored successive baskets to build the Wake lead back to 12 with 10:56 to play, but from that point on the Tar Heels outscored the Deacons, 30-12. Jeff McInnis scored in the lane, Dante Calabria banked one high off the glass and a layup by Jamison made it six. Wake led by seven with 7:09 to play after a dunk by Duncan, but Carolina then went on a 12-3 tear to take the lead. Okulaja pulled down an offensive board to keep a possession alive which ended with a three from the right corner by Calabria to close within four points. Vince Carter hit a baseline jumper to cut it to one and with 2:24 to play Okulaja buried a three from the left wing for a 56-54 UNC lead.

Tony Rutland hit a three late in the shot clock with 1:49 to play for the Deacons' final lead of the game at 57-56. McInnis stole the ball after a UNC miss and hit a runner in the lane over Duncan to give Carolina the lead for good at 58-57 with 1:09 to play. McInnis and Shammond Williams each made a pair of free throws, with 38 and 15 seconds left, respectively, and Carter capped the scoring with a reverse, alley-oop dunk from McInnis.

UNC 73, DUKE 72
JANUARY 31, 1996

Duke led UNC, 37-20, with 4:32 to play in the opening half and by 12, 42-30, at the half. Carolina pulled within two at 44-42 with 14:14 to play, but the Blue Devils extended the lead to 11 points at 63-52 with 8:44 remaining. A jumper in the lane by Vince Carter, a tip-in by Antawn Jamison and a three-pointer by Shammond Williams trimmed Duke's lead to 63-59 and free throws by Ademola Okulaja and Jeff McInnis narrowed the gap to one. Ricky Price, who scored 20 for Duke, hit a three-pointer with 4:54 to play for a 67-63 advantage. The Blue Devils' lead was three when Okulaja grabbed an offensive rebound and scored to make it 69-68 Duke with 1:55 to go. Steve Wojciechowski hit a three-pointer at the top of the circle for a 72-68 Duke lead with 1:13 to play, but Williams countered with a three of his own with 58 seconds left. Duke turned the ball over right in front of the Blue Devil bench, and the Tar Heels nearly returned the favor but a hustling Williams forced a jump ball after a wild scramble near midcourt. Possession favored the Tar Heels, who had one last chance.

McInnis drove into the lane and fed Zwikker on the low block. Zwikker's shot was deflected by Greg Newton, but Calabria tipped the ball in for a 73-72 lead. Duke had one final chance to win, but Price's baseline jumper at the buzzer hit the front of the rim and bounced away.

JANUARY 15, 1997

The Tar Heels began ACC play with three straight losses for the first time in history and a fourth consecutive loss seemed imminent. Carolina led 36-28 at halftime, but did not score a field goal in the second half until the 8:09 mark and had just two baskets in the first 18 minutes of the second stanza. The Wolfpack led 56-47 with 2:00 to play, but that's when the Tar Heels went on a 12-0 run to finish the game. Antawn Jamison began the rally by forcing a steal in the backcourt and Shammond Williams hit a layup to pull within seven. Williams hit a three-pointer and Jamison added a layup to pull within two points with 50 seconds to play. Trailing by one with 28 seconds left, Carolina fouled and the strategy worked as State missed the front end of a one-and-one.

Karl DeBlaker

Dante Calabria's tip-in gave the Tar Heels a 73-72 win over Duke on January 31, 1996. Carolina trailed by 17 points in the first half and by four with 1:13 to play.

The Tar Heels went ahead for good with 12 seconds to play as Ademola Okulaja fed Jamison on the low block for a layup. Vince Carter stole the inbounds pass after the go-ahead score to secure the win.

UNC 45, NC STATE 44
FEBRUARY 12, 1997

This 45-44 UNC win is the lowest scoring victory in Dean Smith's 36 years as head coach. The Tar Heels trailed 28-19 at the half and fell behind by 11 moments after halftime. Carolina chipped away at the Pack's lead and pulled within 42-41 with 7:25 to play on a dunk by Antawn Jamison. Neither team scored for the next 5:22 until a Damon Thornton basket gave State a 44-41 advantage. Serge Zwikker scored for UNC to make it 44-43 and, with just two team fouls, Carolina began to foul to send the Pack to the line. With 12.3 seconds to play, however, Jamison forced a turnover right in front of the bench and Carolina got the ball back for one last play. Freshman point guard Ed Cota drove to the left baseline and lofted a soft lob shot which found the net with 4.5 seconds remaining. State's last-gasp shot, a three-pointer from the right wing by Danny Strong, was blocked by Vince Carter.

UNC 72, GEORGIA TECH 68
FEBRUARY 15, 1997

Georgia Tech led 37-30 at the half and built its lead to 59-44 with 7:42 to play in front of a boisterous Atlanta crowd. Carolina had to play the entire second half without senior center Serge Zwikker, who suffered a concussion in the first half. Shammond Williams and Ademola Okulaja hit three-pointers and UNC pulled within nine points with 6:37 to play. More than three minutes later, the Yellow Jackets lead remained at nine points, 67-58. From that point on, however, the Tar Heels outscored Tech, 14-1. Antawn Jamison hit three free throws, Ed Cota set up Vince Carter and Jamison for layups and the Yellow Jackets lead was down to 67-65. Cota then set up Williams for a go-ahead three from the left corner with 1:12 to play. Tech sank one free throw to tie the game, but Cota calmy sank two free throws with 33 seconds left for the win.

UNC 82, GEORGIA 80 (OT)
DECEMBER 27, 1997

Carolina trailed Georgia, 73-66, in Athens, Ga., but outscored the Bulldogs 7-0 over the final 2:00 in regulation. Vince Carter's jumper and a tip-in by Ademola Okulaja cut the lead to three with 1:44 left. Okulaja hit three straight free throws to tie the game, the final two with just 25.3 seconds remaining. Okulaja then forced a jump ball on Georgia's last-second possession and the game went to overtime. Okulaja hit a three-pointer early in the overtime as Carolina built a five-point lead in the extra period, but the Dawgs tied the game at 80-80 with 31.9 seconds to play. With 3.2 seconds to play, point guard Ed Cota fed Carter for the game-winning basket.

UNC 107, GA. TECH 100 (2 OT)
FEBRUARY 8, 1998

The Tar Heels let a seven-point lead slip away in the final minute of regulation, but Shammond Williams put on an awesome three-point shooting display as Carolina prevailed, 107-100, in double-overtime in Atlanta. Williams forced a second overtime with a pair of free throws with six seconds left in the first extra period. In the second OT, Williams scored 12 of his career-high 42 points, including two three-pointers.

UNC 74, TENNESSEE 69

Carolina was unranked for the first time in 10 years and entered the NCAA Tournament as the No. 8 seed in the South. The inspired Tar Heels faced Tennessee, which came into the game at 26-6 and ranked No. 10 in the nation.

Tennessee led, 39-36, at halftime. The Tar Heels then scored just six points in the first 8:00 of the second half as the Vols extended the lead to 51-42. UT still led by a basket when UNC center Brendan Haywood fouled out with 8:03 left and led, 64-57, with 4:48 left. Freshmen Joseph Forte and Julius Peppers and senior point guard Ed Cota sparked UNC's comeback.

Forte hit a three-pointer and Capel made a steal and layup to make it 64-62 with 3:41 left. Cota drove through the UT defense for a layup to tie the game and followed with a jumper in the lane to give UNC the lead with 1:59 left. Peppers, a starting defensive end on the football team and a walkon basketball player, had four points and five rebounds after Haywood's exit. Forte, Peppers and Cota each hit two free throws in the final 0:34 to cap a 15-3 Tar Heel run and a 74-69 win. Carolina beat Tulsa two days later to send Bill Guthridge to his second Final Four in three years as head coach.

JANUARY 6, 2001

Brendan Haywood grabbed a loose ball in the lane and scored with 3.3 seconds to play to give the Tar Heels the win over No. 4-ranked and previously undefeated Wake Forest in the Smith Center. Haywood finished with 24 points and 10 rebounds. His basket marked the fourth lead change in the final 1:22 and gave UNC the win.

FEBRUARY 1, 2001

Matt Doherty's first game against Duke as Carolina's head coach was a classic. Joseph Forte was spectacular with 24 points, 16 rebounds (a UNC record for guards), six assists and three steals. The Tar Heels blistered the Cameron Indoor Stadium nets by shooting 51.5 percent from the floor. Carolina led by as many as 13 in the first half, but Duke took the lead midway through the second half. Ronald Curry scored six straight points in 48 seconds to give the Tar Heels a 63-59 lead. UNC later built a seven-point lead, but the Blue Devils tied the

UNC 86, CONNECTICUT 83
JANUARY 17, 2004

Rashad McCants scored 27 points against the Huskies for the second straight year and for the second year in a row the Tar Heels upset Connecticut in the Smith Center. McCants scored the last 10 points of the game for Carolina, including a three-pointer with just over six seconds to play.

A Ben Gordon three at the buzzer missed and Carolina had beaten a No. 1 ranked team in the country for the first time under head coach Roy Williams.

Raymond Felton and Carolina beat No. 1-ranked Connecticut on Jan. 17, 2004.

Had a great career as a Tar Heel, averaging 16.4 points and 10.5 rebounds per game for his career as a forward • Best remembered for a single play, a play that saved an NCAA title • The undefeated 1957 Carolina team was trailing Michigan State, 64-62, in the NCAA semifinals with only 11 seconds remaining in the first overtime period • The Spartans' Johnny Green missed a free throw and Brennan snared the rebound • Instead of making the outlet pass out to a guard as he ordinarily would have done, Brennan raced down court with the ball • Two Michigan State defenders got back to defend, so Brennan pulled up for a jump shot from the foul line • The jumper floated through the net with four seconds remaining, forcing another overtime period • UNC survived, downing the Spartans in triple overtime before subsequently defeating Kansas in triple overtime the next day in the title game of one of the most storied Final Fours in NCAA history • Still ranks 11th in the Tar Heel record books in career rebounds • As a senior in 1958, he led the squad in scoring at a 21.3 clip, earning first-team All-America and ACC Player of the Year honors • Earned All-ACC honors and All-ACC Tournament honors as a senior.

A playmaking star of the 1957 NCAA champion Tar Heels, Kearns was a clutch performer who had a habit of making the big play • Ranked third on the '57 team in scoring, but was most valuable simply running the team • A great dribbler and driver, his presence made it impossible for opponents to press the Tar Heels • His ability to deliver under pressure was soon apparent in that 32-0 season • In the fourth game of the year, he scored 29 points as the Tar Heels edged South Carolina, 90-86, in double overtime • In a game at Maryland that year, he tied the game with a jumper, forcing overtime, and hit a crucial shot in the second OT to seal the win • Hit two late free throws with 11 seconds left in a 75-73 win over Duke • Had 15 second-half points in a come-from-behind win at Virginia • In a psychological ploy, head coach Frank McGuire let Kearns jump center against Wilt Chamberlin in the 1957 national championship game versus Kansas • A two-time All-ACC selection who went on to be a successful stockbroker on Wall Street • Played a high school basketball coach in the Sean Connery movie Finding Forrester in 2000.

- Second-team All-America in 1976-77
- A two-time NBA All-Star
- Two-time Academic All-America
- Member of the 1976 gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic Team

Dean Smith on LaGarde — "Tom was having his best year by far in 1977 when he injured his leg. He had speed, and he could run. We had just beaten a good Maryland team by 27, but he got hurt in that game. With him, I like our chances the rest of the season."

He could score, he could pass, he loved to come down on the break and shoot jump shots, then come down the next time, pull up and hit a cutter."

Dean Smith on Jordan — "Michael improved every year as a player, right up to his second NBA retirement. He started his freshman year because of his defense. We started him against Kansas his first game because we wanted to send a message to the team about the importance of defense. He had quickness, and he grew a lot in college. He matured physically in college, but he worked at his game. The night we lost to Georgia in the 1983 NCAAs, he came home and was in the gym. He was sure a great competitor, something he has always shown."

I remember a play at the end of the first half against Virginia when he missed a layup on a fast break, but got back up and tipped in his own miss. I remember thinking, 'Wow, what a play.'"

The first of Carolina's national championships came long before the term "March Madness" became an annual rite of spring. In fact, when Carolina won the 1924 national championship with a 26-0 record, there wasn't even an NCAA Tournament.

The Helms Foundation voted the Tar Heels as national champions after their perfect season, as there was no post-season tournament. Carolina defeated Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State and Alabama en route to the Southern Conference championship.

Cartwright Carmichael, Jack Cobb, Bill Dodderer and Monk McDonald led the Tar Heel squad directed by first-year coach Norman Shepard. Carolina played its home games in the Indoor Athletic Center, also known as the Tin Can.

The championship season was also Shepard's last at the helm of the Tar Heels, as McDonald took over as head coach the following season. McDonald was the only former UNC player to coach the Tar Heels until Matt Doherty returned to Chapel Hill to take over in 2000-01.

"Bones" McKinney

North Carolina made the first of its NCAA record 15 Final Four appearances in 1946 under the direction of second-year head coach Ben Carnevale. Still known as the White Phantoms, UNC was led by All-America guard Jim Jordan, All-America forward John "Hook" Dillon and the legendary Horace "Bones" McKinney.

Carolina finished first in Southern Conference play with a 13-1 record and had impressive regular-season wins at NYU and against previously unbeaten Navy. The Phantoms were beaten by Wake Forest, however, in the semifinals of the Southern Conference Tournament, 31-29. Despite Duke winning the league's postseason title, the NCAA Committee selected Carolina to represent District 3 in the NCAA Tournament at New York's Madison Square Garden.

NYU was favored to beat UNC in the East Regional semifinal and the Phantoms faced elimination as Dillon and guard Jim White fouled out with 10 and eight minutes to play, respectively. McKinney, a 27-year-old Durham native, led Carolina to a 57-49 win, however, with 11 points. McKinney originally played at NC State, but enrolled at Carolina in January 1946 after being discharged from the U.S. Army.

Dillon and Washington native Bob Paxton led Carolina past Ohio State in the East Regional final. The Buckeyes led by five with less than three minutes to play, but Paxton sent the game into overtime with a jump shot with under 20 seconds left to play. Dillon scored the key shot in overtime as UNC held on for a 60-57 win.

Defending national champion Oklahoma A&M beat Carolina, 43-40, in the championship game. Seven-foot center Big Bob (Foothills) Kurland had 23 points to lead the Aggies. Carolina trailed only 36-33 when McKinney fouled out. A&M then built a 43-34 advantage. Dillon scored 16 points in the title game for UNC.

Carolina finished the year 30-5. Dillon, a sophomore from Georgia, led Carolina in scoring with 12.9 points per game. He earned his nickname because of the accuracy of his favorite shot, a hook shot. He was brilliant in the NCAA Tournament as he scored 16, 15 and 16 points in the three games.

Jordan, who was transferred to Carolina for ROTC by the Navy, was second on the squad with 389 points.

1957 NCAA CHAMPS

North Carolina's march toward the NCAA championship in the 1957 Final Four provided legendary head coach Frank McGuire with the defining moment of his career and the Tar Heel faithful with more than a few tense moments.

Battle-torn and weary, the Tar Heels faced a seemingly insurmountable challenge as they headed into the third overtime period against Kansas in the national championship game.

Having already taken three overtime periods to defeat Michigan State in the semifinals, the Tar Heels found themselves without national player of the year Lennie Rosenbluth, who had fouled out in the waning moments of regulation. They were playing a Kansas team led by Hall of Famer Wilt Chamberlain in the not so friendly confines of Kansas City, Mo.

The Tar Heels fought on without Rosenbluth and found themselves behind by one point in the final seconds of the third overtime. After a missed shot, the ball landed in the hands of junior center Joe Quigg near the top of the key. All that stood between him and the national title was Chamberlain.

Lennie Rosenbluth & Wilt Chamberlain

Quigg drove the lane, drawing a foul from Chamberlain with six seconds remaining. After a Carolina time out, Quigg, a 72 percent free throw shooter, calmly stepped to the line and drained both shots, securing a 54-53 victory and Carolina's second national championship. Carolina finished the season a perfect 32-0 en route to the Tar Heels' first NCAA championship.

Rosenbluth had 20 points and five rebounds in the championship game and Quigg scored 10 points and garnered nine rebounds.

Carolina had its fair share of overtime experience entering the Final Four, securing an overtime victory over South Carolina and a double overtime victory over Maryland in the regular season.

That experience may have been the difference as the Tar Heels continually came through with clutch plays throughout the Final Four. In the semifinal, neither team was able to open more than a six-point lead as Michigan State tested Carolina's mettle throughout the game.

Pete Brennan & Frank McGuire

Junior forward Pete Brennan kept Carolina's championship hopes alive when he nailed a baseline jumper with three seconds remaining in the first overtime to extend the game to another period. Both teams struggled in the second overtime, scoring only one bucket each. Carolina finally pulled away in the third overtime period scoring the first six points and holding on to a 74-70 victory.

Rosenbluth was the star of the 1957 squad. His 27 points and 8.6 rebounds a game in regular season play led the Tar Heels to the ACC championship and the NCAA tournament berth. Three of the victories came over fellow Big Four and ACC team Wake Forest, with whom Carolina had developed an intense rivalry.

At the end of his senior season, Rosenbluth held on to every major Carolina basketball record except for free-throw percentage and total rebounds in a season.

The championship season was Carolina's only trip to the Final Four under the tutelage of Frank McGuire, who left in 1961 to coach in the NBA. He later went on to coach at South Carolina. In nine years, McGuire led the Tar Heels to three Top 10 finishes and six Top 20 finishes.

The next Final Four appearance for the Tar Heels came under McGuire's replacement, Dean Smith, who began his Final Four legacy in 1967.

It was the dawn of a new era. The year was 1967. A young head coach had brought a proud program back to the forefront of college basketball as Dean Smith's Tar Heels traveled to Louisville, Ky. for the program's first Final Four since the 1957 NCAA championship.

The lineup included one of Smith's best recruiting classes with five sophomores playing in the eight-man rotation. It was junior forward Larry Miller, though, who was the bread and butter of the Carolina squad. Miller earned ACC Player of the Year honors and led the Tar Heels to a 22-6 record and the ACC title.

Carolina reached the Final Four via a 96-80 victory over Boston College in the Eastern Regional final with a lineup that hit its opposition from every angle. Senior forward Bob Lewis earned Eastern Regional Most Valuable Player honors with 31 points in the championship game. Miller added 22 points and sophomore center Rusty Clark snagged 18 rebounds to go with 18 points.

The Tar Heels lost to Dayton, 76-62, in the national semifinals. Carolina couldn't overcome the dominant play of Flyer forward Don May, who scored 34 points and grabbed 15 rebounds. Clark had 19 points and 11 rebounds and Miller scored 13 points and grabbed 13 rebounds.

Though Carolina left Louisville without a win, the '67 Final Four proved to be the jumpstart to one of the greatest careers in college athletics. The Smith dynasty had officially begun as he went on to lead the Tar Heels to 11 Final Fours and two national championships.

Dean Smith on 1967 — "The big thing is we had to win the ACC Tournament before we could even go to the NCAA Tournament. I was concerned about how we would do in the NCAAs in overcoming the excitement of winning the ACC Tournament. We did go to the Final Four with three sophomore starters that year. That was a thrilling time."

Charles Scott

The 1968 Final Four had a familiar feel to it as three teams from '67 were back in the semifinals. UCLA took on Houston for the second year in a row and Carolina faced another upstart team from Ohio. This time, however, the Tar Heels faced Ohio State to get to the title game.

Carolina beat the Buckeyes, 80-66, to advance to the championship game. Junior forward Bill Bunting had 17 points and 12 rebounds and senior guard Larry Miller logged 20 points and six rebounds. Miller had earned All-America honors and was the Most Valuable Player at the ACC Tournament.

Carolina played the defending champion UCLA Bruins for the NCAA championship. The Bruins were led by legendary coach John Wooden and National Player of the Year Lew Alcindor. The game was played in the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Miller had 14 points and six rebounds, but that wasn't enough for Carolina to overcome the Bruins, who won their fourth championship in five years, 78-55. Alcindor scored 34 points and pulled down 16 rebounds to lead the Bruins.

Dean Smith on 1968 — "We had four starters returning, again won the regular season championship, but again had to win the ACC Tournament just to get in the tournament. That was the most pressure teams had to feel. We were ready this time for the NCAAs, based on the year before. We were great against undefeated St. Bonaventure with Bob Lanier in the opening round. The field was not seeded in those days. Then we faced Lew Alcindor and UCLA in the championship game. I do think that was the best college team I had ever seen to that date."

The 1969 Tar Heels didn't miss a beat despite losing two-time ACC Player of the Year Larry Miller to graduation. Junior guards Charles Scott and Eddie Fogler combined with seniors Rusty Clark, Bill Bunting and Dick Grubar to lead Carolina to its third consecutive Final Four.

Scott, fresh off of winning a gold medal with the 1968 U.S. Olympic team, earned first-team All-America honors with 22.3 points and 7.1 rebounds per game.

Carolina advanced to the NCAA Tournament with a stellar comeback victory over Duke in the ACC finals. Led by Scott, who scored 40 points and nabbed five rebounds, the Tar Heels rallied from a nine-point halftime deficit to defeat the Blue Devils, 85-74.

Carolina defeated Duquesne and Lefty Driesell's Davidson Wildcats in the NCAA tournament to advance to the national semifinal against Purdue. Scott was again the hero of both tournament victories as he had 22 points, nine rebounds and six assists against Duquesne and 32 points, six rebounds and four assists against Davidson. His game-winning shot as time expired (see photo above) gave the Tar Heels the 87-85 win over Davidson to send Carolina to the Final Four.

The Boilermakers' Rick Mount and Bill Keller combined for 56 points to lead Purdue to a 92-65 victory over the Tar Heels in the semifinals.

Dean Smith on 1969 — "The three sophomore starters from '67 were now seniors, but Dick Grubar tore his knee in the ACC championship game and was out for the NCAAs. We had close games just to get to the Final Four. Charles Scott had a tremendous second half against Duke in the ACC finals. We really went to Charles and then we went to Four Corners and Charles could drive by his man."

Dean Smith's 1972 Tar Heels had a different feel from Carolina Final Four teams of years past. There was no Lennie Rosenbluth, Larry Miller or Charlie Scott to dominate the headlines with overwhelming individual performances. Instead, the '72 squad hit the opposition with a deep and balanced attack.

Center Robert McAdoo, a junior college transfer, and sharp-shooting senior forward Dennis Wuycik led five Carolina players in double figure scoring for the season.

The Tar Heels had earned their NCAA bid with a 73-64 victory over the Maryland Terrapins in the ACC Championship. That win avenged an earlier 79-77 overtime loss to the Terps.

George Karl had 18 points and Wuycik added 16 to lead UNC to a 92-69 rout of South Carolina in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament. Wuycik (18), McAdoo (17) and Karl (16) each outscored Penn's leading scorer in a 73-59 win to send UNC to the Final Four.

Carolina lost the national semifinal to Florida State, 79-75, after falling behind by 13 points at the half. McAdoo had 24 points and 15 rebounds, but the rest of the squad made just 19 of 51 shots from the floor against the Seminoles. Ron King led Florida State with 22 points.

McAdoo became the first underclassmen from Carolina to declare early for the NBA Draft. He went on to earn NBA MVP honors in 1975.

Sophomore forward Bobby Jones earned a spot on the 1972 Olympic team and flourished in the NBA, earning All-Defensive First Team honors for eight consecutive years. He earned the NBA sixth-man award as a member of the 1983 World Champion Philadelphia 76ers.

Karl has gone on to a successful coaching career. He is currently an NBA analyst for ESPN.

Dean Smith on 1972 — "This was one of our great teams. We played extremely well in the regionals to get to the Final Four, paying back South Carolina for beating us in the ACC Tournament the year before. We beat a very good Penn team. We were ranked number two in the nation and UCLA was number one. We shouldn't have, but I think we looked past Florida State ahead to UCLA, and got beat by a good Seminole team. McAdoo fouled out with 13 minutes to play."

The 1977 season was one of the most memorable in Dean Smith's career. The Tar Heels overcame a litany of injuries to key players to advance to the Final Four, but lost to Marquette, 67-59, in the national championship game.

Senior forward Walter Davis was one of the best shooters in the country, Phil Ford ran the point to perfection, and forward Mike O'Koren was one of the top freshmen in the country.

The Tar Heels' road to the Final Four was not an easy one. Senior center Tommy LaGarde injured his knee in February and was lost for the rest of the season. Davis broke his finger in the ACC Tournament and Ford hyperextended his elbow in the NCAA Tournament. Still, the Tar Heels advanced to the championship game.

Ford scored 27 points to lead the Tar Heels to a 69-66 win over Purdue in the first round. Davis did not play against the Boilermakers.

Then, on St. Patrick's Day, the Tar Heels trailed by 14 in the second half of the regional semifinal against Notre Dame. John Kuester had 14 points, eight assists and seven steals and Ford scored 29 points, including two free throws with two seconds remaining, to earn a 79-77 win.

Despite the broken finger, Davis made 7 of 11 shots from the floor en route to 21 points as the Tar Heels beat Kentucky, 79-72, in the East Regional final.

Carolina faced high-powered UNLV in the national semifinal. The Rebels led 49-43 at the half, but the Tar Heels prevailed, 84-83, behind O'Koren's 31 points and eight rebounds and Davis, who made all seven of his field goal attempts and finished with 19 points.

In the championship, Al McGuire's Warriors built a 39-27 lead, but Carolina surged ahead in the second half. However, Butch Lee (19 points), Bo Ellis and Jim Boylan (14 apiece) led Marquette to the title.

Davis and O'Koren had 20 and 14 points, respectively, but Ford's injured elbow limited him to a 3 for 10 night from the field.

Dean Smith on 1977 — "That year was what Coach Guthridge called the most amazing year. We had more huggers that year – that means when the game is over we are all hugging in the dressing room. We lost our All-America center Tom LaGarde in February, then had a great run. All our fans had their fingers taped up in Atlanta for Walter. And Phil had his bad elbow. Walter couldn't shoot against Notre Dame, but Phil happened to make free throws even with his hyperextended elbow. We held the ball against Kentucky in the second half to go to the Final Four. Then O'Koren came on and was great against UNLV. We lost to a really good Marquette team. Jimmy Boylan was terrific against us in the final – he once called wanting to transfer to Carolina, but I suggested he call Coach McGuire instead."

Carolina lost to Ralph Sampson and Virginia twice during the 1981 regular season, as Sampson averaged 23 points and a dozen rebounds. However, the Tar Heels exacted their revenge in the Final Four.

Carolina was sent west by the NCAA committee, despite winning the ACC Tournament. The Tar Heels swept through the West Regional with little trouble, beating Pittsburgh, Utah and Kansas State. Sam Perkins had 15 points, 11 rebounds and four blocks in the regional semifinals and 16 points and 11 boards in the regional final against Kansas State. Wood was outstanding against the Wildcats, scoring 21 points and pulling down 17 rebounds.

Then it was on to Philadelphia where only Sampson and the Cavaliers stood in the Tar Heels' way of a return trip to the national finals.

It was a clash between the ACC regular season champion Cavaliers and ACC Tournament champion Tar Heels — a clash between outstanding front lines as Carolina matched Sampson with a dominant frontcourt of forwards James Worthy and Al Wood and Perkins.

This time, the Tar Heels kept Sampson in check. Sampson scored only 11 points and Virginia could not find an answer for Wood, who scored 39 points and added 10 rebounds. The game was tied at 27 at halftime, but Carolina outscored Virginia, 51-38, in the second half to earn a 78-65 victory.

Bob Knight's Indiana Hoosiers beat the Tar Heels 63-50 in the national championship game. The game was played only hours after an assassination attempt on President Ronald Reagan. Sophomore point guard Isiah Thomas led the Hoosiers with 23 points. Wood and Perkins combined for 29 points for UNC.

Dean Smith on 1981 — "That was an exciting year because we finished second in the regular season. Most of the time when we went to the Final Four we won the ACC regular season. We lost twice to Virginia, but then had another chance to beat them in the semifinals and Al Wood had his great game with 39 points. The shooting of the president affected both teams the same. Bob Knight joked we should flip a coin and send us both home co-champions. Isiah (Thomas) had a great second half."

Every Carolina Basketball fan remembers The Shot. It is the most famous play in Tar Heel history and one of the most famous in college athletics. It won Dean Smith his first national championship and launched Michael Jordan as the greatest player in the sport's history.

Eric "Sleepy" Floyd had just hit a jumper in the lane to give Georgetown a 62-61 lead as 61,612 fans looked on at the New Orleans Superdome. Carolina called a timeout with 32 seconds remaining. Smith instructed point guard Jimmy Black to draw the Hoya zone defense to one side of the court and look to get the ball inside to James Worthy. But Black couldn't get the ball to Worthy. Smith had designed the play so that if that happened, Black could swing the ball to an open man on the far side of the court. Black found that open man, freshman Michael Jordan.

Georgetown's Fred Brown got the ball near mid-court and looked for an open teammate. He passed the ball in Floyd's direction, but instead found Worthy, who raced downcourt with the ball to seal the victory. It was appropriate that Worthy clinched the win, since he had already muscled and finessed his way through the Hoya defense en route to five dunks and 28 points.

Worthy was not intimidated by the tenacious defense of Hoya freshman center Patrick Ewing, who logged two blocked shots and three steals to go with his 23 points and 11 rebounds. Throughout the game, Worthy challenged the Hoyas frontline and hit 13 of his 17 field goal attempts.

Carolina advanced to the title game with a 68-63 semifinal victory over Houston. Sam Perkins had 25 points and 10 rebounds.

UNC began and finished the year ranked No. 1 in the country in the Associated Press poll. In fact, Carolina held the No. 1 ranking for all but five weeks in 1981-82.

The Tar Heels posted a 32-2 record, losing only to Wake Forest at home when Perkins was sick and did not play and at Virginia. Carolina did beat the Cavaliers, 47-45, in the ACC Tournament championship game in Greensboro. Worthy had 16 points and Matt Doherty had 11 points and four assists. Carolina led 34-31 at the half, but the game is most remembered for the Tar Heels using a delay game in the second half. Leading 44-43 with 7:34 to play, Carolina held the ball. Doherty hit three free throws in the last 28 seconds to win the game.

Michael Jordan

Top-ranked and top-seeded Carolina then survived a scare from James Madison in the first round of the NCAA Tournament, beating the Dukes, 52-50, in Charlotte. A 74-69 win over Alabama and a 70-60 triumph over Villanova in Raleigh's Reynolds Coliseum sent the Tar Heels to New Orleans for the Final Four.

Senior guard Jimmy Black was one of five starters in double figures in the regional final win over Villanova. Black had 11 points and 10 assists.

Dean Smith on 1982 — "We had three starters back from the year before, plus Matt Doherty, who I counted as a co-starter in 1981. Two of our best games all year were in New Orleans against Houston and Georgetown. Michael had his best game as a freshman in the final, but James was the obvious MVP. His play gets overshadowed because of Michael's shot. And Perkins was a true hero for his play against Olajuwon in the semifinals. He was sensational.

The play was No. 1 to post up James, then have Sam come in behind him. Or you could go crosscourt to the wing for Michael and he was wide open from 17-18 feet. It looked good, I was right in line with him. Then we we put on our scramble defense. James was out of position, but Michael stopped the pass that made Fred Brown throw it away."

Rick Fox

Rick Fox was born in Toronto, grew up playing softball in the Bahamas and played high school basketball in Indiana. So, it may seem a little strange that he ended up donning Carolina Blue for Dean Smith.

But, it just so happens that Fox watched Carolina as a boy and saw Michael Jordan seal the deal on the 1982 national championship. From that moment on, he knew he wanted to be a Tar Heel. In 1991, the senior forward led Carolina back to the Final Four for the first time since Jordan's celebrated shot.

Fox was joined in the starting lineup by seniors Pete Chilcutt (center) and King Rice (point guard), junior guard Hubert Davis and sophomore forward George Lynch.

Dean Smith's eighth trip to the Final Four pitted him against his former assistant, third-year Kansas head coach Roy Williams.

The Tar Heels reached the Final Four as the number one seed in the East Region after crushing Duke, 96-74, in the ACC Championship game. Carolina then cruised to the East Regional final, beating Northeastern, Villanova and Eastern Michigan, all by double-digits.

Carolina then beat Temple, 75-72, in the Meadowlands to return to the Final Four for the first time since 1982. Davis and Fox each scored 19 points and Rice added 12 points and seven assists to get by the Owls. Temple guard Mark Macon made 12 of 23 shots and had 31 points, and missed a 30-footer at the buzzer that would have sent the game into overtime.

Kansas beat the Tar Heels, 79-73, in the national semifinals in the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis. Davis led all scorers with 25 points, but Carolina shot just 38.4 percent for the game. Adonis Jordan led the Jayhawks with 16 points and seven assists.

Dean Smith on 1991 — "We had some of our best teams in the mid- and late-1980s that did not get to the Final Four. There was a lot of pressure in 1987, when Syracuse had Rony Seikaly and Sherman Douglas. Jeff Lebo was sick the whole night before that night and that really hurt us.

So we were glad to get back to the Final Four in 1991. We had great leadership with King Rice, Rick Fox and Pete Chilcutt. We didn't play well in Indianapolis against Kansas. We hadn't been to the Final Four in a while and I think we went back to being happy to be there."

1993 NCAA CHAMPS

Dean Smith had been there before. The last time his Tar Heels walked on the Superdome floor, they walked off as NCAA champions.

Now, after a grueling ACC season that included five other Top 25 teams; after a tough road through the East Regional bracket that required an overtime victory to escape the final; after defeating a Roy Williams-coached Kansas squad that had beaten the Tar Heels just two years prior in the national semifinal— Carolina was back on the Superdome floor playing for the national championship.

The 1993 Tar Heels were ready. Center Eric Montross and senior forward George Lynch anchored the team and shooting guard Donald Williams provided the spark from the outside. Point guard Derrick Phelps ran the offense and a handful of role players brought everything together in typical Dean Smith fashion.

Michigan was ready too, though. The raucous Wolverines, led by vocal center Chris Webber and the rest of the "Fab Five," had lost the championship game in 1992 and were hungry to redeem themselves. They won a hard-fought overtime battle against Jamal Mashburn and the Kentucky Wildcats in the national semifinal, 81-78, and were confident they would return to Ann Arbor with a championship.

The styles of the two teams couldn't have been any farther apart. The Tar Heels were a traditional Dean Smith team — talented, disciplined and focused. The Wolverines had brought a brash, new feel to the game, famous for their black shoes, baggy shorts and playground style of play.

The teams battled back and forth throughout the game. Michigan led by 10 in the first half, but Carolina rallied for a 42-36 lead at intermission. The Wolverines built a 67-63 lead with 4:30 left to play, but the Tar Heels scored nine unanswered points to take a 72-67 lead with 1:03 to play.

Trailing by four, Williams began the 9-0 run with a three-pointer, then Phelps hit a fastbreak layup to give UNC the lead with 3:07 to play. Baskets by Lynch and Montross upped the lead to five with a minute to go.

Michigan responded with a Ray Jackson jump shot and a Chris Webber put-back to bring the Wolverines back to within 72-71 with 36 seconds to play.

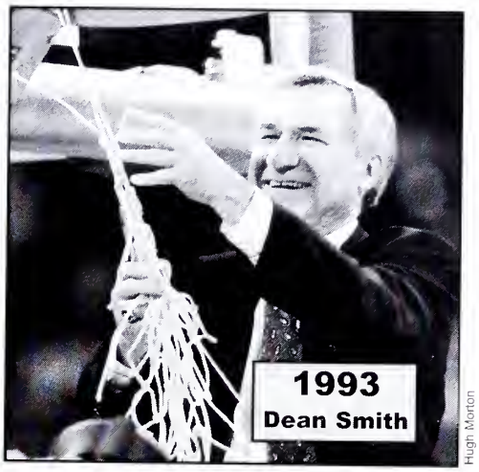
Carolina junior forward Pat Sullivan was fouled with 20 seconds left and went to the line for a one-and-one. Sullivan connected on the first, but missed the second and Webber got the rebound with the Wolverines trailing 73-71.

Webber stumbled and appeared to travel, but the officials made no call. He then dribbled past halfcourt and found himself surrounded by the Tar Heels and called a timeout. However, Michigan did not have any timeouts remaining and the officials called a technical foul on the Michigan bench.

Williams hit two free throws and Carolina marched on to a 77-71 victory. It was only appropriate that Williams stood at the line at the end of the game, as he dominated the Final Four en route to Most Outstanding Player honors. Williams made five of seven three pointers and scored 25 points in both the national semifinal and championship games.

The Tar Heels finished the season 34-4, winning 18 consecutive games at one point. Carolina had even faced Michigan early on in the season at the Rainbow Classic and lost, 79-78, courtesy a last-second shot from Wolverine point guard Jalen Rose.

The 18-game win streak was snapped by a 77-75 loss to Georgia Tech in the ACC Tournament championship game. The Tar Heels played that game without Phelps, who injured his back when he was fouled from behind on a layup attempt in the ACC semifinal against Virginia.



Hugh Morton

Despite the loss to the Yellow Jackets, Carolina was No. 1 in the East Regional. Wins over East Carolina, Rhode Island and Arkansas setup a regional championship against Cincinnati in the Meadowlands. The Bearcats had played in the Final Four in 1992.

Nick Van Exel hit six three-pointers in the first half and the Bearcats built a 29-14 lead with 7:08 left in the opening half, but the Tar Heels rallied to pull within one at halftime.

In the second half, Phelps clamped down on Van Exel, limiting him to just one field goal.

Carolina led late in regulation, but Tarrance Gibson's driving layup with 35 seconds to play tied the game. The Tar Heels had a a chance to win at the buzzer, but Brian Reese's dunk attempt after an out-of-bounds play with 0.8 seconds left ricocheted off the back iron.

Williams starred in overtime, hitting back-to-back three-pointers and the Tar Heels hung on for a 75-68 win.

Lynch was the heart and soul of the team and recorded double-doubles in each of the last four NCAA Tournament victories.

Dean Smith on 1993 — "We had a such great leader in George Lynch and our team had a lot of confidence. We were very poised. I know I had a lot of confidence in Derrick Phelps and Lynch. The last four games all were close games. Arkansas went down to the wire, Cincinnati we should have won in regulation, but won in overtime. Michigan was a great game with Donald Williams hitting key shots. So many of those games could have gone either way."

Jerry Stackhouse

Two years after winning the national championship, the Tar Heels were back in the Final Four. This time, sophomores Rasheed Wallace, Jeff McInnis and Sports Illustrated Player of the Year Jerry Stackhouse were the focal point of the team.

Carolina, Wake Forest, Virginia and Maryland were consistently Top-10 teams throughout the season, and UNC earned the No. 2 seed in the Southeast Region after losing in overtime to Randolph Childress and Tim Duncan's Wake Forest team in the ACC championship game.

Earlier in the season, Carolina beat Duke in what many consider to be the greatest game between the Tobacco Road rivals. Dean Smith took his Tar Heels into Cameron Indoor Stadium in on Feb. 2 and left after 50 minutes of basketball with a 102-100 victory in double-overtime. Duke rallied from a 17-point first half deficit to take a nine-point second half lead, only to see UNC send the game to overtime.

The Tar Heels appeared to have won the game by scoring the first nine points of overtime, but the Blue Devils forced a second overtime with a 30-foot shot by Jeff Capel at the buzzer. Carolina prevailed, though, as Donald Williams hit a running jumper and McInnis stole the subsequent inbounds pass in the final seconds to seal the win.

In the NCAA Tournament, Carolina trailed Murray State by a point at halftime in the first round, but won 80-70 behind Stackhouse's 25 points, 11 rebounds and five assists. Wins over Iowa State and Allen Iverson-led Georgetown set up a regional final between No. 2 UNC and No. 1 Kentucky in Birmingham, Ala., the heart of SEC country.

Stackhouse dominated the game with 18 points, 12 boards and six assists as Carolina won, 74-61. Williams had 18 points, Wallace added 12 and the Tar Heels held Kentucky to 28 percent shooting from the floor (7 of 36 from three-point range).

Arkansas, the defending NCAA champions, beat the Tar Heels, 75-68, in the national semifinals in Seattle. Stackhouse scored 18 points, but could only play 28 minutes due to a deep thigh bruise, an injury he suffered 12 seconds into the game.

Dean Smith on 1995 — "That was a special year. We lost five seniors and were not deep, but Stackhouse and Wallace were a year older and very talented. Before the regional final, we told the team Kentucky had their celebration party scheduled, and Stackhouse held up his hand and said, "Yeah, I'm going to go to it and celebrate." He was so fired up. What a great competitor. Kentucky was very good. It was tough winning in Birmingham. But I was really worried about stopping Allen Iverson and beating Georgetown. You never know what would have happened if Stackhouse had not gotten hurt (12 seconds into the game) against Arkansas."

Vince Carter

Carolina began ACC play with three consecutive losses for the first time ever. The second of those losses was a Smith Center debacle in which Carolina led Maryland by 22 in the second half but lost by 10.

However, by the time the season was over, the Tar Heels had run off an improbable 16-game win streak, won the ACC Tournament, established Dean Smith as the winningest coach in history and earned another trip to the Final Four.

The defining moment of the season may have come after Carolina lost to Virginia, its third consecutive ACC loss. UNC faced an 0-4 start after trailing NC State by nine points with 2:34 remaining. But the Tar Heels scored the final 12 points of the game to win, 59-56.

UNC was 3-5 after the first half of the league schedule, but won their final eight regular-season ACC games. Carolina then beat Virginia, Wake Forest and NC State to win the ACC title.

One of the most memorable wins in UNC history came on March 15 as the Tar Heels beat Colorado to advance to the Final 16 and earn Smith's 877th win, breaking the record of Adolph Rupp.

All-America forward Antawn Jamison scored 21 points and grabbed eight rebounds in the East Region semifinal against California. Shammond Williams scored 22 points and Vince Carter notched 18 points and seven rebounds against Louisville in the East Regional final. The victory over Louisville was Smith's 879th and final victory at the helm of the Tar Heels, as he retired before the start of the 1998 season.

Carolina again shot poorly in Indianapolis, connecting on a season-low 31.1 percent from the floor, and was beaten by Arizona, 66-58. Carter was sensational with 21 points and Jamison had 18 points and 11 rebounds. Guards Miles Simon and Mike Bibby scored 24 and 20, respectively, for the Cats.

Dean Smith on 1997 — "We should have been 0-4 to start the ACC. Vince Carter was hurt, our confidence was shot. Then we played well at Duke, but lost and were 3-5 halfway through the league. I thought then we could win the rest of our games or lose the rest – and we almost won all of them. Fairfield was a remarkable game. That was probably our best offensive game since Loyola Marymount (1988), but they kept making those threes. There was too much going on about the number of wins and the record. I thought it could affect us against Colorado. Then I was really impressed with our team against Louisville. We had a big lead and they cut it to six and I took a timeout. I said "We could let them have it, we've had a pretty good year," and Ademola Okulaja spoke up and said "What do you mean?" And we went on to beat them pretty badly."

Coming off a national semifinal appearance, the 1997-98 Tar Heels were certainly among the favorites to return to the Final Four. Most of the players from the 1997 Final Four squad returned, including All-America candidates Antawn Jamison, Vince Carter and Shammond Williams and ACC assist leader Ed Cota.

Although the players were the same, Bill Guthridge was in his rookie season as head coach. Dean Smith resigned as head coach in October and turned over the reins to Guthridge, who was an assistant under Smith for the previous 30 years. The Tar Heels didn't skip a beat.

Jamison averaged 22.9 points and 10.2 rebounds to win ACC and National Player of the Year honors. Carter's spectacular athletic ability and highlight-reel dunks earned him second-team All-America honors. Carolina was No. 1 in the country for eight weeks and regained the top spot in the final poll after an 83-68 win over Duke in the ACC Tournament championship game. Despite a leg injury that threatened to keep him out of the game, Jamison scored 22 points and grabbed 18 rebounds in the title game against the No. 1 ranked Blue Devils.

Carolina then toppled rising powers Connecticut and Michigan State by double-digit margins to advance to the Final Four.

Utah built a 13-point lead at the half in the national semifinal and Carolina never was able to pull even, despite a brilliant 21-point outing from Carter. The Tar Heels shot just 39.1 percent in the game, and Jamison was held to 14 points in his final collegiate contest.

Bill Guthridge on 1998 — "We had a very talented group of players, and their attitude was great all year. They adjusted quickly to the coaching change which came just before the start of practice in October. They finished the year No. 1 in the AP poll. The ACC Tournament championship was rewarding, particularly because we beat the three teams that had beaten us in the regular season – NC State, Maryland and Duke. I knew we had a great team, and that was evident again when Connecticut and Michigan State – the teams we beat to get to the Final Four – won the next two national championships."

Carolina didn't enter the 2000 Final Four in typical fashion. After a disappointing season that included a four-game losing streak and a first-round exit in the ACC Tournament, the Tar Heels opened the NCAA tournament against Missouri as a No. 8 seed— equalling the lowest seed in UNC history. Led by freshman guard Joseph Forte, the Tar Heels didn't falter in their newfound role as underdog, though, and marched on to an NCAA record 15th Final Four.

Many expected Carolina to lose to the quick and athletic Missouri Tigers in the first round of the South Regionals, but junior center Brendan Haywood scored a career high 28 points and grabbed 15 rebounds to lead the Tar Heels to an 84-70 victory.

That victory set up a second round matchup with the third ranked and number one seed Stanford Cardinal. The Carolina defense stymied the dangerous Cardinal squad, holding them to 34 percent shooting.

In the Sweet 16, the Carolina defense stepped up while Forte provided the offensive firepower as Tennessee shot 36 percent from the field and Forte scored 22 points and grabbed five more rebounds. Carolina overcame a seven-point deficit with Haywood on the bench to take the 74-69 victory.

It was the same story against Tulsa in the South Regional final. The Tar Heel defense held the Golden Hurricane to 37 percent shooting and Forte had his most productive game of the tournament with 28 points and eight rebounds.

Carolina lost to Florida in the national semifinal, despite 20 points and 12 rebounds from Haywood, but the 2000 postseason run will go down as one of Carolina's most memorable.

Bill Guthridge on 2000 — "This was a determined group of players. They overcame a lot of adversity in the forms of injuries, illness, and some tough losses to get to the Final Four. I couldn't have been happier nor prouder than I was for that group of players to make it to Indianapolis. We beat a good Missouri team and the top seed Stanford in Birmingham and that gave us great confidence to beat Tennessee and an outstanding Tulsa team."

The Tar Heel Sports Network on-air team: Mick Mixon (analyst) and Woody Durham (play-by-play).

Learfield Communications begins its fifth full year as the official media rights holder for the University of North Carolina athletic teams, primarily football and basketball.

Based in Jefferson City, Missouri, Learfield purchased Tar Heel Sports Marketing in October 1999, adding the UNC property to 15 other schools under the Learfield umbrella. Among those for which Learfield also owns the rights are Alabama, Clemson, Colorado, Oklahoma, Indiana, Miami (Fla.), Missouri, South Carolina and Wisconsin.

"Our goal is to continue and add to the tremendous tradition and fan following at Carolina," says Gary Sobba, the General Manager for Tar Heel Sports Marketing. Sobba moved to Chapel Hill from Dallas, where he worked in the Learfield national sales office.

"I have worked on various college campuses for more than last 18 years," adds Sobba, "and if there is a better athletic program in the country than this one, I don't know where it is."

Tar Heel Sports Marketing is in its 12th year as UNC's multimedia rights holder. All Carolina fans have heard of the Tar Heel Sports Network, which broadcasts the play-by-play of football and basketball games, but that is only one facet of the operation.

Tar Heel Sports Marketing is a full-service agency overseeing production and sales of all the University of North Carolina's football and basketball entities including television, print products, interent and radio.

THSM brings you a variety of ways to follow the Heels during the athletic season. Simply listen to your radio on Monday nights for the head coaches on their radio call-in shows or watch game highlights Saturday mornings on "Inside Carolina Football and Basketball." When you are at the Smith Center pick-up the official game program.

The Tar Heel Sports Network continues to bring the great tradition of Carolina sports into your home.

Woody Durham, beginning his 34th year as the "Voice of the Tar Heels," and head coach Roy Williams give fans an opportunity to phone in and talk with the coach every Monday evening during the basketball season on the "Roy Williams Live" call-in show.

Durham also will visit with Coach Williams on "Inside Carolina Basketball", a daily five-minute program featuring conversations with the Tar Heels' head coach. Both of these shows are heard on stations throughout North Carolina and beyond.

"Inside Carolina Basketball with Roy Williams," hosted by Durham, is a half-hour television program seen each week on Fox Sports South and WTVD-11 in the Triangle area. The show features highlights of previous games, interviews with current and former Tar Heel players, and a preview of upcoming action.

Woody Durham

- Play-By-Play
- 34th Year At UNC

The 2004-05 season will be Woody Durham's 34th year as the "Voice of the Tar Heels."

Since September 1971, Durham has broadcast over 1,500 Carolina football and basketball games, and the Tar Heels have won a majority of those contests.

A native of Mebane, N.C., Durham grew up in Albemarle, N.C., where he began his broadcasting career with WZKY Radio at age 16. He graduated from UNC in 1963 with an AB degree in Radio, Television and Motion Pictures, and spent 19 years as a TV sportscaster with stints in Greensboro and Raleigh-Durham-Chapel Hill.

In 1981, Durham joined Tar Heel Sports Marketing, which produces the Tar Heel Sports Network, on a full-time basis, and in 1984, he permanently moved his family to Chapel Hill.

He and his wife of 41 years, Jean, are the parents of two sons. Wes, 38, a former Georgia Sportscaster of the Year, is in his 10th year handling play-by-play duties at Georgia Tech and his first year as the lead broadcaster for the NFL's Atlanta Falcons. Taylor, 31, is a network recruitment manager with International Sports Properties in Winston-Salem. Wes and his wife, Lynn, presented Woody and Jean with twin grandchildren--Emily and Will--in April 1999.

Durham has been named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year 11 times, most recently in 2002. In 1993, he was inducted into the Stanly County Sports Hall of Fame. In 1994, he received the Priceless Gem Award from the UNC Department of Athletics. The following year, the General Alumni Association presented him with its Distinguished Service Medal. In November 2000, the UNC Board of Trustees honored him with the William R. Davie Award. During the 2002 ACC Basketball Tournament, he received the Marvin "Skeeter" Francis Award for special services to the ACC. Most recently, Durham was honored by the North Carolina High School Athletic Association, along with former Carolina football coach Bill Dooley, with the Russell Blunt Legends Award for being a legend in athletics.

Most recently, on April 4, 2004, Durham was inducted into the North Carolina Broadcasters Association Hall of Fame, honoring individuals who have made significant contributions to the North Carolina broadcast industry.

In addition to his play-by-play duties, Durham also is the host of the "Inside Carolina Basketball" and "Roy Williams Live" radio shows and the "Inside Carolina Basketball with Roy Williams" TV show.

Mick Mixon

- Color Analyst
- 16th Year At UNC

Forest Orion (Mick) Mixon III is in his 16th season as color analyst for football and men's basketball on the Tar Heel Sports Network.

Mixon, 45, graduated from UNC in 1980 with a degree in Broadcast Journalism. In 1999, he married Kristin Lyn Tucker (AB Journalism, 1990). A native of Chapel Hill, Mixon teaches in the UNC School of Journalism and Mass Communications, does some freelance television broadcasts for Fox Sports Net and writes for Tar Heel Monthly.

Mixon was named the North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year in 1999 and is an honorary member of the ACC Football Officials Association.

Mixon joined the network in 1989 from Columbia, S.C., where he was sports director at WIS Radio. He also has served as play-by-play voice of the Maine Guides of the Class AAA International League and as sports director of WCGC Radio in Belmont, N.C.

He is also the drummer for the Chapel Hill party band, "Franklin Street."

The live show airs on 39 consecutive Mondays, beginning Labor Day and concluding in late May.

Host Mike Hogewood anchors ACC LIVE from FSN South's Atlanta studio, where he is joined regularly by in-studio analysts and guests from across the conference landscape, to deliver a behind-the-scenes, rapid-fire look at what's making news this week in the ACC.

PRESS ROW SERVICES

Media seating at the Smith Center is in a new location this year. Media seats are located in section 116 or at the back of the lower level in sections 110 and 111. The media room is located on the arena floor level in the tunnel adjacent to the UNC locker room.

Programs, media guides, rosters, statistics and game notes will be available in the media room before each game. A halftime box score will be provided in the media room as well as a full postgame set consisting of final and halftime box scores, play-by-play and coaches' quotes. The head coaches from both teams will be brought to the media room following the game for press conferences.

The Carolina locker room will be open after the game in accordance with ACC policy. Access to the visiting team locker room will be at the discretion of the visiting team's sports information director. A luncheon or dinner will be available in the media room approximately 90 minutes before tip-off.

The athletic communications office is located on the main level of the Dean E. Smith Center. Parking is available in the lot behind Koury Natatorium and can be accessed from Skipper Bowles Drive. Enter the building via the sidewalk that runs between the Smith Center and the Natatorium. The office is on Level 2 directly across from the men's basketball office.

PHOTO COMPOUND

Photographers are encouraged to transmit from the "Orange" locker room, adjacent to the visiting team's locker room. Grant Halverson of the Associated Press and Jeff Camarati of UNC Athletic Communications coordinate this compound. Eight high-speed ethernet lines and an analog phone line are available for your use. Halftime and final statistics will be brought to the photo compound.

PHOTO SPOTS

Photographers are assigned shooting locations for most games. Specific location requests should be made ahead of time to Steve Kirschner. For safety reasons, cameras are not permitted on the blue padding on the basket supports or mounted on the floor near the playing court. Kirschner must approve cameras mounted on the backboard. Smith Center maintenance director Clayton Womble must approve strobe light installation.

Shooting locations will be posted in the photo compound and the media room.

OPPONENT RADIO

The University of North Carolina provides opponent commercial networks with the following: four analog phone lines, two ISDN lines, and dry pairs to the visiting locker room and media room. The opponent radio booth is now located on the scorer's table adjacent to the visiting bench.

FILING

A dozen telephones are available for filing from the Smith Center media room. Anyone desiring a private line should contact Bell South in Raleigh at 919-780-2800 or 800-767-2355 to make arrangements. Please list Steve Kirschner as the contact person for placement of your phone in the media room. No courtside phone hookups are permitted at the Smith Center. The Athletic Communications office has two fax machines available after each game on a first-come, first-served basis.

High-speed wireless internet access is available in the media room.

Game day parking for the media is in the Bowles Lot on Skipper Bowles Drive. This is the large lot across from the tennis courts and next to the driveway for the Kenan-Flagler Business School.
